Air, zoning woes but 4-town sewers can spark dynamic growth

Prosperity or a recession? There was good news and bad news this week for the Quad-City area's economic outlook.

The good news involved the four-township sanitary sewer program, which seems sure to begin in 1975 and to be completed in 1978.

The bad news is in two fields: 1. Concern is developing that a proposed new Madison County zoning ordinance—hearings are to be held here Oct. 21, 25 and 31—reaffirms already-discredited negative attitudes toward the Quad-Cities.

2. And residents also are disturbed about a proposed regional Air Quality Maintenance Area, for which there will be a public hearing Oct. 15 at SIUE. It could clamp a no-growth straitjacket on this community, with any further construction requiring permission from the state, it is contended. Such threats to normal economic growth and customary renewal of aging areas are viewed as serious. If they can be resolved amicably, however, the outlook could change to unexpectedly bright, thanks to the joint sewer installation program, it is believed.

Edward Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwardt engineering firm said Tuesday that detailed construction plans are nearing completion. He reviewed the multi-million-dollar sewer program in a talk to the Granite City Rotary Club.

The 75 per cent federal portion of the cost of the project is to be advanced by the state government in recognition of the fact that the $3-million-gallon-capacity Granite City sewage treatment facilities were intended to be linked with such a regional system.

With only about five million gallons of that capacity being used, it will be sound economically to serve wide areas of Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice townships as well as Granite City.

'110%' United giving urged

Football coaches sometimes urge "110 per cent effort." Both football games and United Way drives begin with kickoffs. Now, "110 per cent" participation is being urged in the Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign.

The local drive launched eight days ago is said to be off to a slow start but picking up momentum.

Report luncheon meetings are planned for noon on the next Wednesday, Oct. 16, 23 and 30, at the YMCA, 20th Street and Edison Avenue. There was no report session this week.

S. T. "Pete" Nasir, United Way executive director, reports that inflation requires that contributors give on the basis of 110 per cent—determined by last year's fair-share gift, with 10 per cent added.

Unfortunately, some of the early gifts to the October 1974 campaign—held to partly finance the 1975 calendar year operating costs of the 18 member agencies—are identical to the amounts received last year or even several years ago, Nasir said today.

Two other problems mentioned are those who decline to give at all, and a few employers who declined to solicit their employees and also oppose letting anyone else conduct the United Way solicitation among their workers.

Nasir cited essential services performed by the United Way agencies, and called on all residents, employees, businesses and groups to give wholehearted backing to the once-a-year campaign.

Grail problem

A report by the Illinois Department of Corrections requiring single occupancy of cells in the Granite City Jail has created a problem which could cut capacity of the jail from its present 26 prisoners to six at any one time, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

Present use of the city's three jail cells and "bullpen" for a total of 22 men prisoners and two women's cells for four women prisoners was cited in the report as a "violation of standards" and was accompanied by a letter giving the city six months in which to correct the problem.

At the same time, the report recommended that a matron "or other qualified female employee" shall provide supervision of women prisoners when they are confined at the jail, and that the jail officials issue property receipts to all prisoners, a practice that has not been followed in the past.

Chief of Police Ronald Veizer said that steps have been taken to meet the requirement of a matron and that property receipts are now being issued, but that recommendations for single occupancies in jail cells "really gives us a serious problem."

"I have met with the mayor and with the chairman of the (City Council) jail committee to work out the hiring of a part-time matron who would work on an hourly basis for supervision of women prisoners during the period they are held," Veizer said.

"I have no immediate solution for the single occupancy requirement except to follow it as nearly as possible with the cell facilities we now have," he said.

A similar order has been received by the Madison police department which now has two cells intended for two men in each, and one cell for two women prisoners.

But Mayor Mike Sasyk said he contemplates no difficulties "because we seldom have more than one or two prisoners at a time and they usually are here for only a short time."

In Venice, police said they had received no such report thus far and do not expect one since the city recently completed construction of a new jail which provides single cells for each occupant.

Granite City jail facilities now provide one cell for six prisoners, two other cells for four occupants each, and the "bullpen," which can sleep up to eight prisoners if the jail is full.

Women's facilities include two cells for two prisoners each. If the city is forced to comply with the Department of Corrections report, the police department would be limited to a total of six prisoners, one each in the three men's cells and two women's cells, and one in the "bullpen."

Granite City officials have been pressing for construction of a new city jail which, they say, could be financed by federal revenue sharing funds.

Recommendations in the Department of Corrections report also called for painting of the jail facility, refinishing of the toilets and an improved system of cleaning the facility.

Chief Veizer said all of these points have been resolved and that painting work is now under way.

City authorizes noct on Doherty

An agreement ending a stalemate between Granite City and the state Division of Waterways was reached by the Granite City Council Monday night to allow permanent operation of the Doherty Slough interim drainage line.

The Division of Waterways had agreed before the line was built that it would be responsible for the two pumps used on the line and would repair or replace them if they broke down.

The original agreement also gave the city street superintendent the authority to turn off the pumps if Doherty Slough pumping into existing Granite City sewers threatened flooding in any part of Granite City.

When construction of the line was completed the state sent a new contract to the city making the city responsible for repair or replacement of the expensive pumps. Mayor Paul Schuler and the City Council refused to accept the second contract and City Attorney George Filcoff in July wrote the Division of Waterways saying the city would "stand on the old agreement."

No response was heard from the state until early this month when a new contract was received, granting the city's wish. The new contract, approved Monday night, stipulates the city shall assume all major expenses relating to the repair and maintenance of the pumps installed in connection with the Doherty Slough flood control project.

The contract also makes the East Side Levee and Sanitary District responsible for paying "all electric energy and diesel fuel costs in connection with the Doherty Slough flood control project upon completion and acceptance of said project."

The state has completed tests of the drainage line and has made the final payment to C. D. Petter, Construction Co., contractor of the drainage line.

The system has been used at brief intervals when the water level in the slough has risen, but has not been turned on full time

Massage parlor raided

Madison police, assisted by members of the Madison County sheriff's department and backed up by Venice police, at 5:40 p.m. Monday converged on the Quad-City Health Systems, 1413a Second St., Madison, with warrants for the owner and an employee.

Miss Carol June Hinson, 23, of St. Louis, was charged with two counts of performing indecent massage and two counts of engaging in activity of a masseuse without a license. The charges are alleged to be violations of the Madison city ordinances.

Warrants were issued by Associate Judge William Johnson at Granite City on complaints signed by Madison police, and based on affidavits made by the sheriff's vice squad members.

Four warrants have been issued by Judge Johnson against the owner of the business, listed as Louis McCoy. He is believed to be in Florida.

The warrants charge him with two counts of employment of non-licensed masseuses and two counts of permitting and employing individuals to perform immoral or indecent massage.

Miss Hinson was fingerprinted, photographed and released on $100 cash bond and scheduled to appear in court at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16, in Granite City.

Miss Hinson was in the reception room when the police took her into custody, they said. She allegedly said she had a customer and pointed to a room across a hall from the reception area. Officers opened the door to the room and a Waterloo, Ill., man was advised by the police to leave. He did so, in great haste.

Madison police had learned from officers of the St. Louis area the general nature of some massage establishments in the region. McCoy is alleged to have formerly held licenses in Missouri to operate similar businesses.

After the Madison City Council passed ordinances on May 7 regulating massage parlor operations and establishing license requirements for masseuses, McCoy was warned by Chief of Police Frank Dutko that his operation might be in violation of ordinances, police say.

McCoy and his employees failed to comply, it is alleged. Police did not close the establishment, in the belief that they do not have the authority to do so. They are filing a report with the city health inspector and the mayor, however.

Employees of a massage parlor must be licensed individually and must pass an examination, or have a certain number of credit hours from an accredited college or university in specified courses, in addition to a character check, a physical examination and a photograph on the license application.

Plant seeks more land

A proposal by Archer Daniels Midland Co. to acquire a 22-acre tract of land immediately north of the ADM soybean processing plant in north Granite City was disclosed Monday night in a petition for rezoning filed with the City Council.

The petition was referred by council members to the Granite City Plan Commission for a hearing and recommendation. The rezoning request, filed in behalf of the company by Attorney Leo Konzen, asks that the tract be rezoned from its present R-1 single family classification to M-2 heavy industrial.

Konzen, who spoke briefly on the petition after it was presented to the aldermen, said ADM has no immediate plans for development of the site, but that the company has an opportunity to acquire the land at this time and had decided to do so.

If the tract is acquired, Konzen said, it will be annexed to Granite City "in keeping with the policy followed in other cases of this kind."

Konzen said he sees ADM's future in this area "as one of growth."

Council members also voted Monday night to accept the new sewer line constructed by Archer Daniels Midland to connect its soybean plant with Granite City sewage treatment facilities.

The new sewer line which will provide sewer services to many residences along its route that previously were without sewers, extends south from the plant along the east side of the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks, turning west into the Steelcase subdivision area and then into existing Granite City sewers.

A suggestion that final acceptance of the system by the city be delayed until an inspection can be made to determine if there are any faults in the line was overruled by a motion that the sewer be accepted subject to an inspection. Cost of the sewer construction was paid by ADM.

Also referred to the City Plan Commission for hearings and recommendations were petitions for annexation of five parcels of land. The petitions were filed individually by homeowners.

These included petitions of Frank E. and Ruth Shipley, 3278 Edgewood Drive, for an annexation of lots 74 and 75 of Dream Villa subdivision two; George and Lydia Willard, 2349 Emert St., Dream Villa five; Abdul and Saida Razzaq, 2383 Maryville Road, Dream Villa five; and Stanley and June Schneider, 2354 Emert St., Dream Villa five.

Motorized streakers

Imagine the surprise of civilian dispatcher David Ruebhausen at the Granite City Police Department at 2:25 a.m. Tuesday when a caller reported she had just seen several streakers driving motorcycles on 20th Street.

The U.S. Weather Bureau confirmed the temperature at that time was 36 degrees. Officers searched, but were unable to locate any cold, unclad motorcyclists.

Schools, banks, post offices to close on Monday

Public and parochial schools in the Quad-City area will close Monday in observance of Columbus Day, as will financial institutions, state and federal offices and the post offices. Holiday schedules will be followed at the post offices in Granite City, Madison and Venice.

In addition to the Monday closing parochial schools will not have classes tomorrow to permit teachers to attend an all-day institute.

The county courthouse at Edwardsville will close Monday, but city offices in Granite City, Madison and Venice will be open. Retail stores also will be open.

Banks and savings and loan institutions will be closed to mark the holiday. The Illinois State Employment Service office, the Unemployment Compensation office and the Driver's License Examining Bureau also will be closed.

Fighting cancer— race against time

CHICAGO — Rush Presbyterian-Luke's Medical Center here is one of those massive complexes of contemporary medical treatment and research in which cancer patients will be forced to give up its secrets.

Yet no one who works there talks about a cure for cancer or simple prevention of the disease.

The researchers don't expect to find one simple answer to the question: how do you cure cancer? There may be a number of causes.

Whatever the cause, the researchers hope to improve the cancer victim's chances for cure.

When is a cancer cured? "A patient who after a certain period of time is at the same risk of dying as any other individual is considered cured," Dr. Stephen Economou of the Chicago Center staff replies.

"For instance, if you have some kind of cancer of the thyroid, at the end of five years, almost certainly you will be alive, but you're not cured. Therefore, you are at risk of dying of that cancer still."

"If you have cancer of the lung and you're alive three years later, you're no more likely to die of that cancer than any other citizen.

"Breast cancer ... if after five years you're alive, you have about 10 per cent more chance of dying than anyone else. At the end of 10 years you have about two per cent. At the end of 15 years, you're just like anyone else. So a cure depends on the type of cancer you're talking about," the surgeon concluded.

The message preached by Economou and the rest of the research and treatment team at the Chicago medical center is two-fold: given the right facilities, the best brains and enough money there will be progress in answering the fundamental questions about cancer — why it happens, how it happens and what can be done about it.

Given the same ingredients of facilities, brains and money, detection and treatment of cancer can be improved, not for the patients of the year 2,000 but the patients who will become ill next year.

How much money? "What does a battleship cost?" answers Economou. "Did you ever think what $3 billion would do?"

NEWS ANALYSIS

Elections Board gets new member

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Ronald Michaelson, a top aide to former Gov. Richard Ogilvie, has been appointed to a new administrative position with the State Board of Elections.

Michaelson has been the assistant to the vice president for academic affairs and assistant professor of public affairs at Sangamon State University.

Michaelson will be the chief administrative officer for the board with responsibilities in personnel and fiscal matters.

Michaelson, 32, joined Ogilvie when the latter was president of the Cook County Board and then followed him to Springfield as a top assistant. While an assistant to Ogilvie he earned a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and began teaching at SSU.

The new job will also mean a hefty pay raise — from $1,620 per month to approximately $2,300 per month. His salary is expected to be as high as that of Delmar Ward, the director of elections.

Ward, a Democrat, and Michaelson, a Republican, hold the top two full-time positions with the board.

The policy-making decisions are handled by the four-member board — the board members are nominated by legislative leaders and appointed by the governor. Mike LaVelle of Chicago is the chairman and Don Adams of Springfield, the state Republican chairman, is the vice chairman. The other members are William Harris of Marion and Franklin Lindner of Chicago.

LaVelle is paid $25,000 and the other $22,500. And speaking of salaries, do you know what the chief of staff of the welfare fraud task force will make? The contract calls for $26,000 for three months!

For the second three months he will earn $58-per-hour up to a maximum of $26,000 more!

The person in question is John Simon, a Chicago attorney who headed the civil division of U.S. Atty. James Thompson's office until he accepted Gov. Daniel Walker's offer.

Simon is under contract to the Department of Public Aid and will work out of the offices of James Trainor, the ($35,000-a-year) Public Aid director.

Donald Page Moore, the ($42,500-a-year) director of the Office of Special Investigations, will head the interdepartmental task force. He is joining the task force will be Arthur Sinai and Richard Dunn from Moore's staff.

Dunn was head of the staff of former Senate President Pro Tem W. Russell Arrington, before joining OSI.

Sinai was previously the assistant superintendent of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

We'll undoubtedly be hearing plenty from the task force as the investigation progresses.

Lori Silverman, formerly with the Department of Personnel and the Illinois Democratic Fund, has joined the Department of Registration and Education as a $1,200-per-month administrative assistant to director Ronald Stackler. In the newly created position, she'll work with personnel and fiscal management.

Louis Reimler, 55, succumbs

Louis Albert Reimler, 55, of 2337 Jerden Ave., a lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday at John Cochran Veterans Hospital, St. Louis.

He had been ill five and half months and hospitalized for the same length of time.

Mr. Reimler was a member of Concordia Lutheran Church and belonged to Musicians Local 719, East St. Louis, Local 29 of Belleville and Local 330 of Collinsville. He also was a member of the 20-year Veteran Club of Union Electric and the Operating Engineers Local 140.

Mr. Reimler was an Air Force veteran of World War II. He was employed 21 years as a water treatment operator at Union Electric Plant in Venice and was a part-time musician.

Survivors include a brother,

LOUIS REIMLER

William Reimler of Granite City, and a sister, Mrs. Earl (Edna) Hanratty of Collinsville. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Reward for lost slides

A reward is being offered for the return of about 125 slides lost near the home of Dr. Raymond E. Troyer, 3312 Franklin Ave., yesterday morning.

Dr. Troyer said the slides are the property of the National Youth Development Foundation of which he is president. He said they are important in promoting the work of the foundation. Also lost was a slide carousel with the slides Dr. Troyer said he believes he set the carousel and the slides on his car and forgot them and drove away. A slip of paper from one of the slide boxes was found near his home, leading him to believe someone has found the slides.

Walker's payroll tab increases

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Daniel Walker has reduced the total number of employees in his executive office, but the payroll has increased sharply.

According to the current payroll records, the governor has 52 employees in his executive office at a cost of $69,946 per month.

During his first month in office, the respective figures were 43 employees at $51,677 per month. By the second month the totals were 63 employees at $64,084.

By comparison, former Gov. Richard Ogilvie started out with 35 employees on his executive office payroll at $33,942 per month. It grew to 56 employees at $60,759 by November, 1972, the month he lost in his bid for reelection.

So Walker now has four fewer employees on the executive payroll at a cost of $9,000 more per month — an increase of 15 per cent over Ogilvie.

Walker has always defended his practice of hiring fewer people and paying them higher salaries by saying the taxpayers would benefit by his bringing in competent people to do the job.

Mark Clark, an assistant press secretary, further defended the governor by citing appropriation figures for personal services for the past three years. For fiscal 1973, under Ogilvie, the total was $891,600, he said. The following two years under Walker the total was reduced to $649,200 and then to $793,200.

The cuts were made, Clark noted, despite the high rate of inflation the nation is facing. During the previous administration, one of the major criticisms over politicians made of Ogilvie was his extensive use of high-priced assistants. They accused the assistants in the executive office of administering some of the code departments and agencies.

The same criticism is now being leveled at Walker. Walker has 22 assistants on the executive payroll who are earning $20,000 or more. The highest salaries are drawn by Vic De Grazia, deputy to the governor, $38,500, and Bill Goldberg, legal counsel $35,000.

The average salary for all of the executive office personnel, including the secretaries, is $1,345 per month.

Open house at temple Sunday

An open house will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday for the public to inspect the newly remodeled top floor of the Masonic Temple in Granite City, 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

Earl Potter, Grand Master of Illinois, will be the honored guest and local civic leaders have been invited. Informal ceremonies will be held at 2 p.m. during which Potter and other dignitaries will speak.

Coffee, punch and cookies will be served following the ceremonies, it was announced.

The redecoration of the top floor cost about $50,000, it was announced. Members of many of the groups which use the facility will be in attendance, including those of two Blue Lodges, two Eastern Star chapters, Job's Daughters and DeMolay. The remainder of the building is to be remodeled in a continuing program titled "Project Renovation," which was announced in March.

Chouteau pays garage bills

Final payments to three firms which worked on the new Chouteau Township garage were authorized by the Chouteau Town Board of Auditors Monday night. The auditors agreed to pay

John Rapp of Filppo & Associates, architects, more than $900 as final payment for Rapp's services in designing the building. Also ordered paid was the $4,725 bill from Hogan Plumbing and Heating Co.

Granite City, for plumbing in the new building.
A $3,778 bill from Wegman Electric Co. of Granite City for electrical and heating work was authorized to be paid, after Rapp has had an opportunity to review the bill and make recommendations.

All bills were paid from the federal revenue sharing fund. The auditors voted to cash an $11,000 revenue sharing savings certificate to meet the payments they authorized.
Mrs. Patricia Polley, town clerk, reported another revenue sharing check for more than $7,000 has been received and she has purchased a one-year savings certificate with the money.

Highway Department salaries were ordered paid. The auditors read two copies of complaints from the Madison County Rabies Control Department to Mitchell residents informing them of the county's leash law and requesting them to keep their dogs leashed or fenced.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY
Ronnie Joe Prust, 21, of 49 Parkside West Mobile Home Park, was arrested at his home at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday and was charged with burglary. A cash box and cash were stolen during a burglary at Brewer Motor Co., 2163 Madison Ave., July 14.

Bickel heads Laclede Steel Madison plant

Laclede Steel Company today announced the promotion of Melvin L. Bickel to superintendent — Madison works. In his new position, Bickel is responsible for Laclede's operations in Madison.

Bickel began his career with Laclede Steel as an accountant at the Alton plant in 1967. He has held a number of accounting positions with the steel firm, including cost accountant, works auditor-Madison, and special accounting studies-St. Louis general offices.

A resident of Collinsville, Bickel is a graduate of Collinsville High School and Southern Illinois University. He is a member of the National Association of Accountants.

MICROFICHE

Taxpayers enjoy record savings

By MARY LOU MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Microfiche — pronounced "fuh" — reproduction in the secretary of state's office has saved the state nearly $1 million during the past fiscal year, according to figures released by that agency.

Compared to commercial charges, a recent microfiche cost analysis indicates that $853,096 was saved in the secretary of state's office, $81,468 in the comptroller's office and $49,471 in six departments under the governor.

"Savings are realized on computer print-outs, printing costs, assembly and binding operations, mailing expenses, fewer employees needed to produce microfiche and storage for records," Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett explained.

Microfiche are 106 millimeter or 465 microfilm sheets of computer records produced in the Records Management-Micrographics Division of the secretary of state's office. It was developed in 1969 as a replacement for the annual 147-volume Illinois Wheel Book of motor vehicle registration records.

"The old Wheel Book was printed annually and when it came out it was already outdated," explained a spokesman from the division.

Approximately 207 pages of printed copy had to be processed into one microfiche card. That's about 12,420 registrations per card.

Sets of microfiche, consisting of about 400 fiche by the end of each year, are sent to approximately 800 law enforcement agencies throughout the state. Material contained in these sets includes motor vehicle registration data.

This year California is spending more than $20 billion on its more than 21 million inhabitants. That includes more than $5 billion from Washington in revenue sharing and other federal entitlements.

State spending alone amounts to about 10 per cent of California's gross state product — the value of its goods and services. Ten years ago state government cost about $4.1 billion, which included $900 million in federal funds.

California hires about 200,000 public workers. That doesn't include people working for the 407 cities, 38 counties, 1,084 school districts, 3,727 special districts and 896 water districts. Together they spend another $15 billion a year.

State and local officials have a pat answer for these towering figures — the faltering dollar, otherwise known as inflation, coupled with a nearly runaway population.

Howlett is aiming at a new look

SPRINGFIELD — A few years ago it was considered by everyone in Illinois that the secretary of state's office was a patronage-rich political plum which presented many jobs to the political party in control of the office.

But in January 1973, quietly but quickly and thoroughly, Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, who had been over-whelmingly elected in the previous November, began making changes.

Howlett, with all actions before the public eye as was the hallmark of his administration of the then-Auditor's Office, formed a transition committee which would evaluate the office, with an eye toward reorganization.

The major recommendation of the committee was to try to achieve some degree of professionalization within the secretary of state's office. The first critical step in the direction of that goal was the formation of a central office dealing with planning.

The central office of planning developed a program aimed at professional qualifications, rather than political influence. This has been the controlling factor in filling several executive positions.

The economist blames the decay of the American dollar for part of the need for government to stop spending more each year, even if the services they provide don't increase.

The politicians put much of the onus on the public demand for more and more services with each succeeding year — federal, state and local — compounded by a swiftly growing population until the last couple of years.

They complain that while Americans want trimmed budgets, special interests cry loudly at reductions affecting them it often is tough to push through spending cuts, especially when public payrolls, public works projects or welfare are involved.

Consequently the Congress, state legislatures, city councils and county supervisors across the land are caught between two political factions — one demanding more services and the other insisting reductions would slice deeply into vital government functions.

The rub is that what is vital to some is nonessential to others.

State, local-level outlays rival the federal budget

Because it's easier to shoot at a single target than 50 of them, the stubborn upward climb of the federal budget gets most of the attention from critics.

Nevertheless, some state and local government officials have upped their spending habits more steeply than Washington.

States, especially, literally have grown out of their boots moneywise, from New York and California, with $20 billion annual budgets, to North Carolina, where the state payroll is growing at a faster rate than the population.

This year California is spending more than $20 billion on its more than 21 million inhabitants. That includes more than $5 billion from Washington in revenue sharing and other federal entitlements.

Sometimes we're caught between a rock and hard place when conflicting interests are at odds over spending for the new fiscal year — but Wilson, R-Calif., a veteran of more than two decades in Congress and a member of the House Armed Services Committee ever since he went to Washington in 1953.

The U.S. Census Bureau warns that government at all levels is running deeper into debt faster as budgets grow fatter for lack of a low-largest single employer and biggest spender in the Goshawk State.

A decade ago the New York state budget was only $2.9 billion, with about 164,000 employees.

State on city, county, village, town and school district budgets to the state's spending and you come up with nearly $20 billion and more than 900,000 people, or one in every 20 of New York's nearly 18 million inhabitants.

The Citizens' Public Expenditure Survey, a national taxpayers' group, claims New York has the highest per capita state and local tax burden in the nation, eclipsing its nearest rival, California, by nearly $100 per person.

Last year New York state and local tax collectors took about $17.50 for every $1,000 in personal earnings.

However, New York and California have plenty of company from other states whose public payrolls have ballooned in the last 10 years.

State employees in Texas, for example, account for 4.44 per cent of the estimated population of 11,976,000 this year, compared with 3.38 per cent in 1964.

State government spending in Texas climbed 195 per cent in the last 10 years, from $1.14 billion in 1964 to $3.38 billion in the current fiscal year. In the last two decades the boost amounted to 532 per cent.

In Louisiana, the state government hires 127,000 to administer the $1.6 billion it now spends annually, exclusive of federal funds. Ten years ago it was $700 million.

Indiana's 1960-61 budget was $415 million. This year it's close to $2.9 billion. In Montana, the 16,462 state employees this year represent about 2.3 per cent of the state's population. In Colorado, state workers make up 2.1 per cent of the population and local government another 4.2 per cent.

Alaska's state work force of 14,000 is 3.9 per cent of its population compared with 2.3 per cent a decade ago.

Nevertheless, there are states where government was not so expensive — that is, compared to the average $522.49 per capita collected by the 50 states in 1971-72.

For instance, in Maine, where only 16,736 people work for the state, the average per capita payment was only $267 for state and local government expenses. In Virginia it was $418.62; in Indiana, $444.11, and in Louisiana, $379, but the latter figure was for state levies only.

Like the federal bureaucracy, state and local governments grew apace with the nation's population climb since 1920.

On the beach side, economists and government officials at all levels concede there is no way to retrace without cutting services to the people who pay for them and those who don't.

Like the price of a meal in a restaurant, the government menu shows markups, not markdowns most of the time.

On the bullish side, if inflation could be harnessed and federal and state welfare rolls trimmed back by the creation of more jobs, there is hope that government spending all along the line at least could begin to level off on an acceptable plateau, especially in these times of so-called zero population.

That, after all, is what President Ford's gradually evolving economic reform program is all about.

Rapid spending pace by government at all levels

Federal government spending is mounting steadily despite the billions of dollars annually Americans believe the United States would save if it stopped pouring money into the Vietnam War 18 months ago.

State governments are burgeoning at a frenzied pace, too, with some states spending four times what they shelled out 20 years ago.

City and county governments aren't far behind percentage-wise in many sections of the nation.

The American taxpayer only can say: "Why? And will there ever be an end to the dog chasing its tail as inflation feeds budgets and budgets feed inflation? When will we at last reach the last dizzying heights of public spending?"

Economists and politicians have both answers, or explanations.

The economists blame the decay of the American dollar for part of the need for government to stop spending more each year, even if the services they provide don't increase.

The politicians put much of the onus on the public demand for more and more services with each succeeding year — federal, state and local — compounded by a swiftly growing population until the last couple of years.

They complain that while Americans want trimmed budgets, special interests cry loudly at reductions affecting them it often is tough to push through spending cuts, especially when public payrolls, public works projects or welfare are involved.

Consequently the Congress, state legislatures, city councils and county supervisors across the land are caught between two political factions — one demanding more services and the other insisting reductions would slice deeply into vital government functions.

The rub is that what is vital to some is nonessential to others.

"Total federal, state and local government revenue from all sources amounted to $381.8 billion for fiscal 1971-72, up $39.4 billion from the year," says a bureau report.

"Government spending in fiscal 1971-72 was $397.4 billion, up $28 billion from the prior year to $359.4 billion."

"Today the dog still is chasing his tail as the fiscal 1974 federal budget balloons over the $300 billion mark."

Indebtedness of all governments at the end of fiscal 1971-72 was $60.8 billion, including a federal public debt of $427.3 billion," says the Census Bureau.

"State and local government debt increased $15.7 billion during the same fiscal year to a record total of $174.5 billion."

Economists often point to what the federal government calls "human resources programs" as the greatest factor in the constant rise of federal spending over the last decade.

For example, about half the federal budget for $151.5 billion is funneled into these programs — welfare, Medicare, minority job training, Social Security, etc. Welfare takes the biggest bite, of course, with a $100 billion mouthful — an estimated 325 per cent climb since 1964 — or approximately a third of federal spending.

While the Pentagon is a chief target of the loudest voices for budget slashing, the Census Bureau report shows that defense spending, even when coupled with federal military aid, is mounting at a slower pace than total federal outlays.

In fiscal year 1966-67, says the bureau, defense-related dollars amounted to 53.9 per cent of all federal spending. By fiscal 1971-72 the figure dropped to 42.1 per cent. In this fiscal year by the time all fiscal 1974-75 appropriation bills have been signed into law, the percentage is expected to be about 40 per cent.

Even so, Pentagon critics seek to lop about $5 billion off the $80 billion defense budget for the new fiscal year — a cut opposed by President Ford.

Defense officials from Secretary James Schlesinger down insist they are in the same boat as the American housewife when it comes to the menu in the market place. They peg mounting inflation for many of the cost-overruns on weapons systems but concede that an all-volunteer U.S. armed force, with its countless financial incentives, has boosted military payrolls to where they represent more than half the defense budget.

For instance, in Maine, where only 16,736 people work for the state, the average per capita payment was only $267 for state and local government expenses. In Virginia it was $418.62; in Indiana, $444.11, and in Louisiana, $379, but the latter figure was for state levies only.

Like the federal bureaucracy, state and local governments grew apace with the nation's population climb since 1920.

The council went along with recommendations of Casper Nighobossian, city condemnation attorney, to raze dilapidated dwellings on two pieces of property acquired by the city for clearing, but decided in a third instance to advertise for bids for sale of another lot containing a house which a resident wants to remove and rebuild.

Nighobossian reported to the aldermen that a quit claim deed has been obtained on property at 2100 W. 19th St. and that condemnation has been completed for property at 3052 Nameoki Road. He said a quit claim deed also had been obtained for property at 2145 Monroe St.

Nighobossian recommended the council accept the quit claim deeds, which entail payment by the city of delinquent taxes and waiver of sewer rental fees, to clear the way for razing of the structures.

Council members concurred for the property on West 19th Street and Nameoki Road. They were informed, however, that the brick structure at 2145 Monroe St. is structurally sound and that a neighbor is interested in acquiring the house and lot for renovation of the house.

The aldermen agreed to offer the property for sale on bids with a stipulation that the purchaser provide liability insurance for the period of rebuilding and Janice Carvin, all of the Granite City area.

Alderman Roy Poulos objected that selling property for renovation is "defeating the city's purpose" of its program to eliminate old vacant houses, but other council members said if property is properly repaired and replaced to use it adds to the city's tax base as well as providing needed housing.

Council members also accepted a letter from the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners noting that six police officers have completed their probationary periods and asking that they be ranked as patrolmen.

The officers are Kerry Pomeroy and John Apperson who completed probationary periods Aug. 1; Robert Krause, Craig Nunn and Stephen Willaredt who completed probation Aug. 16, and Michael Sparks, Sept. 1.

The aldermen placed on file a notice from Todd A. Cayer, chief of the construction grants branch of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency that a grant of $846,850 is being processed for Granite City's secondary sewage treatment plant. It is the third grant to be scheduled for the city. The letter noted that $3,954,474 of work has been completed on the plant.

Bills approved during the meeting included payment of $1,060,250 to the G. L. Tarlton Contracting Co. of St. Louis which is building the sewage treatment plant under a $10.8 million contract.

The council also approved payment of $4,314 to the M. W. Engineering Co. for inspection work on the treatment plant, during September, and payment of $5,000 to M. W. for engineering services, also for

Hearings set on care centers

Public hearings on proposed new state standards for licensing of day and night care facilities for children have been ordered by Mary Lee Leahy, acting director of the Department of Children and Family Services.

Mrs. Leahy said hearings will be held Oct. 29 in the Sunset Hill Holiday Inn, Edwardsville; Oct. 30, Room 301, Municipal Building, Springfield; and Oct. 31, Room 1818, State of Illinois Building, Chicago. Hearings in all three cities will be held from 1 to 7:30 p.m.

Working parents, providers of day care services, and representatives of service organizations—those who have a vital stake in the standards DCF sets for these facilities—are urged to examine the proposed standards carefully.

Mrs. Leahy said the standards impose tougher educational and experience requirements for employees of day care centers. Mrs. Leahy noted. Other changes would:

—Require day care center operators to carry liability insurance.

—Strengthen the staff-child ratio for care of infants; and —Set a 21-year age minimum for persons who serve their own homes for care of unrelated children.

The governor helped plan a series of accidents in the 1800 block of Pontoon Road. Dockery is charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving and having no driver's license.

Witnesses said an auto was westbound on Pontoon road, crossed the center line and struck the car of Robert Zaring, 204 Angela Drive. Zaring's vehicle had driven off the roadway to try and avoid the accident.

The other driver attempted to flee at a high rate of speed, lost control and left the roadway, going across the yard of Mike Tondas, 1801 Pontoon Road, and hitting a Bi-State Transit Co. bus stop sign before striking the rear of the parked van of Frank Hatcher, 1809 Pontoon Road, officials were told.

Faces 3 charges
Curtis DuBoise, 26, of 1012 Iowa St., Madison, faces three charges after an alleged police chase of his car in the downtown Granite City area at 1 a.m. Wednesday.

DuBoise was charged with fleeing or attempting to elude police, speeding (70 miles-per-hour in a 30 m.p.h. zone) and disobeying a flashing traffic light after the alleged chase which was reported between 19th Street and Cleveland Boulevard and 14th and State streets.

SIU Student Development Services Offer Emotional, Vocational Help

Student Development Services (SDS) is one of many aids offered at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for students with problems.

"The student doesn't have to have a terrible problem to use our facilities," Kim A. Price, director of the program and clinical psychologist, said. "He may not communicate as well as he would like. He may not be getting along with his instructors, his family or his friends," Price said.

However, some students who seek the services of the center are severely depressed. "They are under so much pressure to do so many things, they can't get anything done at all," said Price. "They may be considering suicide," he added.

The center also works with students who suffer from a high level of test-taking anxiety. "Some students have trouble organizing their time to study," he said.

SDS is operated on a walk-in basis or by appointment. Counseling is done either on an individual or group basis. "Some students are reluctant to communicate in a one-to-one situation," Price said.

The services are free and are available to SIUE students, faculty members and staff. "Anyone with an emotional or vocational problem can come to us," Arie Walker of the SDS office said. "If we cannot take care of their problems, we act as a referral service to outside agencies. We even provide marital counseling, if necessary. We do anything to help the student complete his higher education," she said.

"If an emergency situation develops on campus, and the student cannot reach the office under his own power, we will go to him," Miss Walker said.

"We even work with the immediate family whenever our work load is not too heavy," Price said. "If a housewife attending classes at SIUE has trouble with her son at home, members of the family can come over to the center and discuss the problem."

Career information is also available within SDS to provide students with vocational and occupational information. Students are encouraged to drop in any time and sift through career data. With the aid of film strips, cassettes, and printed materials, the student can learn more about what he can do with his degree in the current job market. The student can also learn what training qualifications are necessary in related fields.

Vocational testing is also offered by SDS to

Levee board ok's Dobrey pact

An agreement with the Illinois State Division of Waterways under which the East Side Levee and Sanitary District will pay all energy costs for operation of the Dobrey Slough drainage line was approved by the levee board of trustees in a regular meeting at East St. Louis yesterday.

The agreement provides that the waterways division will be responsible for maintenance of two large pumps, and that Granite City will be permitted the right to shut off the pumps if the volume of water in the Nameoki canal threatens flooding.

Jack Scoville, president of the levee board, estimated cost of fuel and electric power for the pumps at $2,500 to $3,000 per year.

The board also concurred in the appointment by Scoville of Eugene Clark of Brooklyn as treasurer of the district for the remainder of the fiscal year which ends Dec. 31. Clark fills the vacancy created by the resignation of George Thomas, mayor of Brooklyn who has pleaded guilty in federal court at East St. Louis in connection with kickbacks in a Brooklyn construction job.

Indian wars to resume; hungry Warriors await Karioks' raid

STEELER DEFENSIVE ROCK. This defensive unit of the Granite City High School North football team has held opposing teams to 408 yards rushing in five games and has refused to be scored against on the ground. It allowed only one touchdown in the air thus far, in North's 34-22 victory over Breese Mater Dei. Among those aiding North in maintaining undefeated status are

Heavens! North team oppresses grid star at Assumption High

"We aren't going to change our game style for one ball club," said Steeler grid mentor Tom Wyrostek as his undefeated Granite City North team prepared to take on Assumption at East St. Louis this Saturday at 1 p.m.

"The Pioneers," remarked Wyrostek, "are a fine team. But we are going to keep on doing what we do best."

What the Steelers do best is win.

Granite City North enjoys its elite position of being one of only three area high schools sporting a 5-0 record entering this weekend's competition. The other two are Marquette of Alton and East St. Louis.

Rounding out the undefeated list in this region are Mascoutah at 4-0 and Belleville/Alto at 4-0-1.

Assumption has 1-3-1 record but is capable of generating awesome offensive power.

"The pressure is really on us now," commented the North coach, "and it's going to get tougher."

For a team that has outscored its opponents 115-33 in five outings, has 842 yards rushing and 479 yards in the air, and includes eight different players who have scored touchdowns, what is there to worry about?

"For one thing, Assumption's Jerome Heavens is ranked among the top 20 in the nation and is this area's leading scorer," Wyrostek noted.

A 205-pound senior, Heavens ran for more than 100 yards for the fifth straight time this season and for the 13th time in his career. This weekend totaled 118 yards in 18 carries, plus added five passes for an additional 43 yards, and ran 30 yards for Assumption's only touchdown in a 14-0 loss to DeMet of St. Louis.

Assumption knocked at DeMet's end zone door several times in the game and lost a first-half opportunity when a 33-yard TD pass play from Mark Hyland to Heavens was nullified because of a clipping penalty.

Hyland is the Pioneer's 170-pound senior quarterback. Last year, he led the team to a 4-7 season.

Heavens' TD was preceded by a 21-yard swing pass from Hyland to Halfback Oscar Jackson, a 160-pound junior, and a 39-yard halfback pass from Jackson to Steve Hyland, a 170-pound senior end.

The combination of Jerome Heavens and the Pioneer passing game could prove to be an overwhelming factor in any contest, but Assumption has lost some big ones—27-0 to Belleville West, 36-13 to Rosary of St. Louis and 56-20 to Peoria Central.

Perhaps the Pioneers' brightest moment thus far came on Sept. 28 when they played undefeated Belleville Alto for a scoreless tie, in a game that many thought boiled down to a battle between the defensive units.

Heavens is also a key player

He is aided by Seniors John Blue at 235 pounds, John Hentz at 185, Fred Renollet at 225 and Mike Fido at 240, plus Juniors Mike Niderer at 158, Dave Sams at 120 and Mike Barnhill at 205.

Assumption's defensive unit held DeMet to 173 yards rushing and seven yards in the air, and intercepted a pass.

Although North and Assumption are far apart in the win-loss column, both clubs boast a solid-as-a-rock defense.

North may have an edge over Assumption in the backfield with a number of competent players able to fill key slots.

Halfback Billy Carr, a 5-0, 163-pound senior, became the eighth individual to score a touchdown for North when he racked up 12 points against Breese Mater Dei.

Mike Donnell, a 6-1, 185-pound back, has totaled 26 points thus far and made North rushing with nearly 400 yards.

Reading North's scoring effort is Lenny Wright with 40 points. He is one of the Steeler halfbacks and also possesses one of the most talented kicking styles in this region.

Wright earned 16 points in the Mater Dei contest on two touchdowns and four point-after-TD placement kicks.

Cougars still nation's No. 1

Pleased but not overconfident after being ranked the No. 1 American college soccer team for the third straight week, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars are preparing to host the third annual Illinois Universities Soccer Tournament Friday and Saturday.

It has been a fiercely fought tournament between the host Cougars, the Western Illinois University Leathernecks, the Northern Illinois University Huskies and the Eastern Illinois University Panthers the two previous seasons with no game being decided by more than a two-goal margin. In fact, 140 scores seem to be the customary figure.

Last year, SIUE won it by defeating Eastern 1-0 and slipping past Northern by the same score.

In Friday's leadoff clash, Coach Dave Bucher's Northern squad, 2-0-1, will meet Fritz Teller's Eastern Team, 2-2-0 with the kickoff scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

At 3:30, the host Cougars of Ed will battle John MacKenzie's Western Illinois Leathernecks. Western is 5-1-0 and has a five-game winning streak going. The Huskies' lone loss was to St. Louis U., 2-0.

In the only previous meeting between Southern Western in the leadoff contest of the inaugural tourney three years ago at DeKalb, the two teams battled to a 1-1 tie in a double overtime game.

Western and SIUE both have nearly full lineups made up of St. Louis, Kansas, Northern, close to Chicago, is staffed liberally with players from the Windy City. Eastern, meanwhile, has a roster dominated by foreign players with a few native-born players.

Saturday's schedule calls for Friday's two losers to meet at 1:30 p.m., while the first day's winners will battle out at 3:30 p.m. This year's NCAA rules do not permit games to go into overtime.

Trojan gridiron sops outscored

The Breese Mater Dei sops defeated Madison 35-12 Monday in a grid contest at Trojan Field.

Warren Waggoner scored both TDs for Madison, on a 30-yard run and a 76-yard kickoff return.

Lose to Althoff

A golf makeup meet held Tuesday between GCHS South and the Althoff team in the Warriors being defeated 153-13 at Belleville.

South's Don Greco headed the effort with a 38, Jim Kato had a 40, Craig Bailey 41 and Kevin Worthing, 44.

With a full schedule of Southwestern Conference grid games remaining, the chances of Granite City High School South gaining a share of the crown to qualify for the first state playoffs are mathematically remote. The team will host Collinsville at 8 p.m. Friday at the South stadium.

Warrior Coach Stan Wojcik is still optimistic about South's abilities, saying "We are going to turn it around. The only thing we are going to do from now on is win."

The first-year mentor feels his squad has progressed sufficiently to make it one of the best well-balanced teams in the area, with an effective offense and defense.

"We proved that Friday against Edwardsville," said Wojcik.

Though South lost the contest 14-12, the Warrior performance contrasted with earlier games.

Quarterback Kirk Champion had one of his finest passing games, completing 11 of 19 passes for 96 yards, including a touchdown pass to Tom Schooley and Ray Smith.

Schooley, a 6-foot-3, 179-pound senior letterman, was on the receiving end of eight Champion passes for 73 yards.

The Warrior quarterback led his team to a 17-0 lead over the Tigers in the third quarter, moving 68 yards and then scrambling before throwing to End Smith in the end zone.

The Warrior effort bogged down with seven minutes remaining to play, when Champion developed leg cramps.

"When a quarterback is hot," says Wojcik, "the least thing can turn him off."

Champion's performance was given him the Warrior offensive line—Tackle Charles Ruth, 5-7, 180, a junior; Center Boyd, a 6-foot-8, 250-pound senior tackle, broke through the line to throw Burkhardt for losses and was instrumental in South's two recoveries to Tiger fumbles.

Juniors are aware South will be opposing an aggressive ball club when it plays host to Collinsville tomorrow night.

"The Kahoks are looking for all, or at least a large slice of the conference pie," remarked South's coach, "and therefore they will overcome any shortcomings they might have with their aggressive methods."

Collinsville is 3-2-0 overall and 2-1 in the conference. The Kahoks have lost thus far to GCHS North 15-13 and to East St. Louis, the conference leader, 26-7.

The Kahoks' success so far—they were 3-1 last year—appears to stem largely from their defensive line. During the past weekend, this unit held Alton to a net total of 13 yards while the offense was overcoming the Redbirds 14-0, with 145 yards rushing and 36 yards in the air.

Many of the Collinsville players go both ways on offense and defense, as do a number of the Warriors.

The Kahok forward wall stopped Alton backs 10 times behind the line of scrimmage, the largest loss being a 23-yard setback when the quarterback was brought down.

Collinsville's defense held Alton to a negative 30 yards rushing and only 52 yards passing.

Collinsville has three-year starter Lou Greer, 5-foot-4, a 165-pound senior, calling the signals.

Complementing Greer is 172-pound junior Fullback Lonnie Giddings, who plunged into the end zone from the one-yard line to open the Kahok scoring against Alton.

22-yard scoring strike.

The game could boil down to South's aerial game versus Collinsville's ground attack.

Warrior air tactics have netted it 401 yards on 38 completions in 58 attempts, and have earned South six touchdowns.

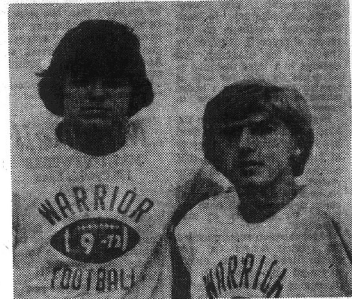

Senior Flanker Tom Schooley, who nursed an injured knee the first part of the season, was on the receiving end of 18 Champion passes for 184 yards and two TDs.

Senior End Ray Smith caught nine for 109 and two TDs.

South's rushing has collected 490 yards. Senior Halfback Paul Muhlil has carried 56 times for 243 yards and Junior Halfback Frank Barunka 72 for 156 yards.

Junior Doug Hartman has made 35 tackles, Seniors Mark Greenwood and Greg Terrell 25 each, and Junior Mieth Moran 21.

"Everyone is healthy," reported Wojcik. "The boys are keeping their heads up, and now the pride of the team is at stake."

WARRIOR AIR POWER. Granite City South's passing attack, ignited by Quarterback Kirk Champion's 38 completions for 401 yards, is aided and abetted by Senior Flanker Tom Schooley (left), who has been on the receiving end 18 times for gains of 184 yards and two touchdowns.

Injuries leave 'Big Green' a bit green and inexperienced for contest here with Dupo

What does a football team do after losing its star quarterback, punter, place kicker, kickoff specialist and pass receiver?

"We'll just have to pick up the pieces and continue on," answered Trojan mentor Al Vonder Haar this week as Madison High School prepared to entertain Dupo at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Madison's Green and White, winless in five outings, lost Quarterback Emmett Timmons and Split End Kevin Werner for the rest of the season to injuries received last Friday in a game at Quincy.

Timmons, who had returned after missing earlier games due to an injury, suffered an apparent repeat kidney injury in the third quarter of the contest.

Werner broke a collarbone in three places after catching a 12-yard pass to set up his only touchdown. Going out of bounds on Quincy's six-yard line, he collided with a utility pole.

"You can cover up some positions," added Vonder Haar. "It's hard for a team to cover a loss of nearly all its star offensive unit."

Both players covered offensive defensive positions.

As quarterback, Timmons completed 18 of 38 passes for 302 of Madison's 380-yard total in the air. He also has done virtually all the team's kicking.

Werner was on the receiving end of Trojan passes 11 times for 305 yards, averaging 16.9 yards per game on receptions.

A 5-11, 165-pound senior, Werner also was the squad's fifth leading tackler, having grounded 22 opposing players.

He also scored one of Madison's four touchdowns while playing defense.

Timmons, a 5-9 165-pound senior, carried the ball 36 times for 25 yards and engineered 171 drives which netted Madison a total of 922 yards.

Senior Back Joe Young has been the leading carrier with 53 for 170 yards, and leads in tackles with 53.

Madison will seek its first win of the season against Dupo Saturday afternoon at Trojan Field. Dupo is 2-3 after losing 40-8 to Jennings, Mo., this past weekend.

"We have two fine players," said the Madison coach, "to replace Timmons and Werner against the Tigers. The main difference is the inexperience of the two, compared to the veteran players."

Madison's starting quarterback is Mike Woods, a 5-10, 170-pound junior.

Woods has filled the quarterback slot in only two games thus far, completing four of 15 for 78 yards, with one intercepted. He was 0-3 in his last outing.

As a rusher, Woods carried three times for 17 yards in his last game and is five for 19 yards overall.

McConney has been on the receiving end of a pass one time for no gain and carried the one for five yards. Defensively, he has seven tackles credited to him.

"We haven't lost our mental outlook on the season," adds Vonder Haar. "It's just going to require a combination of our stopping Dupo's aerial attack while we eat up the ground."

The Tiger offense is headed by Chris Criswell, a 6-2, 155-pound senior letterman, who against Jennings completed nine of 16 passes for 115 yards and picked up the same exact yardage on rushing plays.

Dupo's only scoring against the Missouri team came on a 29-yard Criswell TD pass to 160-pound senior Jim Farmer, capping a 67-yard march in nine plays. A two-point conversion run was scored by Ron Dell, a 180-pound senior.

The loss to Jennings was the third straight for the Tigers, who with 15 returning lettermen still have inexperience on the offensive line and defensive secondary.

Dupo has only two experienced lettermen in the offensive line—tackles Jim Odenhall at 180 and Ron Spencer at 208, both seniors.

In the backfield, Farmer and Dell are joined by 155-pound senior Halfback Dave Thielmann, who last year started late in the season but still chalked up 315 yards in rushing.

Sporting a 5-3 man defense, Dupo has its strength in Junior non-letterman Mike Tutor at 205, and 210-pound letterman Mike Ladyman, a senior.

The big question is whether Madison can win its first game in 18 outings with, except for Young, a nearly all-win-back field.

"I think we can," says Vonder Haar.

South one of 30 district girls' tennis meet sites

It was a bright, brisk fall afternoon last October when the Oak Park-River Forest High School girls' tennis coach, Steve Carlson, weighed the question thoroughly and replied: "I don't think it would be appropriate to think about one kind of dynasty. I think it's more appropriate to say we've got the potential for some good squads in the future."

With it has been said that the past is prologue and that the future is now. In the brief (two-year) history of the Illinois School Association (IHSAA) girls' tennis tournament series, Miss Carlson's Huskies have been the dominant force.

They have won the previous two team titles, boast the top returning singles player in senior Sue Replogle, and this year return every member of last year's championship squad, plus some talented newcomers.

Oak Park-River Forest will be one of a record 243 downstate and suburban schools beginning district competition Oct. 19 at 30 sites, including GCHS South.

Top two singles players and doubles teams from each district will advance to the state final meet Oct. 25-26 on the many courts of District No. 24 in the Arlington Heights area. They will be joined by qualifiers from the Chicago Public League meet.

Semifinal and final matches in both singles and doubles are scheduled to be played on the courts at Arlington High School. May Lou Hundt, girls' tennis coach at Arlington, again will serve as tournament manager.

"I know and the girls know, and the student body here at school knows our streak will be on the line," Miss Carlson admitted.

"As I tell the girls each time we compete: 'Just go out and do the best you can; you can't do any more than that.'"

"I don't think I've really developed a hard-line coaching style in light of our successes. I'm sure the pressure will be greater this year than in the previous two. Once they get out there on the court, though, there's nothing more I can do."

Both previous state final tournaments, the 16-year-old Miss Replogle advanced to the singles title match. She won the 1972 title easily, but lost a heartbreaker to Sue Graham of Northfield (New Trier West) last fall, 2-2, 4-6, 1-6.

"She's probably the girl to beat in singles and she will play singles for us again," Miss Carlson said. "She had some illness that slowed her over the summer, but she's bouncing back. She knows it's going to be a tough row to hoe."

"I'm not quite sure about our doubles teams. We might stay with the same ones we had last year, or we might mix them up a bit to see what happens. I think we'll be as strong overall as we were last year."

Both of Oak Park's doubles teams were defeated in semifinal matches last fall. The combination of new senior Martha Glinke and sophomore Mary Ann Nelson was the No. 1 seed. The team of Jean Barr and Junior Janelle Barclay was unseeded.

No. 2 singles player senior Sarah Dutton may be challenged by senior Maureen Nelson, Mary Ann's older sister.

"The majority of the good singles players from last year graduated," Miss Carlson observed. "That going to make a difference in the team competition."

"Depending on who advanced from the New Trier East and New Trier West area, the state tournament could be an exciting one."

Wilma Schulze will be the advisor for the Granite City girls' tennis team. The seven visiting schools are GCHS North, Cahokia, Collinsville, O'Fallon and three Belleville teams—Althoff, East and West.

Redbird victory

The Alton Redbirds defeated GCHS North golfers 108-174 here Tuesday at Arlington Golf Course. Alton's best score was a 39 while Steeler Tim Behrens shot a two-over-par 38.

Other scorers for North were Dave Dodson 44, Bob Behrens 45 and Dan Harper, 41.

GCHS South, North among state soccer championship favorites

A record 73 downstate and suburban high schools will enter teams in the dramatically revised third annual Illinois High School Association (IHSA) boys' soccer tournament series, which begins with sub-sectional competition at 13 sites Oct. 29.

Overall pairings and assignments to sub-sectional sites were announced this week by IHSA Executive Secretary Harry Fitzhugh.

"The boys' soccer series is one of our most rapidly expanding team sports series," Fitzhugh said. "Two years ago we began the tournament series with 36 downstate and suburban teams. Last year we had 52. Next year we would top the 100 mark. We think it shows soccer is gaining in statewide interest."

The winners at each of the sub-sectional sites will advance to a correlated sectional tournament title game, scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 5. Seven sectional champions will be joined by the winner of the Chicago Public League Tournament in the state final tournament the weekend of Nov. 9-10 at Huskie Stadium on the campus of Northern Illinois University, DeKalb. Previous state final tournaments were four-team affairs.

Defending champion Chicago (Harrison), rated the tournament favorite to advance from the Public League, will face the winner of the Skokie (Niles West) sectional in game No. 1 of the state tournament on Nov. Friday, Nov. 5.

Other state tournament quarter-finals pairings include: Game No. 2—Jacksonville champion vs. Berwyn (Morton West) champion at 2 p.m.; Game No. 3—Lake Forest champion vs. Granite City (South) champion at 7 p.m.

Semifinal games will be played at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 9. The championship game is set for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 9. Last year, Chicago (Harrison) defeated Cicero (Morton East), 1-0 in the title game at Hancock Stadium, Normal.

Harrison, which went 17-0-2 last year, may face the stiffest overall competition in the history of the tournament series. Former Granite City High School (now South) claimed the 1972 title with a 2-1 overtime triumph over Northfield (New Trier West).

Last year, two schools began operation in Granite City and North and South rate as strong challengers for the title this year.

Both will host sub-sectional tournaments which lead to the Granite City (South) sectional. In addition, Quincy Senior High School was one of the 21 schools to add soccer programs this fall, and the Blue Devils have a long reputation for developing strong IHSA tournament series teams.

Addition of the schools forming the Chicago Catholic League to the IHSA last July brought five soccer-playing schools into the series. Assigned to sub-sectionals based on the standard IHSA geographic philosophy, they should add a new dimension to the series.

Two of the schools entered represent communities in Central and Southern Illinois, while six Northwestern Illinois schools are assigned to the Hincley-Big Rock sub-sectional.

One other major change in the format of tournament play at all levels will be the addition of sudden-death overtime in the event a regulation game ends in a tie.

High school-age ice hockey league to begin 2nd season

The Madison-St. Clair High School Club Hockey League will open its second year of high school club hockey on Nov. 1 with games scheduled between Alton and Collinsville starting at 10:30 p.m. and Wood River playing Edwardsville in the second game, starting at 11:45 p.m.

Games will be played on Friday and Saturday nights through the winter months, with all games scheduled at the Wilson Park Ice Rink in Granite City.

The league is composed of high school boys and features a 20-game schedule in addition to tournament play at the end of the regular season.

Each overtime will consist of a pair of ten-minute periods. If, after two such overtimes, the score remains tied, each team will take five penalty kicks and the team scoring the most goals winning the five penalty kicks will advance.

The GCHS South sub-sectional meet will include Cahokia, Carbondale (Central) and Waterloo (Gibault) as well as the host team.

Sub-sectional competition at GCHS North will involve the host Steelers and Collinsville, Highland (St. Paul) and East St. Louis (Assumption).

The surviving teams will collide in the GCHS South sectional.

Then the sectional winner here will go directly into the state tournament against the Lake Forest sectional winner; the Lake Forest sub-sectionals are located there and at Northfield (New Trier West).

The state soccer tournament has seen the Warriors of Granite City in close contention each year. In addition to the 1972 championship, South placed third a year ago.

Whatever team emerges from the local sectional this fall—South, North or one of the other entries—will be among the favorites to capture the 1974 Illinois state soccer championship.

High school-age ice hockey league to begin 2nd season

There is still room in the league for players, and a high school student interested in playing in the league can contact Mike Thompson, publicity director for the league, at Alton Senior High School during the day (462-0093) or Eldon Klein (314-7772), president of the league.

The cost for each boy is approximately $60 for the entire season.

Klein said the league is set up "to give high school boys who are not participating in any organized hockey program an opportunity to play ice hockey in a league at a reasonable cost."

GOLFER OF YEAR award by the Elks Golf League is accepted by Charles Rodell, right, in behalf of the recipient, Chuck Weiss, from Dr. C. A. Schmitt, league president, at the annual league awards dinner during the weekend. Weiss was unable to attend the event.

CHAMPIONS ALL. Elks Golf League championship awards were presented at the league's annual awards dinner in the Elks Lodge here. ## Martinez, Goldschmidt, Gitcho will be honored

Three former Granite City High School athletes are among 56 candidates to be honored Nov. 21 at the 25th annual Elks Sports Celebrity Night dinner in the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis.

U.S. wrestler Jan Gitcho and former GCHS South soccer standouts Mike Martinez and Don Goldschmidt are the three local athletes.

Gitcho, a star high school and college wrestler here, became the only American wrestler to defeat a Russian counterpart in a tour with the U. S. World Team early this spring.

Martinez and Goldschmidt were instrumental in South's third-place state championship last year. Between them, they set individual season scoring records with a total of 55 goals.

Martinez is presently a student at South Florida University and Goldschmidt at St. Louis University. They are members of soccer teams at the two schools.

School soccer Midget Rascals in home test

With the Granite City Little Rascals boys' grid season entering the homestretch, three games are on tap this weekend on the road and one at home at Southfield.

Undefeated Jr. Pee Wees (5-0) travel to Belleville at 2 p.m. Saturday to meet the Devils.

On Sunday, the 3-2 Pee Wees are at Scott Air Base at 1:30 p.m.; the 3-2 Midget Central team hosts the Belleville Devils at 1:30 p.m.; and the 5-0 Midget North squad will be at Fairview Heights at 1:30 p.m.

Warriors notch 3rd league soccer win

The Warriors of Granite City South are undefeated (3-0) in Southwestern Conference soccer competition after blanketing Collinsville 2-0 yesterday at South Field. South has a 10-31 overall record.

Warrior Teno Valencia scored in the first half of play on a penalty kick. A Kahok player had touched the ball with his hands in a scramble near South's net.

Senior Charlie Bennington added a goal 40 seconds into the second half of play to boost his season scoring mark to 18.

Bennington took a long downfield pass from Dave Sheridan and broke to his left to pull the deferring goalkeeper out of position. He then powered the ball into the right side of the net.

East golfers win

The golfing Warriors of GCHS South had a 5-4 season record after losing 2-17 Monday to Belleville East here at Arlington Golf Course.

Don Gresco set the pace for South with a three-over-par 39. Craig Bailey scored 40, Jim Kafka 44, Terry Ravaneli 45 and Kevin Worster 46.

Coolidge rally succeeds, 12-6

Coolidge Junior High School scored two touchdowns in the final period of play to defeat visiting Prather 12-6. In another contest, host Edwardsville downed Grigsby 14-6.

Prather's Steve Burns scored on a 20-yard fumble recovery run early in the second half. Minutes later, Coolidge's Jeff Parker scored twice on a 90-yard run and a 40-yard pass play from Mike Kramer.

Grigsby's TD yesterday came on a 20-yard pass from Richard Awalt to Mike Smith in the end zone.

Little lake is beauty

LENA, Ill. — Indians fought white men over stolen horse herds where Lake Le-Aqua-Na state park now lies, but no Indian ever muttered its guttural name.

Le-Aqua-Na isn't an Indian word, though it sounds like one. It isn't even a word, but a kind of anagram, made by taking the name of the nearby town of Lena and the Latin word for "water," and combining them. The name was the winning entry in a contest conducted by the Stephenson County Sportsman's Club, one of several groups which supported the idea of a park in the glaciated plain area.

The 715-acre park, located just six miles south of the Illinois-Wisconsin line, was dedicated in 1958, and from the start activity there has centered around the lake.

Lake Le-Aqua-Na was created by the state in the mid-1930s, but geologists have found that 20,000 years ago there was a small glacial lake in the same area, created when glacial ice dammed the stream flowing in the valley where Waddams Creek is today.

Permanent settlers moved early into the area, with William Waddams erecting the first permanent pioneer home just west of the present park in 1833. The house still stands, and for many years the road which ran in front of the Waddams residence was the main east-west highway for travelers crossing northern Illinois.

WASHINGTON COUNTY

Hunting, fishing and room to roam

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on Illinois state parks and memorials.

BY JOAN MURARO

NASHVILLE, Ill. — Peace, beauty and great scenic beauty are the chief attributes of Washington County conservation area, four miles south of Nashville in southern Illinois.

The park-like area, begun when the state acquired 100 acres in 1959, now totals 1,377 acres and teams with protected upland game, which flourishes in the variety of cover provided.

Focal point of the area is the long, thin lake lying placidly amid fields and woods. Covering 248 acres, it has a maximum depth of 25 feet, and a 13.3-mile shoreline.

Through the area, shrubs divide fields and fences provide more shelter. The fallow fields, brushy draws, interspersed stands of hardwood timber and specially planted larches all offer cover, which is supplemented by pine stands and small cultivated fields. Taking advantage of the food and shelter thus provided are rabbits, quail, squirrels, doves, deer and woodcock.

The lake has been stocked with largemouth bass, bluegill, sunfish, crappie, channel catfish and carp.

Anglers will find two launching ramps, docks, and boats available for rent. There is a lake motor limit of 10 horsepower.

During the hunting season, some of the area is open to shotgun and bow and arrow hunters, with the sections where hunting is permitted posted as open.

Hikers can really test their enthusiasm at Washington County conservation area; a concession stand at the lake sells soft drinks and sandwiches as well as fishing tackle.

Scattered around the scenic spots around the lake are picnic areas, with outdoor stoves, tables, drinking water and playground equipment. A concession stand at the lake sells soft drinks and sandwiches as well as fishing tackle.

Local 'Y' a friend to busy families, growing children

"Help a family develop; help a child grow."

These are among the central objectives of the Tri-City Area Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA), one of the 18 local agencies partly financed by the United Way campaign launched here last week.

Harold Rudolph, "Y" executive director, comments, "A family of seven children, a working mother, and no father in the home is a real life situation which calls for consideration and understanding."

"For the children, who are all of school age, they have to look after one another until mother comes home from work on some days."

They also miss the father and the direction, love and understanding only a father can give.

"One of the younger boys who is growing physically at a fast pace in height and weight has some difficulty adjusting to what is happening to him, and it affects his relations with others."

"All of the children have lots of energy and a variety of interests, with little money to be considered of each one individually."

The mother came to the YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., and asked if we could help her.

"The 'Y' family plan was explained, and she indicated that she could handle it on monthly payments if it would provide for all of her children to receive swimming lessons, enjoy fun swims, and attend different classes based on the children's interest—swimming, judo, wrestling, gymnastics, dance."

"When we explained how we could accomplish it for her, she was most pleased."

"The staff leadership was notified about the children, and some of them have taken a special interest in the youngsters—to act as a father figure for a boy."

"Other staff members have set a program to aid the boy who is experiencing rapid growth in understanding what is happening to him."

"When the mother reviewed the YMCA schedule, she figured out that she could have her children come to the 'Y' three days of the week after school and be involved in activities they enjoy. She can pick them up when she finished work and is on her way home."

"She exclaimed, 'The 'Y' is not only cheaper than a baby sitter, it is providing growth experiences for the children when they need them the most.'"

"The YMCA has been involved in helping another young boy whose mother has been hard pressed to know what to do for him. Although he is only seven, he is very active, a bundle of energy, who never seems to tire."

"He was disruptive in minor ways in the neighborhood to the point that his mother wanted to put him into some program that would allow him a constructive use of his energy," Rudolph continued.

"She came to us and talked to a staff member who recommended a membership and also outlined activities that would require a lot of his energy."

"He is in a judo program that meets twice a week, a gymnastics program that meets twice a week, a swimming class that meets weekly and a special time when he comes to the gym and runs and plays with a ball until he is tired."

"Then his mother comes to pick him up."

"She told us, 'It is great to find that the YMCA can take a special interest in a boy who needs to find a constructive way to burn up his energy.'"

Rudolph added, "The Tri-City Area YMCA is a United Way agency, and the support that it receives provides a subsidy to every youngster who belongs to the 'Y,' as well as help some youngsters who cannot afford the basic membership."

Honor police in pistol matches

Granite City police officers scored highly both in last week's national pistol competition at Jackson, Miss., and in the weekend Southern Illinois University Police Invitational Pistol Match at Murphysboro.

At the National Rifle Association registered National Police Combat Championships in Mississippi, three officers won awards in their classes.

Patrolman Jim Lengyel earned honors in one round of sharpshooter competition with 220 of a possible 240 points.

Burglars loot storage sheds

Two power lawn mowers and other equipment were stolen from two storage sheds in the 2100 block of Woodlawn Avenue, police were notified Wednesday morning.

The storage sheds of William Cecil Burgess, 2121 Woodlawn Ave., and Marie Davidson, 2113 Woodlawn Ave., were entered after the locks were pried off the doors. Items worth $227 were taken from Burgess' shed, including a mower, lawn edger, electric oven, tyke bike and two gallons of anti-freeze.

Taken from the Davidson shed were a mower and one quart of oil, worth a total of $117.

It was reported a street light in the alley near the shed was released after prior to the burglaries.

Patrolman Glenn Wright was honored in a marksmanship round with 227 of 240 points. Patrolman Kerry Pomeroy earned honors in another marksmanship round with 229 points.

Pomeroy scored the highest among Granite City competitors in the match, scoring 1,360 of a possible 1,500 points.

Lengyel followed with 1,327. Sgt. Kelly Hodges had 1,284. Sgt. Robert shot 1,197 and Lt. Col. George Teller shot 977 points.

A total of 660 officers from throughout the country competed in the national event.

The Granite City team won second place honors in the first annual SIU meet. Lengyel earned second place in the master competition, Wright was third in the master class and Hodges followed in fourth place.

Window broken by rock, girl is cut

Patricia Michaelson, 8, of 2023 Fifth St., Madison, was injured when a rock broke the right rear door window on the car of her father, Roger, at Sixth and McArthur streets, Madison, at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

She was struck by flying glass and suffered a cut to her scalp. She was treated and was released after x-rays were taken.

Madison Rotary to change name

The Madison Rotary Club is taking steps to change its name to the Madison-Venice Rotary Club, according to John Blasingame, president of the Madison organization.

Blasingame reported at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Madison Rotary Club in the Madison Recreation Center that he has written the Venice City Rotary Club for its approval.

According to the rules of Rotary International a club that wants to extend its territorial boundary must contact and obtain permission from the nearest club. After Madison receives the Granite City reply, and it is favorable, formal application for the name change to include the city of Venice will be made.

Rotarian Frank Fijan invited several new members, Thomas Voloski, Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, Jim Kosovsky, Andrew Economy, John Janco and Harry Johnson.

Norman Hall, energy use supervisor for the Illinois Power Co., demonstrated and explained what to do in high-line hazards, such as a fallen power line over an auto, or a line that hits a television antenna, sending heavy charge of electricity to a house.

He emphasized the need to use proper fuses and the danger of using electric appliances as a hair dryer around water.

Mrs. Whitaker in art show at Kiel

Mrs. Cleve Whitaker, a Granite City artist, is chairman of an art show which opened this week in the dining room area at Kiel Auditorium, St. Louis.

The first of four shows scheduled during the 1974-75 season by the Independent Arts of Artists of St. Louis, the exhibition will continue through Dec. 5.

Mrs. Whitaker, who has two oils in the display, said a total of 50 works is being exhibited. The paintings may be viewed during the hours the auditorium is open to the public, the GC artist said.

Charm, modeling course for girls

A modeling and charm school for girls in junior and senior high school will be offered by the Granite City Park District beginning Tuesday at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

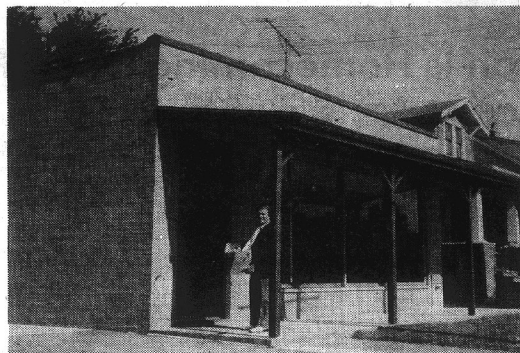

The series is new this year to the district's fall-winter activity schedule and will be taught by a former professional model.

Classes will take place each Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Participants will be instructed in poise, application of make-up, types and styles of clothing and exercises. Advanced registration is required at the Wilson Park office.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Betty Ann Warfield, 40, of 22 Devon Hill Lane, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 5:35 p.m. Tuesday suffering contusions of the chin and bruises to both knees. Mrs. Warfield was injured when the car she was driving and one driven by Jack E. Thomas 28, of 1645 Second St., Madison, collided in the 200 block of Madison Avenue.

Hilltoppers honor members

Mrs. Ida Zimmerman and Mrs. Rea Buehne were honored on their birthdays Tuesday by members of the Hilltoppers Club at St. John United Church of Christ.

The meeting opened with songs and a prayer offered by the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey. Carl Huenken, president, welcomed the 37 members and introduced three guests, Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith of Florida and Mrs. Viola Edwards of Granite City.

Members agreed to donate $1 a month per member to the Senior Citizen Center to help defray expenses. Huenken and Mrs. Laura Flack donated coffee to the club and the latter also contributed a box of greeting cards.

The Rev. Surbey spoke on the present times and circumstances relating to retirees. Mrs. Zimmerman served as chairman of the business committee, which included Mrs. Buehne and Mrs. Georgia Surbey. They served cake and coffee and used blue and white table appointments.

Each member received a blue china slipper as a favor and a floral centerpiece, donated by Willis Florist, was given as a prize in the games period.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 12.

Sentenced to 8 to 30 years

Howard Elston, 52, Springfield, of two men who allegedly overpowered a Sangamon County sheriff's deputy near Collinsville June 25, was sentenced to serve eight to 30 years at Menard State Penitentiary yesterday by Chief Criminal Judge John Gitchoff in Madison County Circuit Court.

Elston pleaded guilty last month to charges of escape and armed robbery, stemming from the overpowering of the deputy and the terrorizing of a rural Collinsville woman in her home June 25.

Gitchoff sentenced him to eight to 30 years on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

Elston and Gary Daily, 23, Springfield, were being transported from Springfield to Menard at Chester when the men allegedly started a fire in the rear seat of the squad car and as the deputy attempted to put out the fire, they overpowered him and stole his revolver.

They drove with the deputy around the southeast portion of the county and stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Stewart, Rural Route One, Box 1234, Collinsville.

When Mrs. Margaret Stewart

answered the door, they allegedly handcuffed her and the deputy together to an arm chair, ransacked the home and stole some cash, a pistol and the keys to the Stewart auto. They pulled out the telephone lines to the home and left in the stolen car.

Elston was captured two days later hiding in the Bend Road fire station near Horseshoe Lake, still wearing his prisoner's clothing.

Elston was being transported from Springfield to Menard to serve a life sentence for kidnapping and robbery when the escape occurred.

Terri Moran is Homecoming Queen

Miss Terri Moran, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Moran, 2439 Washington Ave., was crowned last evening as 1974 Homecoming Queen at Granite City High School South before a capacity crowd in the South High Auditorium.

Chosen as her escort was Woody Halbrook, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halbrook, 3272 Edgewood Ave.

Miss Moran, a Warrior cheerleader and Student Council member, is the general studies course at South High. Halbrook, a wrestler on the varsity squad, also portrays the Warrior Indian, South High's traditional mascot.

The new Homecoming Queen received her crown of office from Miss Melanie Asadorian, the 1974 May Queen. She also was presented a bouquet of white mums surrounding a yellow nosegay.

The crowning sequence will be repeated following tonight's performance of the Homecoming play, "Family Portrait," at 7:30 p.m. The play costs $1 per person and no seats are being reserved.

Presented by the South High Speech Department, under the direction of Richard King, speech director, the Homecoming production will be the last three years in the life of Jesus and the effect of His presence, influence and activities on the lives of His family, revealed in terms of an ordinary family which acts and speaks in the language style of today.

Cast members showed excellent execution in last night's opening performance, carrying off the serious theme very well and receiving a standing ovation from the audience.

Comprising the Homecoming Court are Paula Williams, Beth Squires, Laura Robertson, Sandy Parks, Elaine Dowdy, Kathy Cross, Rhonda Clonko, Cindy Cagle and Shelly Boyd, attendants; and escorts, Mark Windsor, Greg Taylor, Bob Shipley, Tom Schooley, Paul Mushill, Don Dotzauer, Steve Donedea, Kirk Champion and Craig Bailey.

Homecoming Week activities continue Friday with a parade starting at 10 a.m. at the Memorial Gymnasium at 2:30 p.m.

Parade units, representing most of the social and academic organizations at the high school, have been organized and directed by the South High Student Council. Included will be a float holding musicians from the South High Band, it was learned.

Conforming to its 1974 theme — "Keep South Beautiful — Can the Kahoks?" — the parade's motorcade units will pass in review before most school buildings in Granite City, the organizers reported. The parade will be evaluated by a panel of judges and the top three entries will receive awards. Miss Moran, whose float will be part of the parade's cavalcade of entries, also will be presented to spectators at Friday night's Homecoming football game when the Warrior gridders will host traditional rival — the Collinsville Kahoks at 8 p.m.

Featured at half-time will be production numbers by the Granite City High School South Band under the direction of Joe Owens.

Also circling the football area at the game's midway point will be the top parade units led by the Homecoming Queen in an open convertible.

The Homecoming dance will follow the gridiron contest in the South High cafeteria to conclude the week's busy schedule of events.

Miss Mary Blackburn and Miss Mary Luther, widely known retired faculty members from Granite City School, the organizers reported, will be the night's Homecoming play performance.

Beekeeping May Become Full-Time Hobby for SIU Foundation Director

Charles Schweizer, executive director of the Southern Illinois University Foundation at Edwardsville, says he has always enjoyed reading about bees.

"Why not have my own beehive, I asked myself three years ago," the retired U.S. Army colonel said. "I'm trying to develop this interest in bees into a full-time hobby. When I go into second retirement, I don't want to rust away. I want to shatter the myth that you can't teach an old dog new tricks."

Schweizer started with a hive he painted white. The following year, his wife Eleanor decided to share her husband's hobby. She likes blue, so her hive was painted blue. A year ago, they started "our" hive and it seemed

BEE AT WORK—Charles Schweizer, executive director of the Southern Illinois University Foundation at Edwardsville, whose hobby is beekeeping, checks the production activities of some of the workers in one of his hives.

BEE SMOKER—Charles Schweizer, who keeps bees as a hobby, prepares smoking apparatus which he uses when he "invades" his bee hives. According to Schweizer, smoke is the best way to approach bees without harming them. Schweizer is executive director of the Southern Illinois University Foundation at Edwardsville.

"Bees can regulate the sex," he said. "When the queen lays eggs in the spring, the bees feed certain of the larva (worm) with a particular kind of food which makes that be a male. When the queen gets old or the hive is crowded, a special type cell is constructed. That larva is fed what is called royal jelly, and it becomes a queen bee. This new queen replaces the old. If the hive is crowded, the old queen takes a number of her followers and flies to a new area; this is called swarming. The new queen bee just takes it away in their own jars under their own label."

"OUR" BEES—Mrs. Charles Schweizer shares her husband's interest in beekeeping. He started the hobby with a white painted hive. The following year, she started a blue one. Now, they have a "our" hive which they painted red. Schweizer, a retired U.S. Army colonel, is executive director of the Southern Illinois University Foundation at Edwardsville.

Contributions are still being accepted at the Tri-City Chapter, American Red Cross, 1411 Twenty-First St., Granite City 62040, for Honduras hurricane victim relief.

The major storm disaster assistance program, in which many organizations are participating, is being coordinated by the Red Cross in Honduras. Mrs. Meehan commented, "Any money contributed will go totally to aid the hurricane victims; the overhead expense of this type of operation has already been budgeted."

Participants in the joint program include the Catholic Relief Service, Salvation Army, Care, Red Cross and the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Food, cooking utensils, clothes, medical supplies and other needed materials are going to Honduras, where thousands of fatalities occurred and there was widespread devastation.

10 on trial in rail yard thefts

A federal jury in Alton began hearing testimony Monday in the trial of 10 of 28 men indicted in February in connection with the thefts of items valued at more than $1.7 million from railroad cars in the Madison yards between 1971 and 1973.

Thefts included ammunition, auto tires, liquor and cigarettes, air conditioners, garbage disposals, auto batteries, televisions, copper and other items.

Of nine Quad-City area men indicted in February, five have pleaded guilty and are among nine who will be tried later. None are involved in the present trial.

U.S. District Judge Robert D. Morgan has reserved about two and one-half weeks for the trial. U.S. District Attorney Donald B. Mackay and Assistant U.S. Attorney Max Goodwin have indicated they intend to call many as 105 witnesses, if necessary.

In testimony yesterday, Joel H. Koen of Edwardsville, former Terminal Railroad Association policeman, refused to answer questions about the grounds of possible self-incrimination until Mackay proposed granting him immunity for his testimony. Judge Morgan accepted the immunity petition.

Koen told the jury he had and as a lookout for other Terminal employees while they looted boxes of cigarettes and tires. He alleged that he first participated in the thefts by five Terminal Railroad employees.

He named David M. Nordstrom, 32, Wood River, William T. Ryan, 33, Collinsville, Donald R. Carlyle, 27, Collinsville, Thomas "Punchy" Reyes, 50, Belleville, and Glenn A. Frederick, Caseyville.

Koen said Nordstrom, then a yard clerk, first had approached him in the fall of 1971 and the two of them stole two cars of wine from the yard.

About 10 days later, Koen was paid $100 by Nordstrom for not patrolling one area of the rail yards for an hour. He said Nordstrom told him cigarettes had been taken during his absence, Koen alleged.

He said he also was a lookout as Ryan and Carlyle stole tires from a boxcar and he subsequently was paid $100 by a Madison tavern. He served as lookout twice in the summer of 1972 during similar thefts, he alleged.

Also testifying yesterday was Ronald D. Ridgeway, who was released in August from a federal prison after serving a sentence for an ammunition theft conviction.

Ridgeway told the jury he participated in thefts of 49 cases of cigarettes in May of 1972. The cigarettes were sold for $3,700, of which he received $825.

Two Quad-City men testified yesterday. Both have pleaded guilty to charges related to the rail thefts and are awaiting sentencing.

Gary Rainwater, 41, of the 2400 block of Wilson Ave., said he was a former Terminal Railroad yardmaster and served as lookout in a tower during the thefts of tires, and Larry Burns, 28, of the 5000 block of Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, said that television sets worth $500 and believed stolen from boxcars, were sold for $250 each in a tavern near the rail yards. Others on trial are Willie Albert Mize, 41, Collinsville, William B. Watts, 26, Cahokia, Bernard Reid, 41, Belleville, Teddy Crouch, 39, Cahokia, and William Evans, 25, O'Fallon.

Quad-City men who have pleaded or been found guilty of related charges are Vernon Brooks, 46, of the 2800 block of 22nd St., sentenced to 10 years for illegal sale of firearms; Lester J. Sherly Jr., 37, of the 2000 block of East 24th St., serving three years probation for illegal sale of a pistol; Clarence Hand of the 1900 block of Rhodes St., Madison, serving up to eight years for conspiracy, dealing in liquor without paying the tax and making false statements to a grand jury; Eddie Wilkinson of the 2000 block of Missouri Ave., serving two years probation for making false statements to a grand jury, and Rainwater and Burns.

A Madison police officer was given a tetanus shot, treated for a wound to the right index finger and released Wednesday after breaking up a fight at 4 p.m. at Fourth Street and Madison Avenue.

Jim Andrew Parrott, 37, of 324 Madison Ave., was charged with battery following an alleged fight with another person. He was taken into custody by Patrolman William Steiner.

Others arrested were Frances Hazel Schneider, 26, who told police she lived at 10th and Iowa streets, charged with battery and Harold Vernon Ladd, 24, of 923 Iowa St., Madison, charged with disorderly conduct and carrying a dangerous weapon.

News notes

House and Senate conferees voted Monday to end the auto interlock system which prevents a car from being started until seatbelts are fastened. An anti-theft buzzer will be retained, but the continuous buzzer now in use in most late-model cars will be dropped.

The Transportation Secretary is to be empowered to order future installation of passive-restraint safety devices, such as air bags, subject to rejection within 60 days by a majority of both houses.

The Senate on Tuesday approved 60-40 a compromise plan under which the Democratic and Republican Presidential candidates will get $20 million each in taxpayer funds to conduct their 1976 campaigns. House action is expected today.

Madison County Treasurer George Musso, currently seeking re-election, will be honored at a reception at the SIUE University Center, 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 20, sponsored by employees of his office.

Gov. Daniel Walker Tuesday night assailed President Gerald Ford's proposal for a five per cent tax surcharge on middle-income families. Speaking at an annual fund dinner for St. Clair County Board Chairman Francis Touchette, held in Belleville, Walker said the proposal is directed at those who can least afford to pay more taxes.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. Merton, named Tuesday to coordinate national energy conservation efforts, said he will concentrate on increasing domestic production of oil, natural gas and coal.

About 120 persons are participating in a tour of the local port area and the Chain of Rocks Canal and Mississippi River this afternoon under arrangements by the Tri-City Regional Port District, in cooperation with the St. Louis District of the Army Corps of Engineers. Col. T. R. Peterson, district engineer, will explain the proposed construction of a new Alton area dam and locks.

Madison County will receive nearly $900 to create 178 public service jobs for the unemployed under a $350 million U.S. Labor Department allocation intended to create 73,000 jobs in the U.S. The goal is transitional public service jobs later leading to permanent positions in schools, hospitals, public works, recreation, libraries, law enforcement and firefighting. Federal funding is limited to two years.

The U.S. Court of Appeals this week set aside a 72 per cent increase for new natural gas approved earlier by the Federal Power Commission.

AUTO-TRUCK ACCIDENT
Mrs. Jan Shores Christopher, 20, of Wood River, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital suffering cuts to the left side of head, and pain to the neck at 8:35 a.m. Monday following an auto-truck accident. The auto, driven by Mrs. Christopher, collided with a truck driven by Robert Allen of East St. Louis on Route 203, one-quarter mile north of I-70.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL
Mrs. Della Ford, 51, of 2114 E. Granite, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 4:30 p.m. Monday after her mouth was struck in an auto accident. She was released following treatment.

STEAR WALLETS, $176
The wallet of Arthur Renham, 2128 Richmond Ave., was stolen in the Roseman Paint Store, 2106 Delmar Ave., while Roseman was working. It was reported at 5:40 p.m. Tuesday. He said he threw his coat over some boxes and when he put it on later, he found his wallet had been taken. It contained about $176, several credit cards and personal papers.

SERVICES FRIDAY
Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at a Belleville funeral home for Miss Minerva E. Haas, 49, of Belleville, a sister of Mrs. Violet Mulhires, 49, of Granite City. Miss Haas died Wednesday at St. Paul Home in Belleville. She also leaves a brother and another sister.

Storm victims aided through Red Cross

Contributions are still being accepted at the Tri-City Chapter, American Red Cross, 1411 Twenty-First St., Granite City 62040, for Honduras hurricane victim relief.

The major storm disaster assistance program, in which many organizations are participating, is being coordinated by the Red Cross in Honduras. Mrs. Meehan commented, "Any money contributed will go totally to aid the hurricane victims; the overhead expense of this type of operation has already been budgeted."

Participants in the joint program include the Catholic Relief Service, Salvation Army, Care, Red Cross and the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Food, cooking utensils, clothes, medical supplies and other needed materials are going to Honduras, where thousands of fatalities occurred and there was widespread devastation.

HURT IN ACCIDENT
Mike Siegel, 17, Collinsville, struck his head on the windshield of his auto in an auto accident Monday and was brought to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated for cuts to his face and an injury to his right knee. X-rays were taken and he was released.

STEAL RECORDINGS
Seventeen record albums were stolen from the home of von Griffin, 2440 Center St., was reported at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday. Entry was believed gained through an unlocked front door.

FOR THE PARK now are owned by the state with 63 parcels yet to be acquired. The Department of Conservation hopes to purchase 13 parcels in the upcoming fiscal year, 40 the next year and 10 the last year of the plan, Vadalabene revealed.

the Granite City area itself, the engineer said.

State awareness of these factors has resulted in a "green light" not only for interceptor lines but for collector sewers, which will extend down alleys to permit convenient laparoscopic residents and industries, Judeau said.

The plan that has been chosen from among three original alternatives avoids most disruption of already built-up areas.

The interceptors will connect the port-river canal area with the Highway 111 vicinity near the Kaseberg farm, and also the Mitchell area and the Highway 111 area near Interstate 270 and Bypass 66, the club was told.

Judeau forecast a major surge of construction activity along I-270 and also in Mitchell, Pontoon Beach and other areas hampered until now by lack of sanitary sewers.

Care will be taken to situate the lines above the water table, he said, adding that the system is to be rigidly policed to avoid intrusion by stormwater runoff.

The speaker was introduced by Christ Pashoff, Venice Township supervisor. Rotary Vice President Bill H. Terrell presided.

Will treasurer campaign overshadow Senate race?

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

It is indicative of the current political climate in Illinois that the race for a relatively minor office is stirring the most interest in the 1974 political campaign.

Beneath the Statehouse Dome there is the growing feeling that the only statewide contest providing any fun at all is that matching Republican challenger Harry Page of Springfield and Democratic incumbent state Treasurer Alan J. Dixon of Belleville.

The year's main event, the U. S. Senate race between Democratic incumbent Adlai E. Stevenson, Chicago, and Republican George Burditt, LaGrange, has been about as exciting and suspenseful as the annual Notre Dame-Northwestern football game, some contend. All anybody is interested in is the final score, since the outcome is not in doubt.

But the treasurer's race is a different matter. Although very few expect Page to beat Dixon in what looks like an overwhelming Democratic year, there is some feeling that the race may turn out a lot closer than originally anticipated.

There are some at the Capitol who give Page a long-shot chance at winning.

The basic reasoning is that the voters are "turned off" at politicians in general and incumbents in particular, and are also inclined to split their tickets.

In this case, with most voters assumed to be marking for Stevenson over Burditt, there is, perhaps, some reason to speculate that they might balance their voting by going

Dixon himself is privately as well as publicly confident of victory. But what is probably bothering him is he may run so far behind Stevenson that chances for a future shot at a higher office, such as governor or U. S. senator, may be lost.

Page has already exploited this situation by publicly charging that Dixon is not interested in the treasurer's office as such, but hopes to make it a stepping stone to better things.

This is no doubt true and Dixon need not apologize for it. The treasurer's office has in fact been a traditional stepping stone up the Illinois political ladder.

William G. Stratton, of Morris, who was elected treasurer in 1950, promptly announced he would run for governor two years later. He did and won.

Stevenson, who was elected treasurer in 1966, used the office as a launching pad for his successful bid for the U. S. Senate in 1970.

If Page should upset Dixon, he would automatically figure in speculation as a possible GOP candidate for governor in 1976.

What is intriguing about the current treasurer's race is Page's apparent knack of stirring up the nervous Dixon. Page has been consistently able to provoke Dixon into public exchanges that achieve for Page some much-needed publicity. A new exchange concerning Dixon's investment policies is a good example.

Beneath the Statehouse Dome there is the belief that Dixon is over-reacting to Page's barbs and would be wise to ignore them.

But Dixon throughout his government career as a member of the House and later the Senate has always been sensitive to criticism and his style has consistently been to reply to it directly head-on.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

All of which is commendable from a legislative viewpoint, but is it good politics?

This is already recognized as one of the strangest years in the history of Illinois politics. With this in mind, it is probably appropriate that the race for state treasurer should overshadow the race for U. S. senator. In any case, that's about the way it is.

Knights to observe Columbus Day here

Columbus Day Oct. 14 will be observed Sunday, Oct. 13, by Tri-Cities Council 1068, Knights of Columbus, with a corporate Mass and communion at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Elizabethtown.

Msgr. L. J. Mattingly, pastor of the church and chaplain of Council 1068, will lead the service, Dr. J. R. Vasiloff, Knights of Columbus grand knight, has announced.

Forty-four candidates received formation knighthood second and third degrees in ceremonies early this week at the KC hall. The candidates were from Edwardsville, Highland, Maryville-Troy and the local community.

The degree staff was headed by Anthony Schmitt of Belleville.

Other dignitaries introduced by Dr. Vasiloff included District Deputy Bill Balke of Highland, Grand Knight Walter Lumber of Highland, Grand Knight Sullivan of Edwardsville and Grand Knight Bill Thomas of Maryville-Troy.

Dr. Bellott, state membership director from Streator, spoke on state goals and achievements. A hundred members witnessed the degree ceremonies, and a dinner followed.

Candidates from Council 1068 were John Barnett, Tony Bellue, Joseph Brunch, Eugene Coerver, Greg Czornog, Steve Kromraj, Ronald Luebben, Joseph Molnar and John Ros.

VHS elects officers

Flower give-away Saturday at park

The free flower and plant give-away program sponsored each fall by the Granite City Park District will take place Saturday, starting at 8 a.m., at the Wilson Park gardens.

Persons taking advantage of the district's offer are asked to obtain the plants from the park gardeners and not remove the flowers from the ground themselves.

Harold Brown, park superintendent, pointed out that in past years some persons have taken plants and damaged others which were not scheduled for distribution.

None of the perennials, such as mums and roses, will be available, Brown stressed.

Varieties to be given away include begonias, geraniums, marigolds, zenias, dusty miller, red salvia, periwinkle, coleus, dahlias, verbena, pink magic petunias and lantanas.

Post office improvements

The Edgemont Construction Company of East St. Louis has been awarded a $16,000 contract for general improvements at the Madison Post Office, it was announced today by William Clinton, postmaster.

The improvements include a new roof and a new front approach from the sidewalk to the steps.

708 board disagrees on budget items

Disagreements were common, but the Madison County Mental Health (708) Board managed to hammer out a new budget Monday night.

The new document, which has yet to be approved by the Madison County Board, calls for expenditures of $677,000 in the next fiscal year which begins Dec. 1. The total is nearly $100,000 higher than last year's budget.

After lengthy debates on several items, the board managed to trim more than $90,000 from the original tentative document, including elimination of a $15,000 plan to hire a coordinator.

The coordinator post has been vacant since David Buchheim was dismissed, or his post dissolved, in September 1971.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Oct. 10, 1974 Page 12

Board member Ralph Yemm contended Monday night that all 708 programs were operated on contractual agreements and there was no need for a coordinator.

The $15,000 would have been only for his salary. Mileage and other expenses would have increased that figure, he argued.

Yemm's talk was followed directly by one from Edwin F. Reiske of Granite City, a board member, who supported Yemm's feelings on the issue.

Chairman Wayne Bridgewater, who had strongly supported restoring the coordinator post, then dropped the coordinator appropriation without comment.

Yemm also was among those who opposed an appropriation of about $6,100 for a clerk-typist, but the board voted 4-3 to create and fill the post in the upcoming fiscal year.

Reiske, Yemm and Jim Delmuntz of Granite City voted against the proposal.

The board left untouched a $138,842 appropriation to operate the Quad-City Mental Health Clinic, an increase of about $15,000 over the present budget.

A split developed over a proposal to give $19,500 to Project Alter, an Alton-based program which deals with trying to prevent juvenile delinquency.

Reiske argued that the Alton program was similar to the Coordinated Youth program in Granite City and that if the board is going to assist Alter, it also should appropriate funds for Coordinated Youth.

Yemm disagreed, saying Coordinated Youth receives assistance from the United Way campaign but Project Alter was turned down by the United Way in Alton as being too new to evaluate. It has not been in existence one year.

Yemm said if the Alton United Way agrees in the future to assist Project Alter, the 708 Board will withdraw its support. The appropriation passed 4-3.

The board agreed to give the Organization for the Advancement of the Handicapped (OATH) $54,600, subject to approval by the Madison County State's Attorney's Office.

The OATH group is remodeling a building at 612 State Street in Madison which it intends to lease to Specialized Services for a handicapped work-training program. OATH is a non-profit organization.

Handicapped from this area presently are being housed in a Collinsville sheltered workshop for work-training experience since the program's former headquarters in the 2000 block of Madison Avenue was closed.

The legality of appropriating the money to OATH was questioned by Yemm, who said he feels giving tax money to OATH to redecorate the building, which then is to be leased with tax money is "like using tax money twice for the same thing."

He explained he is very much in favor of the program and hopes the legal problems can be overcome. The money is to be held in escrow until a decision is reached.

For the first time, 708 funds will assist the Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency. Board members stipulated that the $20,000 appropriation is to be used only for a detoxification center for alcoholics.

The Alton Mental Health Clinic was given $129,098, about $19,000 more than next year, while the budget for Specialized Services was set at $158,310, slightly below the budget now in effect.

The Madison County

Association for Retarded Citizens program was allocated $54,000, twice last year's appropriation. The program is to be expanded to assist adults as well as children. It recently moved from Edwardsville to Alton.

The budget for AID, Inc., Collinsville, was doubled, from $3,000 to $6,000. The program coordinates drug rehabilitation programs and projects.

The remaining $21,378 is earmarked for numerous other programs and expenses.

The Madison County Board is expected to give the proposed budget; careful study before approving it, possibly with numerous revisions.

Stevenson, Walker, Price are Demo dinner speakers

U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, Illinois Gov. Dan Walker and Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) will be speakers at the tenth annual John F. Kennedy Champagne dinner Sunday in Meridian Hall of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Sen. Sam Ervin, chairman of the U.S. Senate Watergate investigation, also has been sought as a speaker at the memorial dinner but confirmation of his attendance had not yet been received today, according to Sam Wolf, secretary of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee which has sponsored the $25-per-plate dinner for the past ten years.

County Democratic candidates and candidates for state offices are expected to attend the event which will open with a cocktail hour at 4:30 p.m. and dinner at 6, followed by dancing and political talks.

Thanks to a legal ruling, champagne, always a feature of the dinner program, will be served as usual. While university spokesman said a week ago that drinking is prohibited in Meridian Hall and elsewhere on the campus, a legal interpretation held that liquor could be served as long as it is furnished by the sponsoring organization and is not offered for sale.

Drinks at the Democratic-sponsored dinner traditionally have been served without charge to those who pay the $25 ticket charge.

Proceeds of the event are used to aid the campaigns of county candidates on the Democratic party ticket.

Mrs. Robinson, 83, dies

Mrs. Anna Robinson, 83, of 2932 Warren Ave., became ill at home and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was pronounced dead upon arrival at 12:10 p.m. Tuesday. She had been in ill health for five years. There will be an inquest.

Born in Douglas County, Mo., Mrs. Robinson resided in this area 49 years.

Her husband, Jesse Robinson, preceded her in death.

Survivors include four sons,

Leroy Curtis and Marion Curtis, both of Detroit, Mich.; Vernon Curtis of St. Louis and Lloyd Curtis of St. Petersburg, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. Luella Prater of Louisville, Tex., and Mrs. Goldie Hozan of Granite City; one sister, Mrs. Florie Nichols of Granite City; a brother, Sam Parker of Enid, Okla.; 20 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Humphreys dies here

Mrs. Clara Belle Humphreys, 73, of 2237 Bryan Ave., died at 10:03 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was a patient for two days.

Born in Jackson, Tenn., she resided in Granite City 44 years.

Mrs. Humphreys was a member of the Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Robert Humphreys Sr.; two sons, Robert Humphreys Jr. of Granite City and George Humphreys of St. Louis; one brother, Frank Flew and three sisters, Mrs. Frances Schofield, Mrs. Annie Dempsey and Mrs. Willie Mae Travis, all of Jackson, Tenn., and seven grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Registration now for Skate School

Children wishing to attend the Skate School at Wilson Park ice rink may register at anytime during the regular rink hours.

Classes will be held on Saturdays from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and will last for six weeks, including five weeks of instruction and one week of testing.

Fees for the lessons are $3 for residents of the Granite City and Park districts with ID cards and $6 for non-residents.

Sessions will be given for beginning skaters through freestyle. Further information may be obtained by calling the rink, at 877-2549.

Government in Medicine: The Future

By Prof. Henry Baich

(Dr. Baich is associate professor of applied behavioral sciences with the School of Dental Medicine of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He is currently researching the attitudes of college students toward dentistry. His opinions are his own, and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the faculty or administrators of SIUE.)

The people of the United States, through their government, are entering more and more into the business of medicine. The provision of medicine through the government is not new; we have provided medical facilities to the armed forces, which the President and members of Congress share, and we now provide government-sponsored medicine for many of the poor and aged through Medicare and Medicaid.

The next step is to include the middle class. Middle-class families have some money, but not enough to cover the large expenses of some kinds of illness. Middle-class families have been driven to poverty, and even bankruptcy, because their medical expenses were larger than the amount covered by their medical insurance. In addition, families have lost their homes and other assets. Occasionally, healthy members of families are forced to retire early in order to care for others who are ill.

Less than 50 per cent of the population has medical coverage for a long illness, and even ordinary medical expenses have gone up. In a five year period, the average cost of a visit to the doctor has gone up by about 80 per cent. There are other areas of concern besides the dollar cost of the business of medicine. The poor and elderly should be provided with their medicine in a dignified way. Something must be done about providing medical service to small communities remote from cities.

We must find ways of having less costly medical service and we must be able to assure ourselves that we are getting good service for our money. One way of reducing the cost of medicine is by preventive medicine; that is, giving medical service to people so we decrease their chance of becoming ill.

Several bills have been passed by the Congress and signed by former President Nixon that would help provide cheaper medical service, make preventive medicine more common, and monitor the services being provided. These bills establish government aid for Health Maintenance Organizations (HMO's) and Professional Standard Review Organizations (PSRO's).

The HMO's consist of groups of doctors who offer fairly complete health services for their members. Membership fees in some cases are paid directly to HMO's, and to insurance companies in others. The HMO's can be organized in rural communities, and it is hoped they will provide cheaper services by encouraging preventive medicine.

The PSRO's are intended to cut costs of Medicare and Medicaid by monitoring the charges physicians place on their services. They are considered controversial by many physicians because, they claim, doctors will be discouraged from practicing the best medicine they know how.

But new health care measures such as Medicare and Medicaid have more than doubled the annual rate of increase of hospital costs. Unless the increase of costs is checked, government medical plans will not help the public.

A large number of bills are being considered in the Congress which would provide either private medical insurance or government medical service. Of these bills, only two are important now. One was endorsed by ex-President Nixon and the other by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Rep. Wilbur Mills.

Ex-President Nixon endorsed a bill by which private insurance would be guaranteed to all full-time workers through their jobs. The workers would have to pay for small medical expenses themselves, but the insurance would take care of large medical expenses.

Those who are unemployed, self-employed, or employed part-time would get government help in paying for their insurance. Insurance for the poor would be paid for by the government.

The Kennedy-Mills bill is similar to the Nixon bill in the benefits it provides. It differs in the way the insurance premiums would be collected, through an increase in Social Security taxes. The money would then be paid to private insurance companies.

We can look forward to a future in which we pay medical expenses with some help from the government. Many of us will belong to group medical organizations. The charges for medical services will be reviewed by some public body. In the future, we will find a practical method to support the idea that everyone is entitled to good health.

Two injured in traffic mishap

Two persons were injured when the auto of Miss Denise Dickerson, 17, Rural Route One, Box 414, struck the parked car of Orville Meyer, 1330 Clark Ave., in front of Meyer's home at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Miss Dickerson, and a passenger, Angela Dickerson, 13, of the same address, were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where the driver was admitted with pain to the left side of her abdomen.

Angela Dickerson suffered a contusion to her head, an abrasion to her right side and an injury to her right hand. X-rays were taken and she was released.

Miniature golf winners named

Winners of a miniature golf tournament for youth sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees, were announced this morning by Harry Cavness, project chairman.

Competition was divided into three age groups with about 35 contestants playing the course at Fundland.

Trophies were presented to the first through third place finishers, including: Six to 9 years - Rene Grant, first; Monte Kessler, second; and John Jones, third.

Ten to 12 years - John Seel, first; Kenny Myracle, second; and Glenn Edwards, third.

Thirteen to 16 years - Frank Orris, first; Billy Tipton, second; and Tim Luehmman, third.

Temple's now table service

Smorgasbord serving has been discontinued at Temple's, 1535 Johnson Road, and the restaurant is now converted into full table service, according to Herbert Temple.

Temple announced that table service will be available from 11 a.m. until closing and the menu will feature special plate lunches in addition to Mexican foods, pizza and steaks.

JEWELRY, RADIOS TAKEN

An undetermined quantity of jewelry and two digital clocks were stolen during a burglary at the home of Tom Ryan, 2211 Edison Ave., reported at 7:06 p.m. Wednesday. Entry was believed gained through an unlocked basement door and the upstairs was entered through a bathroom door.

Let's Get Back to Essentials

By Prof. Keith St. Onge

(Dr. St. Onge is chairman of the department of speech and theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. An expanded version of this essay appeared recently in Change magazine. Dr. St. Onge's opinions are his own and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the faculty or administrators of SIUE.)

It has now been about two decades since higher education went justin' after strange gods. The list is long: rampant growth, pointless innovation, naive relevance, political militancy, institutional profligacy, administrative consolidation, Federal grants, academic markets, student activism, teacher evaluation and now affirmative action.

Scattered across the nation's landscape were the modest and shaded enclaves of colleges and universities, mostly older edifices of considerable charm, peopled by young and older scholars. The bright and motivated, the affluent and virtually indigent, the privileged and underprivileged, by one means or another joined in the intellectual adventure. Through public or private institutions they knew that their talents and efforts and the instructors who guided them were tested against a single standard: intellectual merit.

Faculty were hired on merit, not quotas; students survived through academic effort, not action. Nothing was perfect. Frustrations, if real, were modest. Students knew who they were and what they were doing. They were educated for their own sake, not targeted for a specific market. Students and faculty, rightly or wrongly, felt they had some influence over their own destinies.

As enrollment declines, the temptation is to expand the periphery at the expense of the liberal arts core. It is a hard time to talk of high or higher academic standards, of persuading students, faculty and administration that traditional education is now more essential than ever, and that the turbulence of the last two decades in higher education was not exclusively or even primarily of higher education's creation, but the consequence of being pressured to serve too many loose ends. Too many of us tacitly concurred that colleges were knowledge factories designed to fabricate products for every transient crisis and every chronic illness felt by the body politic. All problems could be conveyed to the specialist.

Higher education must now subside to its traditional channels because it must appeal once again to younger and older scholars, and to the complex of drives and inhibitions imposed externally, and freely re-dedicate itself to no other end than academic merit.

Professional and technical schools, perhaps more financially resilient in the current climate, should make a unified effort to rehabilitate and reintegrate the liberal arts and return campuses to the happier days of civility and intellectual enterprise. The present course, if pursued, will make higher education entirely peripheral and, having no central core or unity, it will break up into local warring constituencies. There will then be nothing universal in universities and nothing collegiate in colleges.

Teachers, superboards and administrators should cease to perceive of higher education as another commodity market and should also cease to fund any well meant, untested novelty at the expense of traditional, established studies.

Administrators should abandon simplistic credit hour formulae for figuring what higher education is worth. If it truly is higher education, it is a priceless experience at bargain rates for those eligible and interested.

Faculties obsessed with grantmanship and conspicuous consumption with a pretence to student needs and little pertinence to disinterested scholarship should return to their proper contractual obligations.

Students excessively preoccupied with teacher evaluation should expend a higher proportion of their considerable talents and energies in legitimate pursuits of scholarship.

Affirmative action should make a forthright commitment to the merit system and repudiate

KROGER SLASHES

RAINBOW POLICY FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE AND PERSONAL SATISFACTION

We do all in our power to have all our advertised specials on our shelves when you shop for them. Sometimes, due to conditions beyond our control we can sell out of an advertised special. If this should happen to you, one of the store staffs for a Rain Check which entitles you to the same advertised special at the same special price anytime within 2 weeks.

KROGER GLADLY WELCOMES FEDERAL FOOD STAMP CERTIFICATES

Kroger is happy to redeem your Federal Food Stamps in Cans and Cereals authorized by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. If you need assistance to use your stamps, please see your Kroger Store Manager. He will be happy to help you.

KROGER FREEZES PRICES

No price increase on over 500 items for the next 60 days

We're as tired of rising food costs as you are. When we pay more, we have to charge more. So, we have bought up enough of over 500 items (many of them reflect manufacturers allowances), that we can promise not to raise these prices before November 28th, 1974.

We will do our best to keep all of our prices down of course, so many other prices will stay down, too, but these you can definitely count on. Look for the blue "KROGER PRICE FREEZE" shelf markers on the items at your near-by Kroger food store and start saving today.

117 at GC Steel Women's 'Boss Night'

The annual "Bosses Night" dinner of the Granite City Steel Women's Association held Tuesday evening attracted 117 members and their guests. The event took place in the GCS General Office Building cafeteria.

A Robert E. Lee Showboat theme was reflected in the dinner appointments and was carried into the entertainment portion of the evening.

Autumn flowers arranged around globe encased candles centered the head table. The guest tables were covered with white cloths detailed with showboat illustrations and illuminated with hurricane lamps containing candles.

Place mats were menus from the Robert E. Lee Restaurant on the St. Louis Riverfront, and decorative matchboxes from the same showboat facility were given as favors.

Mrs. Peggy Solberger, president, introduced the guests and new members. Bosses present, representing several departments at Granite City Steel, included: James L. Eisenbeis and Jack J. Fahl, Production Control; G. W. Humphrey, Purchasing; George Robb and Tom Steinger, Traffic; Ralph Christman, Analytical;

J. G. Despo and Robert Gobert, Engineering; Charles Rodell, Sales; Joe Zabricki and Wayne Robinson, Management Services; Derwood Bono, Financial; and Joe Schall, Mike Maklin, Gene Hudson, L. C. Parker, Stan Garst and J. A. McCreary, Industrial Relations.

Norman Garret, portraying Colonel Jasper of the St. Louis showboat, served as master of ceremonies for a program of musical entertainment and skits furnished by Granite City Steel employees.

The dinner was arranged by Wanda MacDonough chairman, Ruth Thorsberry and Ramona

Madison Senior Citizens install

Madison Senior Citizens met at the Madison Recreation Center, observing a moment of silence for deceased relatives and friends.

Clarence Green, former president of the club, installed Mrs. Dorothy Bridick, 1974-75 president, Mrs. Alice Price, vice president, Mrs. Grace Hormann, secretary, and Mrs.

Verna VanOver, treasurer. Each also served in the same office the previous year.

A corsage was presented to each officer.

Mrs. Bridick appointed Mrs. Lester Cook and Mrs. Edna Foster to the quilting committee.

A dance has been planned for the near future. Contributions were made for two pageants. The group attended a senior citizen event held in Edwardsville, and bell ringers under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Lionberger played several selections, earning a plaque which is now on display in the center.

Green gave a report on the food stamp program. The group enjoyed home-made pie and coffee. Cards and other games filled the remainder of the afternoon.

350 to launch balloons Sunday

Hundreds of colorful balloons will be launched about 10:45 a.m. Sunday by members of the Sunday school department of Tri-City Park Tabernacle to help recruit newcomers to the program, the Rev. John Polizzi, pastor, announced today.

About 350 children and adults will take part in the launching event on the church grounds at Clark Street and Maryville Road.

Each balloon will contain a signed slip of paper inviting the finder to attend the Tri-City Park Tabernacle's Sunday school program.

Persons returning the enclosed papers will receive gifts, as well as the sender, the minister said. The individual returning a paper from the most distant point prior to Dec. 1 will be presented a valuable gift. A gift also will be given to the person who launched the balloon, the Rev. Polizzi said.

Mrs. Jeannette Morien, Sunday school superintendent, said the project is designed to encourage former members to return to the program and interest new members in participating.

GC creates new engineer post

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
The Granite City Council Monday night created the new position of assistant city engineer, amid a series of developments in an expanding program of traffic safety and street improvements.

The new post was set up on a recommendation by the council's Street and Alley committee after Monroe Brewer, city engineer, said he is confident the city can pay a full-time salary for an assistant engineer with the money it will save by not hiring special consulting engineers "every time we develop a new project."

At the same time, the council took progressive steps to advance a number of traffic safety and street improvement programs. The actions included:

1. Authorized Mayor Paul Schulz to complete an agreement with Harland Bartholomew & Associates of St. Louis for engineering work on a proposal to install traffic lights (with left-turn signals) at 18th Street and Madison Avenue as a major step in developing a truck route.

2. Approved a bid call for installation of traffic signals at Manley Avenue and Nameoki Road in a step to relieve traffic congestion in the vicinity of the Crossroads Plaza shopping center.

3. Complied with a state Department of Transportation requirement for city approval of a bid for modernization of the Nameoki-Fehling-Johnson roads intersection. The council approved the low bid of the C. D. Peters Construction Co. of $17,940 for work that will include enlargement of the intersection and installation of modernized signal lights with left-turn signals.

4. Accepted a low bid by the G. H. Sternberg Co. for curb and guttering and drainage installations on Spring Avenue for a distance of one block off Wabash Avenue. Sternberg bid $19,920 on the project. One other bid of $22,344 was received from C. D. Peters Construction Co.

5. Approved an Oct. 15 bid call, set by the state, to receive bids on $125,000 worth of street maintenance work. Bids will be received on rock, salt, asphalt and other materials until 2 p.m. Oct. 15.

The proposal to hire an assistant city engineer met some opposition until Brewer explained that his department needs a man qualified in surveying to eliminate the need of employing outside engineers on many city projects, and that the salary would be more than offset by the savings in consulting engineering services.

Brewer told the council that while no salary has yet been considered for the assistant engineering post, he believes a qualified man can be obtained for $6.50 to $7 an hour on a full-time basis, while engineering services of consulting engineers have been running about $17 an hour.

He told the aldermen that engineering work on the four Madison Avenue intersections Monday's meeting, Alderman Claude Green, a member of the Operations Program for Increasing Capacity and Safety) cost about $5,000 for each intersection. Those improvements involved enlargement of the intersections and installation of new traffic lights at Niedringhaus Avenue and 20th, 23rd and 27th streets.

While Alderman Clyde Boyd, chairman of the Street and Alley committee was absent at Monday's meeting, Alderman Claude Green, a member of the committee, told the council that the creation of the new post was approved by committee members.

A motion to approve on final passage a resolution creating the assistant engineering post was approved 10 to 1 with Alderman Sam Whitmer casting the only negative vote.

A motion to call bids for the installation of traffic lights at Manley Avenue and Nameoki Road was also approved. When several aldermen who contended that installation of that light would result in requests for more lights at Nameoki Village and Bellemore Village Shopping Centers and eventually result in worse traffic congestion than the area now has.

The Manley Avenue traffic signal was planned after Don Golden of Golden Corp., developer of the Crossroads Plaza complex, offered to share the cost of the installation with the city because it would offer a better traffic outlet from the Crossroads shopping area. The cost has been estimated at $16,000, with the city paying $8,000 and Golden Corp. a similar amount.

Alderman Emerald Dawes said, "If we put in this light then Nameoki Village and Bellemore are going to want lights. We should have one signal centrally located or we're going to have a worse traffic problem than we do now."

Alderman Ronald Coleman said he had first suggested the traffic light for Cottage Avenue, a central location between Johnson and Pontoon Roads, but that "they didn't want it there." He suggested delaying a decision on the Manley Avenue signal, but Mayor Paul Schulz said he thought the matter should be decided immediately.

On a motion by Alderman Green that bids be called for the project, the vote was 7 to 3 in favor. Since the mayor may vote when his vote can decide the issue, the mayor voted in favor, making it 8 to 3, and approving the motion.

Voting against the project were Alderman Steve Basarich, Dawes and Earl Baker. Voting in favor were Green, Frank Greenwald, Roy Poulos, Sam Whitmer, Ronald Coleman, William Dallas and Everett Morlen.

Approval of the Peters company bid on installation of new signals on Nameoki Road at Fehling-Johnson roads clears the way for beginning work on that project. The bids were received by the state, but a contract award was held up pending approval of the bid by the city.

WOW!!

WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT??? When we saw a major chains ad last week stressing lower beef prices and price freezing on some grocery items, we were impressed! JUST FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Every store, including Kozyak's has many expenses; labor, advertising, insurance, electric, taxes, investment interest, etc. Every store has to make a profit, or you go out of business. No store can have the lowest price on each and every item. We all have super specials each week, like our Manhattan Coffee last week at 88¢ a lb., compared to $1.33 at the chains; however, we've never felt it necessary to ever attempt to make 45¢ a lb. on bacon, 65¢ a lb. on boneless hams, 50¢ a lb. on pork sausage, etc., in order to lower Strongheart Dog Food 1/2¢ a can, for example.

In the final analysis you are the judge and we appreciate your suggestions in methods of improving our service.

Mrs. Markham dies at 81

Mrs. Elizabeth Markham, 81, of 4905 Bruene Drive, a resident of the Madison County Nursing Home for 15 months, died there at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

She was born in Monett, Mo., and lived in this area for many years. Mrs. Markham was employed as a sales clerk for 11 years at Famous Barr Co., St. Louis, prior to her retirement.

She was a member of the Catholic faith.

Her husband, William W. Markham, preceded her in death.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Mickey J. Inman and three sons, Clifford, Billy D. and Ray Corbin, all of Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Grover (Lula) West of St. Louis, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Perinatal care improves chances for mother, baby

SPRINGFIELD — Pregnancy and childbirth traditionally have been, at best, a gamble, and not all the women involved are given the same odds.

Many are waging the highest stakes — their own lives and those of their unborn children. Until recently, women expected to lose "a tooth for each baby" and spoke casually of "having six and rising three." A woman's death in childbirth surprised no one; it was the risk she was expected to run.

With medical advances, the mortality rate among mothers has declined sharply. In Illinois in 1973, only 23 maternal deaths were reported deaths which occurred during pregnancy, delivery, or within 90 days after childbirth, from some cause directly linked to the pregnancy.

At the same time, however, Illinois with all its outstanding medical facilities, research programs, hospitals and highly skilled personnel, ranked up one of the lowest ratings among 50 states for its survival rate among newborns.

In 1972, the last year for which statistics are available, roughly 20 deaths occurred for each 1,000 live births, a staggering total which puts Illinois 48th among the 50 states.

Last spring, Gov. Daniel Walker announced that the state Department of Public Health would begin a campaign to reverse the trend by setting up a new perinatal program.

Now, several months later, things are beginning to roll on that program, and Dr. James Paulissen, who heads up the perinatal program, says the department hopes to see it beginning to function by Jan. 1.

In some areas, the program will merely be taking over well-established programs in Illinois. Since the '40s, the state has had a system of premature centers around the state, especially geared to handle the special needs of infants who come into the world before they are ready to cope with its challenges and threats.

Presently, the premature centers are located at Springfield, Peoria and East St. Louis. While their accomplishments have often been amazing, the present program has several drawbacks, says Dr. Paulissen. For one thing, the centers are too far apart. Even though specially equipped station wagons with incubators are available to transport the newborns, and in cases of real emergency the trauma system's helicopters are available, there is still a long distance between Waukegan and Peoria, and some of the little patients aren't able to wait.

Too, the premature centers deal with infants already on hand; the perinatal program will become interested in the future person at 20 weeks of gestation and retain that interest until the newborn infant is 28 days old.

Obviously, this early period is going to involve the mother as well, and expanded care for "high risk" mothers is also part of the perinatal program.

As a first step toward setting up the program, standards for a perinatal center were adopted, and circulated among Illinois hospitals. Approximately 20 of these indicated interest in being part of the program and were asked to provide detailed information about their present facilities and capabilities.

Standards set for participation are so high, Dr. Paulissen said, that there is not a hospital in the state which could meet them at this time, though some are "quite close" he said.

Among the requirements will be a provision that the center must offer an "out-reach" educational program, and must provide consultation for any hospital in the area it serves. Perinatal centers will also be required to have an affiliation with a medical school — a provision that may raise difficulties in locating a southern Illinois center in the St. Louis-E. St. Louis area.

An initial appropriation of $2.5 million has been made to set the program in operation, including the continued financing of the existing premature centers until they can be incorporated into the perinatal setup.

One of the first aims of the new program will be to identify the prospective mother before it occurs, that is, to identify the "high risk" mother. These, says Dr. Paulissen, include women over 35 having their first child; mothers who have previously miscarried; prospective mothers who have medical problems of their own, like heart or kidney disorders; expectant mothers who are 15 years and under, and mothers who already have had four or five children. In this latter class, he said, the risk goes up with each subsequent pregnancy, so the woman expecting her eighth or ninth child is statistically a much higher risk patient than the woman expecting her second or third.

Not all expectant mothers in the "high risk" category will be expected to go to a perinatal center if trouble is anticipated, Dr. Paulissen stressed. In many cases, this would cause severe hardship since the pregnant woman might have to leave her home and other small children a week or more before her new baby is due, in order to be sure she is there when the time comes. Instead, he said, in many cases there will be comparatively simple things which can be done at her local hospital, such as making arrangements to keep the infant's temperature from dropping.

In some cases, however, where serious difficulties such as blood exchanges, can be seen ahead of time, the prospective mother may be urged to enter the perinatal center to deliver her baby, where sophisticated equipment and highly trained personnel will be on hand.

Growth of the perinatal concept of medical care, Dr. Paulissen said, is leading to expanding areas of medical specialization already, with the emergence of "neonatalologists" and "perinatal obstetricians" who will be specialists among the specialists.

Comparable approaches have been tried in other nations, he said, with admirable results. The lowest infant mortality rates in the world are in the Scandinavian countries and the Low Countries, where maternal and child health programs are well established. An experimental program now being conducted

Under the perinatal program, more attention will be paid to the baby, checking before its birth for possible problems, and monitoring it far more closely after birth.

Presently, once the baby is born, he said, it frequently is just put into a crib and medical attention focused on the mother, with the baby "sort of forgotten over there" for a while.

At this critical stage, serious difficulties might go unnoticed, he said. In the new concept, some of the delivery room staff will occupy themselves with the newborn infant, checking for temperature, blood sugar levels and other medical signs which can signal developing problems.

The newborn infant will also

GC Business Women to hear ERA status

Miss Annabel Woodring of Collinsville, program chairman for the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will be guest speaker at the annual legislative dinner meeting of the Granite City BPW Club at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Charlie's Restaurant.

Miss Woodring's talk will focus on the Equal Rights Amendment and day care centers. Mrs. Vernice Wortman, a past president of the local club, will serve as dinner moderator.

Mrs. Edna Kohlbrecher, BPW legislative chairman, said all working women in the Quad-City area are invited to attend next week's dinner. Reservations may be made by calling 876-4595.

Guild entertains at St. Peter

The Evening Guild met Monday at St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ fellowship hall and entertained the Evening Guild members from St. John United Church of Christ.

Each group held separate business meetings. Mrs. Dorothea Kirksey presided over St. John guild meeting and Mrs. Ruth Ann Bartels conducted the host guild's session.

Mrs. Bartels reported a marriage enrichment retreat will be held at the DuBois Center on Nov. 3 and a chili supper and bake sale will take place from 4:30 to 7 p.m. on Nov. 16 in St. Peter's fellowship hall. Tickets are now available from guild members, she said.

Mrs. Bea Rittenhouse, church, women's representative, announced used clothing is needed for the Nearly New Clothing Center.

Fatima Circle elects

Our Lady of Fatima Circle of the Daughters of Isabella re-elected Mrs. Marionrose Lambert regent at a meeting held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Chancellor Mary Horvat led opening prayer and the pledge of allegiance. Reports were given by Mrs. Grace Range.

Other officers to serve for the year are Irma Manning, vice-regent; Pauline Messaros, treasurer; Fran Gruber, financial secretary; Helen Oberlin, recording secretary; Stephanie Ruzic, scribe; Mrs. Horvat, chancellor; Wilma Manoe, first guide; Berdell Goeller, inner guard; Josephine Knezevich, outer guard; and Anna Carey, Dorothy Heedebeck and Grace Range, trustees.

A joint installation of officers of the seven circles in the Springfield diocese will be held on Oct. 27 at 2 p.m. at St. Peter and Paul Church, Collinsville.

Mrs. Manning was appointed to serve as chairman of the Christmas party.

Pi Eta plans holiday party

Plans for a Christmas party on Dec. 9 were completed at a business meeting of Pi Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Donna Yelling, 1706 Garfield Ave.

Mrs. Jana Galiardi gave a report on the sorority's City Council meeting and a convention scheduled in the spring. After the business session, Mrs. Sue Frazier hosted a jewelry party.

Of the seven circles present were Beverly Bennett, Charlotte Charbonnier, Waneta Graham, Mary Ann Davis, Judy Onesky, Jan Noland, Mary Ruth Snelson and guests, Carol Rellike and Glenda Charbonnier.

Rainy Suez Club meets at Lee home

The Rainy Suez Club met Monday night in the home of Mrs. Pat Lee, 1610 Second St., Madison.

Games were played and prizes were presented to Lucille Broyles, Carol Broyles, Alene Graham and Evelyn Ferro.

Mrs. Lee served refreshments to prize winners and to Mrs. Pat Petrovsky, Mrs. Mary Allen and a guest, Mrs. Mary Tucker. Mrs. Allen invited the club to her home, 2459A State St., for its next meeting.

Gospel singing at two churches

A gospel singing program will be presented at 7:30 Saturday night at the Christ Gospel Church, 21st Street and Duquesne Avenue, where the Rev. Donald Townsend is pastor.

The featured group will be "The Journeyman" from Decatur.

The same program will be repeated at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Bethesda Baptist Church, 3000 Circle Drive, according to the minister, the Rev. Ralph Graycraft.

The public is invited to attend both performances.

Crewel, tole, art classes start

Adult programs to be offered by the Granite City Park District, starting next week, include tole painting, crewel embroidery, art (basic painting) and rug making. All classes will be held at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Ames and Franklin avenues.

Tole painting, which is increasing in popularity, teaches the art of decorating trays, glassware and similar objects. Sessions will be held Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. o'clock beginning next week.

Participation is limited to 12 per class and registration will be accepted at the Wilson Park office. Individuals will furnish their own materials and a fee of $5 per person will be charged.

Crewel embroidery will be taught starting Oct. 17 and continuing for six weeks each Thursday. Enrollment will be restricted to 20 to 25 persons and participants will be asked to supply their own materials.

Further information may be obtained and registrations are being accepted at the Wilson Park office.

Basic painting will be offered beginning Wednesday in Room 3 at the Nameoki Recreation Center from 7 to 9 p.m. The course, lasting for an 8-week period, will focus on colors, texture and perspective with students painting three different compositions.

A $10 fee will be charged and those taking part are required to purchase their own supplies. Advanced registration at the Wilson Park office is necessary.

An old German method of rug making, using old woolen scraps, will be instructed in a six-week course starting Monday. The class will be limited to 20 persons and the instruction is free, with participants only asked to purchase materials.

Harold Brown, park district superintendent, said prospective students in all classes for which a fee is charged are required to register at the Wilson Park office in advance of entering a class session.

Mrs. Herman marks 85th year

Mrs. Carrie M. Herman was honored this week at a surprise party in observance of her 85th birthday at the Anchorage Homes Recreation Center.

The open house event was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Prewett, a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Herman of Eureka, Mo., a son and daughter-in-law, and Mrs. James J. Bucatch, Miss Jolene Prewett and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Dunbar of Alton.

Many gifts were presented to the guest of honor during the afternoon.

A buffet supper was served to Jamie and Jason Bucatch, Miss Betty Bucatch, Mesdames Anna Bucatch, Sophie Young, Catherine Dimitroff, Lena Scher, Eva Shearer, Anna Dowdy, Alice Luckert, Alice Nomm, Bernice Steele, Elvira Reeves, Millie Prewett, Louise Daniels, Nellie Herman, Dottie

Boyer and Dina Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Potillo, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Herman and Debbie Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hornberger, all of Granite City.

Out-of-town guests were: Lisa and Mark Dunbar, Alton; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kloster and family and Mrs. Margaret Beasley, Maryville; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Atchinson and Mrs. Nadine Lowe, Frankston, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis and Kristin and Justin Davis, Sorento, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. James Guiliacci and family Decatur, Mo.; and Mr. Robert M. Schultz, Denise, Kirsten and Kristen Schultz, Topeka, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Atchison, Beaholder, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Potillo of Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Central Christian seminar

"A Celebration of Life and Breath" seminar, led by Dr. Clyde Reid, will be held by Central Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), 2020 Johnson Road, Saturday.

The seminar will be held at the Religious Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, beginning at 10 a.m. and closing at 6 p.m. It was announced by Dr. L. Jim Anthis, minister.

Dr. Reid, author of eight books, group leader, and director of the Center of New Beginnings, in Denver, Colo., will conduct the seminar, using his very book, Celebrate The Temporary, as background.

Using non-threatening learning techniques, he will help each participant to stretch and breathe, affirming themselves as feeling persons and experience the world through their senses, Dr. Anthis said.

The registration fee for the all-day program is $7.50, and each person is requested to bring a sack lunch. Additional information may be obtained from the office of Dr. Anthis at the Central Christian Church, phone 876-0532.

Class hears gospel singing

A program of gospel singing was featured at a meeting of the Harmony Class of Niederrhaus United Methodist Church during the weekend.

Jay Corbitt opened the program by singing the Lord's Prayer. Other religious songs were sung by Miss Mary Patterson, Mrs. Betty Patterson and Corbitt, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ruby Hoffman. Harold Lynn presided at the meeting held in Wesley Hall. The hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paddock and Mrs. Ruby Corbitt.

Guests attending were Mrs. Velma Freeman of Dresden, Tenn.; Mesdames Myra Grole, Mina Duggins, Ruth Hassler and Ruby Hartline.

Members present included Dale Carper, Mr. and Mrs. John Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reimers, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sticht, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hahn, John Lerch and Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Frohardt.

Vision program attracts 800

More than 800 persons participated in the joint Kiwanis-Jaycee service club's Save Our Sight (SOS) program. Kiwanis President Joseph Palovchik announced at the Monday evening Kiwanis Club meeting at Charlie's Restaurant.

According to a club spokesman, the program held at Coolidge Junior High School proved so successful that the two clubs intend to sponsor it again next year.

President Palovchik appointed the following committee chairmen: Wilhelm Verschuyl, inter-club; Allen Jesse, boys and girls; and Michael Toundas, public relations.

Members were reminded that there will be no meeting Monday evening as a joint installation of officers will be held Thursday evening at Charlie's Restaurant with the Breakfast Kiwanis club.

Tumbling, gym series starts

Classes in tumbling and gymnastics, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, will start Monday at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues.

Participation will be limited to 75 students per class, the program is geared to children in grades one through 12, and registration will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

Beginner classes are scheduled from 5 to 5:55 p.m. and from 6 to 6:55 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays; intermediate classes from 7 to 7:55 p.m. and from 8 to 8:55 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays; and advanced classes from 6 to 8 p.m. Wednesdays.

Shower fetes

Vicki McQuay

Miss Vicki McQuay was guest of honor at a bridal shower given during the weekend at the Croatian Home in Madison by her mother, Mrs. Victoria McQuay.

The hall was decorated in red and white, the colors to be used in the wedding. A white cloth covering the gift table was draped with red streamers and centered with a white satin and lace umbrella and a miniature bride and groom.

Guests were seated at tables decorated with basket centerpieces and vases of red floral print flowers, handmade by the bride-elect. Favors were small white wedding bells.

Miss McQuay was assisted in opening her gifts by Mrs. Mary Ellen Thompson, her sister, and Irene and Millie Babic, the groom's sisters, who will serve as wedding attendants.

A buffet luncheon was served following the games.

Guests present were Mrs. Ruth Babic, mother of the prospective groom; Mrs. Mary Yakubik and Mrs. Geraldine Fisher, grandmothers of the bride couple; Mesdames Lottie Wenc, Leona Toothill, Lorraine Rakowski, Pat Blake, Barbara Tanner, Carol Dixon, Ruthann Rakowski, Fannie Petras, Jean Petras, Wanda Schewe, Janice Ventura, Terry Wilgatek, Alberta Mikol, Vera Mikol, Florence Kierski, Dorothy Sanders, Marian Winkle, Kathy Ellis.

Mesdames Pat Zaruba, Josie Richardson, Dorothy Patton, Jackie Frizzell, Fran Jank, Jo Ann Petras, Barbara Miller, Corissa Fecurka, Nellie McBride, Janice Dittman, Verka Krotel, Ann Kowalczyk, Paula Balow, Brenda Narvaez, Karen Puscsek, Sharon Napier, Carol Nolan, Elaine Grayson, Nancy Mullen, Rosemarie Moran, Shirley Rulo, Millie Ragaine, Donna Kagy, Sharon Shaffer, Agie Armstrong and Lois Hollenbeck.

Misses Kathy Rutkowski, Connie Piechocinski, Stella Gawlik, Mary Ann Toothill, Becky Mullen, Florence Petras, Helen Zelenka, Mary Ann Krawiec, Michele Narvaez, Claire Tanner, Stephanie Petras, Kathy Rulo, Sandy Rulo and Paula Mikolajczuk.

Miss McQuay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McQuay, 1031 Iowa St., Madison. The prospective groom, Milan Babic, is now serving with the U. S. Army in Berlin, Germany. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Babic, 1615 Fourth St., Madison.

Plans are being completed for a Nov. 16 wedding at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

Baptist women view abuse film

A film on child abuse was shown during a meeting of the Mission groups of the Suburban Baptist Church Thursday night at the church, Maryville Road and St. Clair Avenue. The film was provided by Children and Family Services.

Refreshments were served and a centerpiece was presented to Mrs. Pat Lynn, a nurse from Children and Family Services who brought the film for the meeting.

Attending were Mesdames Georgia Monahan, Delores Smith, Mildred Coker, Florence Petrovich, Barbara McCaskey, Anna Harley, Sharon Purkey, Sue Wrosteck, Ursula Cook, Ruby McKalls, Mary Charlton, Shirley Schwendeman, Edna Jackson, Judy Worley, Evelyn Mohorn, Prosha Monahan and Jean Fisher, president.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD DETERS, who were united in marriage at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, she is the former Miss Kathleen Roderick, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roderick, 55 Villa Drive.

Kathleen Roderick and Donald Deters are wed

Miss Kathleen Roderick, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roderick, 55 Villa Drive, became the bride of Donald L. Deters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Deters, 1791 Fairfax St., Carlyle, Ill., on Sept. 14 at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed at noon by the Rev. Hugh P. Cassidy before an altar adorned with bouquets of white and yellow blossoms interspersed with greenery.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Roderick wore a long white tulle gown fashioned in an Empire silhouette.

Venise lace flowers masked the deep open neckline, the bodice and curvilinear waist. The long full sleeves were gathered tightly at the wrist into cuffs edged with a tiny lace trim.

The semi-full skirt draped into a full sweep train. She carried a cascade of white snow crystal pom poms, yellow Sweetheart roses, baby breath and camellia foliage.

Attending the bride were Miss Patricia Roderick, her sister and honor attendant, and Mrs. John Bozzardi, Mrs. William Wenthe and Mrs. Donald Tanase, bridesmaids.

They were gowned alike in A-line skirts of lime green plaid, flounced at the hem, and solid green bodices enhanced with plaid ruffles at the neckline. White cotton lace defined the waist. Each wore a plaid jacket with long sleeves.

Their bouquets were arrangements of white Elegance carnations, yellow snow crystal pom poms and baby breath.

William Wenthe served as best man. The groomsmen were Ken Waelz and Roger and William Deters, brothers of the groom.

Seating the guests were Pat Shannon and David Dierks. A reception was held at the Croatian Home in Madison. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bride's parents in their home.

132 at district BPW conference

A total of 132 members and guests attended the fall district meeting of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held this week at the Collinsville Holiday Inn.

The Belle East 21 Club was host for the afternoon event and Mrs. Lucille Schneider, District 14 chairman, presided.

Miss Frances Sutton, district membership chairman, addressed the group, commenting on the benefits offered through BPW membership to all working women. She said, "We must constantly rejuvenate ourselves or run away, and we must keep up with new innovations and retain our enthusiasm."

Entertainment was provided by the Heathersones, a group of 30 officers' wives from Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, under the direction of Major Herman Vincent.

The spring district meeting was set for March 9 in Edwardsville.

1944 class reunion set Saturday night

The 30th reunion of the June 1944 graduating class at Granite City High School is set for Saturday night, according to Gene Ross, chairman.

The dinner dance will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Granite City Army Installation. A total of 140 reservations has been received by the planning committee. Last minute reservations may be made by calling 877-4276, Ross announced.

1937 DODGE BUSINESS COUPE reconditioned by its owner, Don Bellman, has increased in value from an original price of $700 in 1937 to $4,500 today after much hard work by Bellman. The car has won four first-place and two second-place ribbons since July when the owner began entering it in car shows.

1937 car is show winner

A 1937 Dodge business coupe that sat in an alley for eight years was purchased by Don Bellman, 2107 Lindell Blvd., an auto body repairman at Superior Auto Body, and turned into a first-place winner in numerous auto shows.

"It took me two years to really get it in shape for showing. The engine was in fair condition, but the body was a mess," Bellman related.

"I completely dismantled and sandblasted the entire body. After it was sanded several times, primed and painted, I let it sit for eight months to let all the lacquer thinner evaporate. A new paint job that is polished too soon will dull the luster on the finish and you'll never get it back," he said.

The car was called by Dodge a business coupe as it had room for only the driver and one passenger, but had an enormous trunk for the salesman to carry samples in the back. The car has a six-cylinder engine with a single-barrel carburetor.

The radio and heater are original factory equipment and both work fine.

Accessories of the day that were added in 1937 were dual windshield wipers, sun visor, dual tail lights and a horn.

New in 1937, the car sold for about $700. Today the owner has been offered $4,500. It has been entered in six antique car shows since July and has won four first-place ribbons and two second place prizes.

"The hardest items on the car to replace with original parts were the hub caps," Bellman said. "The only thing I did not restore personally was the upholstery inside and a Collinsville firm restored that. I am presently building a trailer to haul the car on, even though it runs fine," Bellman noted.

Bellman also is a collector of auto license plates and has a complete set from the State of Illinois dating back to 1918.

"I am interested in all types of plates, not just Illinois. I am always looking for unusual plates like military and foreign plates. Anytime I can improve the condition by getting a better Illinois plate that's pre-1970, I try to do so," he said.

MISS TAMIE ECK, a Venice High School junior, is the third of a trio of sisters to report school news to the Press-Record. Last year her sister, Teri, did the reporting; in the preceding year, it was done by another sister, Toni. The girls are the daughters of Mrs. Margaret Eck, 1314 Robin St.

This school year, Tami Eck is serving as vice president of the student council, secretary of the chorus and treasurer of the junior class. A three-year member of the band, she has been a cheerleader for the past two years and a member of the Future Homemakers and student council during her underclassman years. She was vice president of the freshman class.

Mrs. Chase dies at 74

Mrs. Dorothy Chase, 74, of 2514 Iowa St., a 64-year resident of Granite City, died at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church and belonged to Granite Chapter 549, Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Chase was born in Summerfield, Ill.

Her husband, Lee M. Chase, died in 1957.

Survivors are one son, Donald L. Chase of Glen Ellyn, Ill.; a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Morgan of Granite City; one brother, Kenneth C. Andres of Mountain Home, Ark.; and two granddaughters and one great-grandson.

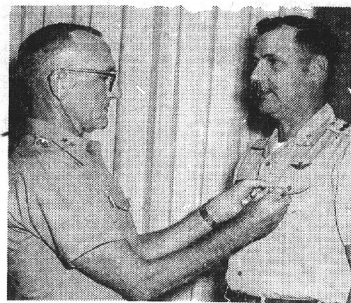

Arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Traffic fines distributed

Traffic fines totaling $30,384 collected by Madison County Circuit Court during September have been distributed to cities and towns throughout the county, including $5,405 to the Quad-City area.

Granite City's portion was $4,653. Madison received $256, Venice $305 and Ponton Beach $191. Madison County received $16,727 for the unincorporated areas.

Legislation calls for replacing Alton dam

Cong. Melvin Price (D-23rd Ill. Dist.) and Cong. Paul Findley (R-20th Ill. Dist.) introduced legislation Monday to grant Congressional approval of construction of a new Alton Lock and Dam 26.

A U. S. District Court judge has granted an injunction blocking construction of the replacement facility on several grounds, one of which was that Congressional approval of the project is required by law.

The court action contends that passage of an appropriation bill for the project does not constitute Congressional approval unless a corresponding authorization bill is also passed.

"This is an important case," said Cong. Price, "in that it elevates the procedural rules of the House to the status of the law of the land."

House rules provide that as a matter of legislative procedure, an appropriation for a project is first "authorized" by a separate bill before the appropriation bill is passed.

"In this case," Price said, "the judge is telling Congress that even though it passed a law clearly stating that certain funds are appropriated for construction of Alton Lock and Dam 26, Congress does not approve of the appropriation of these funds."

"Though this reasoning is a matter for continued substantial debate," said Price, "we are introducing a bill to eliminate this judicial impediment to proceeding with the project by specifically stating the approval of Congress in accordance with the requirements of the judge's decision for the project is essential to the national as well as local economy.

"Alton Lock and Dam 26 is vital to all shipping transportation on the Mississippi and Illinois Rivers above St. Louis," he said.

It also means thousands of jobs which are desperately needed in the Madison-St. Clair Counties area."

Another ground for granting the injunction was that there were certain alleged deficiencies in the environmental impact statement required by the National Environmental Policy Act.

The legislation we are introducing does not relieve the Army Corps of Engineers from correcting deficiencies in the environmental impact statement," the local congressman said, "and the Corps is currently working on this aspect of the problem and should submit a revised statement in the very near future."

Cong. Price indicated there may not be enough time remaining in this session of Congress to act on the legislation.

"The bill is designed to serve notice on Congressional concern and intent to resolve the matter in a timely fashion," he noted.

More law suits against GC

A decision as to whether the city should appeal a circuit court verdict granting $17,590 damages to a Granite City woman as the result of a fall was delayed by the City Council Monday night pending a study of what grounds the city might have for an appeal.

Eric Robertson, assistant city attorney, recommended in a letter to the aldermen that the city appeal the verdict because of evidence strongly in the woman's favor. He said the jury returned the verdict in favor of Mrs. Etta Pinkerton, 69, of Granite City who was injured in a fall Aug. 4, 1972, at 20th and State streets.

Some aldermen contended, however, that the city has been the subject of so many suits within the past two years that payment of verdicts without appeal encourages such proceedings.

Superintendent Sam Whitmer made a motion that Robertson be instructed to appeal the case, but Street Superintendent Lionel Portel said circumstances in the case were unfavorable to the city. He said the fall was caused by a broken curb at the intersection. Whitmer withdrew his motion pending further discussions with Robertson.

The council also received a notice that a civil suit is to be filed against the city in behalf of Mary Barnhart of Madison, also the result of a fall. A letter from Lydia Hammacher, 2142 Benton St., notifying the city she had been hurt in a fall, also was received and referred to the city attorney.

Extra session of park rink Monday

A special skating session is planned Monday from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at Wilson Park ice rink, with regular admission prices to be charged.

Harold Brown, park superintendent, said the extra session has been scheduled due to schools being dismissed for the Columbus Day holiday.

A CAREFUL EXAMINATION is given 5-year-old Sarah Keel of Granite City at the Stereopsis testing desk, one of many stops in the Save Our Sight testing program sponsored during the weekend by the Jaycees and Kiwanis clubs at Coolidge Junior High School. Administering the test is Marlene Ross, a member of the Jayceeettes.

Social Security holiday closing

William Kerr, manager of the Social Security office in East St. Louis, announced today that the Social Security office at 650 Missouri Ave. and the Social Security Branch office at 670 State St. will be closed Oct. 14, Columbus Day.

Kerr also said that effective Oct. 15, both offices will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The new office hours have been established to give the office personnel additional time to process increased workloads, enabling claimants to receive their benefit check more promptly, he said.

Kerr urged individuals to telephone the office first, since most Social Security matters can be completed by phone. The phone number of the downtown East St. Louis office is 274-2200 and the branch office number is 398-5412.

Five treated for accident injuries

Five persons were injured when the autos of Chris Rains, 138 Arlington Drive, Arlington Heights, and Richard Genovese, 2428 Sunbury Ave., were involved in an accident in the 2400 block of Sunbury Avenue.

Mrs. Elizabeth Genovese was the only passenger in her husband's car. She was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Passengers in Rains' car who were injured were John Haug, 19, of 21 Shirwin Drive, Miss Shelly Eli, 17, of 1533 Rodgers Ave., and Gary Vaughn, 18, of 3317 Franklin Ave.

Rains, also was hurt and was treated and released from the hospital.

Citizen concern unites nation—Cong. Price

Despite the nation's problems, "the American spirit is not dead," Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) said this week in a talk at the Kings House Communion breakfast in Belleville.

The local congressman focused on the concern of citizens for the betterment of man as a uniting factor in the nation.

"All is not lost for a country which has done so much, for a people with so much concern for man," Rep. Price asserted.

After describing the country as a whole as one in which "in every state and in every community Americans are joining forces to make this a better land."

Price praised instances of concern for betterment of the community and nation. He cited the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Lions Club and Retired Senior Volunteer Program in Belleville as organizations which "merit considerable praise from all of us."

"Perhaps most importantly, our nation has a rich heritage of religious influence, centering around a spirit of quietude such as that which Kings House has given our area for years."

Though the country faces grave problems today, Cong. Price said, he noted that throughout history Americans have faced similar tasks and yet the nation has always survived — "made stronger by these trials, because the people of the nation care."

Rep. Price ended by looking forward to local and national plans for celebration of the American bicentennial.

"Whether we celebrate by building new museums in Washington or whether we are planning local bicentennial parks as in Mascoutah or restoring historic buildings in Lebanon, the people of this nation are still showing old-fashioned concern for their communities, their neighbors, their nation. I'm proud to be a part of it."

Stamp focuses on aid to retarded

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Mrs. Audrey Lewis, president of the Tri-City Area Association for Retarded, will be at the Granite City Post Office early Tuesday morning to purchase the first postage stamp to be issued which focuses attention on the needs of mentally retarded people.

The local association officer said, "The issuance of this stamp is truly a milestone for our country's six million mentally retarded citizens and for the people who work on their behalf."

"We believe it will be an excellent medium for focusing national attention on the needs of mentally retarded people nationwide."

Throughout the country officials of state and local associations dedicated to aiding the retarded are planning to purchase stamps and limited edition folders commemorating the issuance early Tuesday.

Governors of several states and local mayors will be presented with commemorative stamps and folders in observance of the event, Mrs. Lewis said.

Public sale of the "Retarded Children Can Be Helped" postage stamp will climax efforts to secure such a stamp dating back to 1965. The stamp is one of about 20 commemorative stamps issued this year out of over 3,000 such requests, Mrs. Lewis explained.

A commemorative stamp is officially described as one issued to mark a special occasion, or to honor a selected person, thing, idea, group or event. Such stamps are sold for a limited time only.

The history of the stamp goes back to 1965 when the Oregon Association for Retarded Children formally proposed such a stamp, Mrs. Lewis said.

U.S. Senators Maurine Neuberger, Edward M. Kennedy and the late Robert F. Kennedy jointly supported the idea and, in 1966, the three joined forces to co-sponsor a Senate bill urging that a stamp be developed and issued.

In 1973, the concept of such a stamp was approved by the Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee and the project was officially under way.

Paul Calle of Stamford, Conn., was commissioned to create the art work for the stamp.

The artist's previous works included the famous two-piece Space Walk Stamps issued in 1967, the historic First Man of the Moon Commemorative, and the Robert Frost Commemorative issued in March of this year.

Six months ago the official design of the stamp was unveiled to the public in ceremonies at Arlington, Tex., headquarters for the National Association for Retarded Children (NARC).

The 10-cent, light brown stamp features a small girl clasping an adult hand to her cheek and bears in dark brown print the legend "Retarded Children Can Be Helped."

For 20 years, the words comprised the slogan of NARC, formerly the National Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. Lewis said the U.S. Postal Service and NARC jointly conducted a special ceremony at Arlington, Tex., for the print run of 150 million stamps which will go on sale Tuesday at post offices throughout the country.

Card club meets with Mrs. Bruns

Madison church plans revival

The First Baptist Church of Madison will hold its fall revival beginning Sunday and continuing through Sunday, Oct. 20. The services will begin at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

The evangelist for the fall campaign will be the Rev. Prince Edward Claybrook, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of Alton.

Rev. Claybrook was born in Jackson, Tenn., and graduated from Union University, Jackson, Tenn. His Master of Divinity Degree was received from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He presently is working on his Doctor of Ministries from the same school. He pastored churches in Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas before coming to Illinois.

The Rev. Claybrook will conduct a "Kids Jamboree" at 6:55 p.m. each evening for children 8 through 12. He will lead the congregational singing. Special music will be featured each evening.

The pastor, Rev. Paul Davis, said the public is invited to hear Rev. Claybrook.

DIXY LEE RAY, Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, she will speak here Oct. 18 when Illinois science teachers convene.

Atom chairman to talk

Dixy Lee Ray, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), will be the principal speaker when the Illinois Science Teachers Association meets Oct. 18-19 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Theme of the program, shared with the Illinois Aerospace Education Committee's sixth annual High School Conference on Aviation Education, is "Science: The Gateway to Education."

Fred Zurbride, associate professor of physics at SIUE and conference chairman, says innovative programs and approaches to elementary, junior high, secondary and college science teaching will be presented.

Areas covered will include environmental science education, career education, field trips and science communication and education. A mini-course on the metric system for one quarter hour of graduate credit will be offered.

The two-day convention will open at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 18 with registration, coffee and exhibits in the University Center Ballroom. The first session will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Science Laboratory building.

Alfred Fleishmann, co-founder of a St. Louis public relations firm, will discuss "Sense and Non-sense About Human Communications" at the 10:30 a.m. session opening day.

Miss Ray will give the keynote speech at 1:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater.

Sworn in as a member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission on Aug. 8, 1972, Miss Ray was designated as chairman by Pres. Nixon on Feb. 6, 1973. She is the first woman to serve in this capacity, and the first to be named to a full five-year term on the commission.

At the time of her appointment to the AEC she was director of the Pacific Science Center in Seattle and associate professor of zoology at the University of Washington. A marine biologist specializing in marine invertebrates, she has two degrees in zoology—a bachelor of arts and a master's—from Mills College in California.

In 1949 she received her doctorate in biology from Stanford University and the same year joined the faculty at the University of Washington, where she spent 27 years in the zoology department, teaching, conducting research and supervising graduate students.

Special Education Parents to meet

The Parents of Special Education group will meet at 7 p.m. today at Lake School, 3201 23rd St., Mrs. Kathryn Hahne, president, reported.

A panel program is planned to discuss services available to the handicapped. Panel members will include Mrs. Angela Stock, Crippled Children Services; Mrs. N. Neiderlander of the Lewis and Clark library; Mrs. Stanley Lutskanski, social security; and Dale Rea, supplemental income for the school lunch program.

The organization also will host a skating party from 6 to 8 p.m. Oct. 21 at the Stardust Rink, Pontoon Beach, at a cost of 50 cents per child, Mrs. Hahne announced.

19th GC Firemen's Ball tomorrow night

The 19th annual Granite City Firemen's Ball will begin at 9 p.m. Friday at the Collinsville Park Ballroom in Collinsville with music for dancing by the Bill Benetti Combo.

Proceeds from the annual event are used for the firemen's relief and welfare fund which is used to aid firemen and their families in times of disaster, severe injury or death.

Firemen have been working on arrangements for the dance since July, contacting businessmen and professional men and women seeking their support.

Pipeman Tom Jenkins, coordinator of the event, commented this week, "The annual firemen's ball is something we in the Granite City Fire Department look forward to each year. It is an event where everyone is welcome and can have an enjoyable evening while helping a worthy cause."

The dance is an outgrowth of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 6 to 10, in which the fire department has been participating. They have been visiting schools, St. Elizabeth Hospital and other areas, reminding residents and businessmen to be aware of fire dangers.

Tickets for the annual event are available from firemen or will be available at the door. A donation of $2.50 per person is sought.

Nearly all the firemen have been involved in the planning and work for the event. Among those who have accepted specific assignments are: Engineer Jerry Wallace, publicity; Pipeman Mike

Mental health conference

Five representatives of the Mental Health Clinic, Quad-City Center, will attend the annual fall conference of the Illinois Association of Community Mental Health Agencies.

The conference will take place in Itasca Oct. 16, 17 and 18. Those who will attend are Evelyn Leeper, board member; William Daumüller, executive director; Beverly Topal, office manager; William Atkins, Day Hospital director; and Della Kinsolving, community service team coordinator.

Community mental health agencies are the principal outpatient diagnostic and treatment facilities serving the immediate area in which they are located. Services include individual and group therapy, marital and family counseling, emergency services, drug and alcoholism treatment, day-care, and public education.

Special workshops are planned to help community mental health staff members become informed of new treatment and therapy ideas in such areas as day treatment programs, family counseling, alcoholism, and other mental health directions.

The Friday sessions will be geared toward administrators of community mental health programs and the role of citizen boards. The theme of the conference is "Linkage in a Changing System." Much of the focus of the workshops will be directed toward the shifting responsibility for mental health care.

The "old, large, and isolated state hospitals no longer are the primary source of mental health care," according to Daumüller. "The community has become the responsible source for both preventative and sustaining care for those in need of mental health services."

The conference will explore changes brought about with this new approach, so that the community can be more useful in sharing mental health responsibilities with other levels of government, he said.

Stevenson tells GC shared revenue is uneven, costly to state, erodes direct accountability

Granite City aldermen, who have been among those advocating continuation of federal revenue sharing, were advised Monday night that U.S. Senator Adlai E. Stevenson III, Illinois Democrat, opposes the program.

Indicating surprise at the negative response, council members filed his letter. Stevenson feels Illinois has been short-changed in the amount of shared revenue. His letter follows:

"Thank you for telling me of your support for the continuation of general revenue sharing. I have opposed general revenue sharing and enclose a copy of a speech I made two years ago in the Senate that outlines my objections to the program."

"The federal government can ill afford to finance general revenue sharing; it has no revenues to share."

"And it is a bad bargain for Illinois."

"Illinois taxpayers contributed $365 million to finance the first year of general revenue sharing. But the state and its localities received back only $250 million—a net loss of $115 million in the first year alone."

"Simultaneously, the Administration has refused to spend funds appropriated by Congress for other badly needed programs, including social services, housing, education, rural development and environmental protection."

"Because of impoundments, Illinois has lost over $500 million alone in funds earmarked by Congress for construction of local waste treatment facilities."

"Revenue sharing has not proved to be a solution to any urgent concern, including tax relief. If anything, it has sharpened the uneven and irrational distribution of our resources."

"The federal government has a duty to make the best possible use of the funds it collects. I have long been convinced that few problems are solved by money alone; all general revenue sharing offers is money."

"I believe federal aid to states and localities can best be accomplished by reforming and consolidating grant-in-aid programs, eliminating the red tape and, in general, aiding state and local governments and local taxpayers in more effective ways."

"General revenue sharing adds a new layer of red tape, as many local governments are discovering."

"The federal government could reform the welfare system—or provide general aid to education."

"It could provide more state and local financial assistance and achieve some national purposes, too."

"The entire concept of general revenue sharing seriously disturbs me. It threatens to make state and local governments dependent on the federal government."

"It is a prescription for weak and unaccountable government at all levels."

"Clearly, it makes it more difficult for the federal government to shoulder its responsibilities, including its responsibility for a sound fiscal program to control inflation."

"As a former state treasurer and state representative, I feel the more strongly about the dangers of one government spending the revenues collected by another."

"A form of revenue sharing was tried in Andrew Jackson's time with unfortunate results."

"Since then, the idea has always been rejected out of hand. Frankly, I believe it would not have been enacted this time except for election year pressures and the President's misrepresentations."

"I regret that I cannot agree with you but I will continue to do all I can to provide more federal assistance for states and localities."

"I hope in all such matters you will call on me for help."

2 hurt in crash

Two persons were injured when the autos of Ellis Angle, 1433 Norwood Drive, and Mrs. Cheryl Gann, 28, of 4036 Melrose Ave., were involved in an accident in the 3200 block of Fehling Road Monday.

Mrs. Gann was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for neck pains. X-rays were taken and she was released. Gerald Gann, 33, also of 4036 Melrose Ave., a passenger in the car, also suffered pain to his neck and was released from the hospital after x-rays were taken.

THEFT FROM RESTAURANT

Items worth about $220 were stolen from a storage building on the north side of Tony's Drive-In, 1504 Madison Ave., it was reported during the weekend. A lock on the door was cut. Taken were two cases of catsup, two cases of chili beans, 40 pounds of meat, a can of cooking oil and a tool box and tools.

THE SMITH FLYER manufactured and sold by A. O. Smith Corp. from 1917 to 1919 had a one and a half horsepower engine, traveled between four and 25 miles per hour and got between 80 and 100 miles per gallon. The "Smith Flyer" was one of several displays Sunday at the family day program marking the company's 100th anniversary and 20th year in Granite City. On the right is Tony Stock and his wife Martha. Stock is a welder in Department 39 at the company with 19 years service.

Price opposes gas tax

Joining with other leaders of Congress, Cong. Melvin Price (D-3rd Ill.) has reiterated his opposition to the new proposals of the Federal Energy Office for increased federal tax on gasoline.

"This proposed 30 cents per gallon increase will be a threat to the security and mobility of our citizens," Cong. Price said. "The tax will hit hardest those who can least afford it—the lower and middle income Americans who are already finding it practically impossible to make ends meet. As for the credit allowed on federal income tax, who can say what the dollar will be worth by the time the credit can be collected? I remain firmly opposed to the whole idea of an increased gas tax."

Cong. Price has again stated firm support of vocational rehabilitation and education. In a speech prepared for the presentation of the former Turkey Hill radar station to the St. Clair Associated Vocational Enterprises, Inc., Price said, "I have always been of the firm belief that to care for those who are less fortunate than we is one of the most noble of human endeavors."

"As a legislator, I have always used whatever powers my office permitted to support measures which would establish or facilitate various efforts on behalf of our handicapped children."

The Turkey Hill property covers almost 54 acres near Belleville and is worth an estimated $3 million. It was donated as surplus property by the Federal government to St. Clair Vocational Enterprises to expand facilities for vocational education within the community situation.

In conjunction with the upcoming Bicentennial celebration, Cong. Price has announced funding of the Bicentennial Youth Debates program.

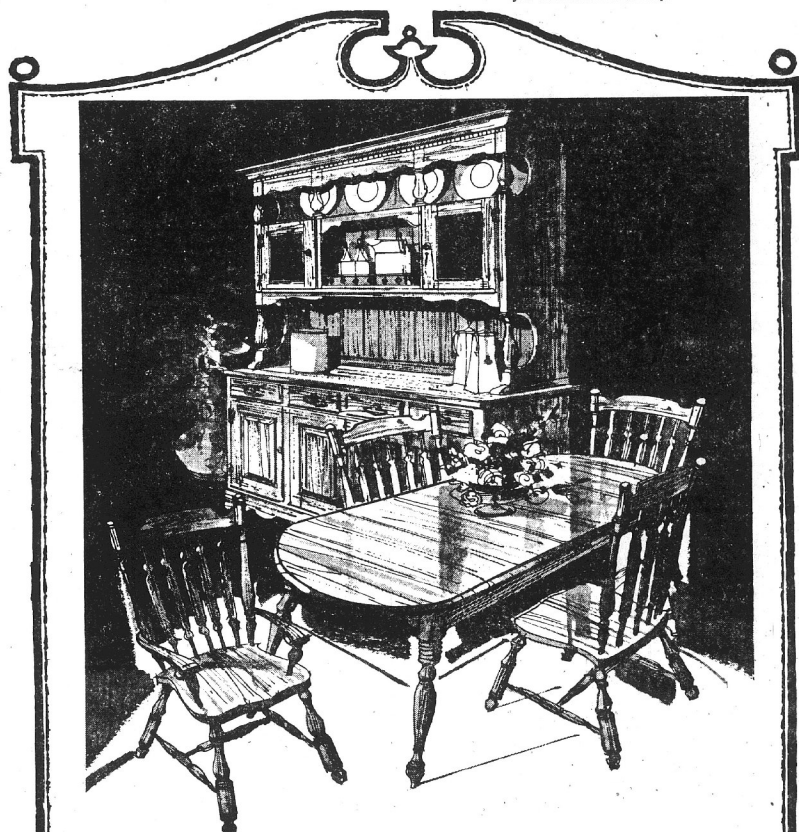

Rep. Price explained that the program is under the direction of the National Endowment for the Humanities and will provide an opportunity for all high school, junior college and college students to participate in Lincoln-Douglas debate, extemporaneous speaking and persuasive speaking. Program information will be distributed to area schools in January and the actual debates will begin in September of 1975. Price said "The exchange of ideas by debate is the foundation of our democratic system." Rep. Price stated, "I would hope that all students will take the time to learn more about this program and to take part in it."

Cong. Price has announced the availability during October of the 1974 Bicentennial Medal. This year's medal honors the First Continental Congress, which met in Philadelphia from Sept. 5 to Oct. 14, 1774.

The medal was struck by the U.S. Mint and can be purchased from the American Revolution Bicentennial Association, P.O. Box 1976C, San Francisco, Calif. 94101.

In accordance with Congress, Rep. Price explained, the Association is directed to make grants to develop and support bicentennial projects with profits from the sale of these medals.

Deadlines for grants

November application deadlines prevail for a number of research grants and fellowships offered by various foundations and agencies, according to the Office of Research and Projects of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Graduate School. The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) has announced a Nov. 1 deadline for two education programs: project grants and planning grants. NEH also has set Nov. 18 as the deadline for its research grants program. Special interest will be given to projects that may contribute to the Bicentennial of the American Revolution. NEH has announced a new program entitled "Fellowships in Residence," intended for teachers at smaller private and state institutions who are primarily concerned with developing their abilities as teachers of the humanities. Proposals must be submitted by Nov. 18. Another NEH program is the Young Grants in the Humanities, which requires that young people must carry the major responsibility for the project's initiation, development and execution. The deadline for proposals is Nov. 15. Under its Student-Originated Studies Program, the National Science Foundation (NSF) is seeking proposals from student groups describing scientific or technological studies they wish to carry out. Each project proposed is to be problem-oriented, to deal with a local problem that has immediate relevance to the community. Proposals must be submitted by Nov. 15. NSF and the National Center for Scientific Research of France are jointly sponsoring a program for exchange of young scientists. Applications should be submitted by Nov. 1.

NSF also has opened the 1974-75 competition for North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Senior Fellowships in Science. These fellowships enable senior staff of United States colleges and universities to study new scientific techniques and developments abroad under a program designed to foster interchange of information among NATO nations. The closing dates for applications in the program are Nov. 20, 1974 and March 1, 1975. The Social Science Research Council is offering research training fellowships to social scientists who wish to obtain training in research beyond that normally required in doctoral programs in their own disciplines, to prepare them for innovative research in the social sciences. Preliminary inquiries should be made as early as possible before Nov. 1, and formal applications must be submitted by Dec. 2. Guidelines, applications and additional information about the programs are available in the SURE Office of Research and Projects, Room 2202 of the General Office Building.

Pilot plant would turn coal to oil

Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation officials have pledged $11,000,000 in state funds to help build a $75 million coal liquefaction demonstration plant at Wood River.

The offer exceeds those made by the states of Kentucky and Oklahoma, both of which are competing for the new facility. The plant would be a project of Hydrocarbon Research, Inc., which is to build and operate the facility to produce oil from coal. Additional financing is to be provided by the federal government.

Illinois communities, according to the Illinois Department of Public Health. Since 1970, Fairview Heights has experienced the largest percentage population increase of all cities with populations of 10,000 or more. It has grown by 4,250 persons since 1970, or more than 40 per cent. O'Fallon has added 2,700 persons, up 37 per cent over 1970.

An $8 million program to modernize facilities at the Pfizer, Inc., plant at East St. Louis is proposed to be financed through issuance of industrial revenue bonds by the city. About $7 million will be used for pollution control facilities and $1 million for other improvements. Bonds carry a maximum interest rate of 7 per cent and can be issued for a 40-year period.

+++ The St. Clair County Board has approved a proposal to conduct a public opinion poll concerning development of a new regional airport at Columbia-Waterloo. Results of the poll will be turned over to legislators in an effort to encourage selection of the Columbia-Waterloo site.

+++ In other action, the secretary of the U.S. Department of Transportation has indicated that he will reach a prompt decision on the airport matter upon completion of a Lambert Airport master study plan in January.

+++ Martha Manning Co. is now in full production at its new manufacturing plant in a west Collinsville. Company officials noted a substantial increase in productivity over that at the former location. The new facility provides twice as much space as available before the move, and houses more than 200 new machines and product handling systems.

+++ Construction has begun on Belleville Memorial Hospital's $10 million expansion program. The three-year project will include expansion of a number of hospital services, plus a new 15-bed intensive care unit. Excavating and grading work on a new 500-space parking lot is under way.

Inflation, taxes worry businesses

Inflation, government spending and taxation are the top worries of Illinois business men and women, according to a new survey taken by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

The statewide business organization surveyed its 19,000 members to find out what's bothering them about the present state of the economy and other national concerns.

"All three of our members' top concerns are tied into one villain: government spending," State Chamber President Lester W. Brann Jr. said this week.

"If the runaway trend of government spending — fed by higher and higher taxes — can be curtailed, we'll go a long way toward solving this country's inflation problems."

Other priority concerns voiced by ISCC members in the order of their importance were: power of labor unions, profitability and economic survival, productivity, material shortages, modernization of government, ethics in government, anti-business attitudes, political action of businessmen and consumer issues.

Energy-related questions drew a strong response from surveyed firms. A majority agreed that pollution control regulations result in a reduction of jobs, and two-thirds recognized a need to limit or reduce the consumption of energy fuels.

A question of whether every effort should be made to use Illinois coal reserves drew a 20 to 1 response in the affirmative. A similar margin thought progress has been made in eliminating pollution problems over the past decade.

The need for additional government incentive for capital investment in energy expansion, conservation and environmental improvement was voiced by a 3 to 1 ratio of respondents.

Responsibility for fuel shortages was laid on present environmental controls by a majority of individuals surveyed.

The topic of government controls over business brought expressions of opposition to increased regulation. A majority said increased rule-making power by the Federal Trade Commission will affect their business, and a large majority opposed enactment of state land use zoning controls.

State and local government controls were strongly preferred over federal jurisdiction of programs.

Two-thirds thought state government should administer and enforce pollution control regulations, while a similar proportion opposed federalization of workmen's and unemployment compensation programs.

A majority felt local-level government does a good job of solving its problems, and a majority said rural communities weren't getting their fair share of state and federal monies.

On other issues, three employers to one thought students weren't well-prepared to enter the work force, and the opinion that Watergate will lessen business interest in political campaigns was voiced by a 2 to 1 margin of executives.

Aboard carrier

Navy Aviation Storekeeper Airman Richard E. Kagy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Kagy Sr., 404 Stearns Ave., has left Alameda, Calif., aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise on a deployment to the Western Pacific.

During the cruise, Kagy is scheduled to participate in fleet training exercises and visit several Far Eastern countries. A former student of Granite High School, he joined the Navy in April 1973.

Trains in Japan

Marine First Lieutenant Jimmy L. Whitson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Whitson of Holiday Mobile Homes Park, Granite City, has completed aircrew serial combat training at the Marine Corps Air Station, Iwakuni, Japan.

The training included emergency and survival procedures, and tactical maneuvers. He serves with Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 115, 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, based at Iwakuni.

A 1970 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, he joined the Marine Corps in November 1970.

Individuals can conserve much energy; Sen. Percy suggests a little list

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) has sent President Ford a list of energy conservation suggestions which Americans might follow in the nation's volunteer effort to curb energy consumption.

In a letter to the President, Percy said the solution to much of the country's energy problem lies within the capacity of the American people.

"By voluntarily adopting a variety of conservation measures, we will not only save energy, but will also save money—a worthwhile double goal in these inflationary times," he wrote to Ford.

Percy said he compiled the list with the aid of his staff from energy conservation suggestions that were made and practiced beginning last winter during the Arab oil embargo. "President Ford's call for voluntary energy conservation at the recent economic summit in Washington gives every American the responsibility to participate in a national effort to save energy and fight inflation," Percy commented.

"As the President said, we can all charge energy-consumption habits that have little effect on our health and happiness but will help save precious resources."

Percy urged Illinoisans to adopt the energy conservation suggestions and submit additional suggestions to his office in Washington and to President Ford at the White House. The suggestions include energy conservation tips for the home and office and in the use of cars. Percy also urged citizens to encourage energy conservation in public buildings, such as schools and local government offices.

His suggestions for voluntary energy conservation follow:

IN THE HOME:

- (1) Set thermostats down to about 68-70 degrees in the daytime (lower if nobody is home) and 65-67 degrees at night.
- (2) Cover outside of windows with clear plastic if there are no storm windows.
- (3) Check to see if there is adequate insulation on the attic floor.

- (4) Keep furniture away from registers or heating ducts; don't heat unused rooms.
- (5) Prevent drafts from open windows, and close fireplace damper when not in use.
- (6) Turn down temperature on hot water heater, and avoid excessive use of hot water.
- (7) Keep freezer packed to capacity.
- (8) Refrain from opening refrigerator unless necessary.
- (9) Make sure you have a full load before running dishwasher, washing machine or clothes dryer.
- (10) Avoid unnecessary use of electrical appliances.
- (11) Have all leaking hot water faucets fixed immediately.

- (12) Close and seal all openings into the attic from occupied space.
- (13) Do not use self-cleaning device in oven.
- (14) Ask landlord or resident manager to turn the heat down.
- (15) Open curtains in the daytime and close them at night.
- (16) Wash dishes and clothes in cold or lukewarm water whenever possible.
- (17) Turn off lights when not needed and use electrical appliances wisely.
- (18) If TV has "instant-on" feature, leave TV unplugged when not in use.

IN THE OFFICE:

- (1) Practice and encourage conservation among co-workers. Use many of the same techniques as at home.
- (2) Keep radiator off or on low and wear a sweater.
- (3) Turn off lights whenever you leave the office.
- (4) Turn off electric typewriters and office equipment when not in use.
- (5) Ask superintendent to turn down the heat in the building after working hours.
- (6) Ask superintendent to take out every third fluorescent light bulb.

IN THE CAR:

- (1) Observe the 55 miles per hour national speed limit.
- (2) Drive smoothly and avoid quick starts and stops.
- (3) Avoid idling engine for more than three minutes when waiting.
- (4) When engine is cold, drive slowly for the first mile instead of idling or racing the engine.
- (5) Keep engine tuned and tires properly inflated. Use radial tires if possible.
- (6) Plan ahead to combine short trips for shopping, medical appointments, etc.
- (7) If you have more than one car use the one that consumes the least amount of energy.
- (8) Eliminate unnecessary weight. Empty the trunk and storage compartments of such items as excess tires, chains, tools and equipment.
- (9) Travel during off-peak traffic times and use routes with a minimum number of traffic lights and stop signs.

GOING TO WORK:

- (1) Use public transportation or car pools whenever possible.
- (2) Walk or ride a bicycle whenever possible.

SHOPPING:

- (1) Ask stores to carry energy-efficient products.
- (2) Tell local stores to stock up on recycled products.
- (3) Inform a company about items that wear out quickly.

VACATION AND RECREATION:

- (1) Don't leave lights or air conditioners on in motel rooms.
- (2) Avoid excessive use of motorized, recreational vehicles.

IN THE COMMUNITY:

- (1) Organize public meetings and open forums with local industry leaders, members of Chambers of Commerce, public officials.
- (2) Find out what industries are doing to replace older equipment with more energy-efficient equipment.
- (3) Lobby for better designed schools, new office and public buildings which utilize energy more efficiently.
- (4) Be alert to over-cooling or over-heating in theaters, stores, restaurants and other public places.
- (5) Urge reduction, or elimination of excess lighting of buildings and monuments in the community.

Farm leases explained

By RON CORNWELL, Farm Extension Adviser

The question is often asked as to the type of farm leasing arrangement that should be used in Madison County.

This will depend on the productivity of the soil. The most common leasing arrangement in Madison County has been the 1-3-2-3 oral lease.

Franklin Reiss, speaker at a farm leasing meeting in Madison County, conducted a survey of persons attending the meeting. Out of 23 responding to the survey form, 19 were using a 1-3-2-3 leasing arrangement.

Only one indicated using a cash lease, one a 1/2-1/2 lease and two a 2-5-3 lease.

Two publications are available through the Cooperative Extension Service free of charge that will be of interest to farmers with questions on farm leases. The two publications are "Farm Leasing Practices in Southern Illinois" and "Farm Leases for Illinois."

Also available are copies of the "Illinois Crop-Share Cash Farm Lease" and "Illinois Cash Farm Lease."

Order forms for obtaining trees through the state nursery are available through the Cooperative Extension office, 900 Hillsboro Ave., Edwardsville.

There are two nurseries that are operated by the state of Illinois. One is the Union Tree Nursery located at Jonesboro. The other is the Mason Tree Nursery at Topeka, Ill.

The nurseries grow seedlings that are made available at a small cost for certain uses. Trees obtained from a state nursery can be used for wildlife cover, windbreaks, erosion control, Christmas tree plantings and general reforestation. They cannot be used in any way for landscaping purposes or plantings around a home.

Types of trees available through the state nursery include white pine, loblolly pine, Scotch pine, red pine, Jack pine, red cedar, cypress, white oak, red oak, pin oak, tulip poplar, sycamore, red gum, ash, black walnut and black locust, plus other species.

Forget the cylinders—how many decibels in your car?

By JOAN MURARO
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

If the state Pollution Control Board adopts noise regulations for motor vehicles recently proposed by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, a whole new numbers game may be initiated.

After Dec. 31, 1975, the driver buying a brand new car in Illinois might not be so interested in whether it was the "Belchfire 8" model, or whether it was the "mini-decibel 11".

Further public hearings still have to be held on the proposed regulations, and the board has the authority to alter or amend them before adoption.

But as proposed, they would for the first time require vehicles to have vehicle noise numbers, or maximum sound levels, which could not be exceeded.

Those who have had their sleep shattered, or the baby awakened, by the hot rod or cycle with no muffler may be happy to hear that another section of the proposed regulations will require that all vehicles now in use have adequate mufflers, which must be maintained.

Mufflers designed to increase instead of muffle noise would be illegal. Permissible amounts of noise would be classified by a "dBA" system which will range upward from zero, considered to be the lowest sound the ear unaided can hear, such as the rustling of leaves.

Three major areas were studied before the regulations were compiled, according to Dr. Richard H. Briceland, state EPA director.

They included the extent to which motor vehicle noise affects people's speech, communication and sleep, as well as possible hearing damage and general annoyance, and the technical and economic feasibility of the proposed limits.

Under the dBA system, an auto traveling at 35 miles an hour or less would not be permitted to exceed 74 dBA, while a car going over 35 miles an hour would have a limit of 82 dBA.

Trucks weighing more than 24,000 pounds, moving slower than 35 miles an hour, would have a limit of 86 dBA, while the same vehicle moving at more than 35 miles an hour would have a limit of 90 dBA.

Other limits falling between those two would govern buses, motorcycles and medium and light weight trucks. These would be enforced primarily by state and local police.

The office of the secretary of state and the Illinois EPA would have chief responsibility for enforcing those sections governing new vehicles, manufactured after Dec. 31, 1975.

On Jan. 1, 1978, even more stringent regulations would go into effect, as new car designs permitting a greater reduction of noise becomes available.

"Sound is a vital part of our existence," Briceland said, "but too often noise interferes with our speech and sleep and can damage our hearing. Such regulations as we have proposed will give us needed protection."

"I encourage all Illinois citizens to become informed concerning how noise affects us, and help in adoption of the regulations," he concluded.

Two men charged

A driver faces six charges and a passenger in his car also was charged after Granite City police stopped their auto in the Nameeki Village Shopping Center lot at 4:10 p.m. Monday.

Larry McFall, 21, of 3094 Buxton Ave., the driver, was charged with driving while under the influence of narcotic drugs, two counts of reckless driving, having no driver's license with him, not having a proper muffler and criminal trespass to a motor vehicle.

The passenger, Leonard Cole, 17, of 2607 E. 23rd St., also was charged with criminal damage to a motor vehicle.

At 3:10 p.m. Monday, the door of the auto of Mary Johnson, 41, Iris Ave., was pried and damaged, but entry to the car was not gained. The incident occurred on the K-Mart parking lot.

Witnesses said two men left the Johnson auto and entered a black auto. They gave police a description of the vehicle which led officers stopping McFall's car one hour later.

Archaeological resources under study at Mounds

Commuting from Wisconsin to Illinois to Missouri is all part of the job for Miss Elizabeth Benchley.

A graduate student at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Miss Benchley serves as chief investigator of a National Park Service project in establishing a cultural resource overview of the metropolitan St. Louis area.

Her current base is the Cahokia Mounds State Park. Here she will be assessing the archaeological resources of the area and determining the potential impact of future landuse on these prehistoric cultural resources.

The study has several purposes. Not only will it provide a basis for decision making, in regard to the preservation of salvage of endangered sites, it will develop methods useful in establishing future policies for cultural resource management.

The evaluation will take one year to complete. Included in the study are Madison, St. Clair, and Monroe counties in Illinois, and Jefferson, St. Louis, and St. Charles counties in Missouri. A similar project also is under way in the Boston area.

Women in key roles on Sec. Howlett Staff

By MARY LOU MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Ask Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett about his girls.

There's Evelyn and Marian and Molly and Nellie and Kathryn. And that's not all. Over half of the entire personnel in his office are women. And 146 of them are making over $10,000 annually in decision making positions.

"We are placing more and more women as part of our administrative team," Howlett said. "We are also opening up training opportunities for women to increase this total in the future."

Two women are in the over $30,000 a year salary range. Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, director of the Commercial Department, is one of six executive assistants in Howlett's office. A practicing attorney in Chicago for more than 20 years, she is a graduate of the University of Chicago and holds degrees from John Marshall Law School.

After her years in private practice, Mrs. Johnson entered state government service in early 1973 as a hearing officer for the Secretary of State.

Howlett's director of personnel, Mrs. Marian Ringo, comes from Hinsdale. A labor economist specialist, she graduated from Hunter College and holds a degree from the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Ringo, who has authored many articles for publication, held the post of state director of personnel in 1968 under Gov. Otto Kerner.

Recently named as acting director of the Illinois State Library is Kathryn Gesterfeld. She will assume the post Dec. 1 while Director Alphonse F. Trezza begins a leave of absence to serve as executive director of the National Commission on Information and Library Assistance.

Mrs. Gesterfeld has served as assistant director of library development.

"We are always looking for capable women as supervisors in our office," said Howlett. "It is interesting to note that in spring and summer courses in Basic Supervisory Practices, Male and Female Composition, 56 per cent of the trainees were women."

Howlett does, indeed, have many career women who hold top supervisory positions.

Molly O'Day is an assistant to Howlett in the Springfield office, while Joan Teferilliar serves as deputy commissioner of securities. Mary Castleman has been named supervisor of the Records and Management Control Division.

Kathryn Terry, who has served under eight secretaries of state, is in charge of the Blue Book and the Handbook of Illinois Government. Both are publications put out by the secretary's office.

Nellie Robinson, who previously worked in the state auditor's office, is payroll supervisor in the General Accounting office.

Jackie Kelley was appointed supervisor for Driver Control last year.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND HUNTER. Their wedding was solemnized in an evening ceremony at the First United Presbyterian Church. She is the former Miss Carol Champion, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble R. Champion, 2011 Bryan Ave.

Carol Champion wed in evening ceremony

The First United Presbyterian Church was the scene of the wedding on Sept. 14 of Miss Carol Champion, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble R. Champion, 2011 Bryan Ave., and Raymond Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hunter, 1917 Edwardsville Road.

Mrs. Isabel Schmidt played "Because" and "The Wedding Song" prior to the arrival of the bride.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening was the Rev. David Maxton.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor length white organza gown. The Empire bodice featured an oval neckline, edged with a tiny Chantilly lace trim, and lace motifs were applied on the long, full sheer sleeves. A matching ruffle trimmed the wide cuffs.

A fully gathered flounce encircled the semi-full skirt and the sweep train was adorned with lace appliques.

Her shoulder length bouffant veil was held in place with a lace headpiece and she carried a colonial bouquet of various colored flowers festooned with long satin streamers.

Miss Jeanetta Champion, a sister of the bride and honor attendant, and Mrs. Curtis Champion, the bride's sister-in-law, bridesmaid, wore gowns of emerald green chiffon over taffeta.

Chantilly lace accented the Empire bodices, high necklines and the long A-line skirts.

Miss Cheryl Champion, junior bridesmaid, and Amy Blaylock, a cousin of the bride, the flower girl, chose yellow chiffon frocks, styled like the adult attendants' dresses.

Ron McKee attended the groom as best man. Curtis Champion, the bride's brother, and Morris Hunter, the groom's brother, served as groomsmen.

Danny Roland, a cousin of the groom, and Bill Hubbard seated the guests. Mark Hunter, a cousin of the groom, was the ringbearer.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The former Miss Champion is employed at Ted's Hardware. Her husband works at Granite City Steel.

They are now residing in Granite City following a honeymoon trip to the Smokey Mountains.

Mrs. Houseman earns green cap

Mrs. Margaret Houseman, junior graduate regent of Granite City Chapter 247, Women of the Moose, was among 82 junior graduate regents who participated in the "green cap" ceremonies held this week in Peoria.

Mrs. Rita Virgin of Bradley, Ill., deputy grand regent, was the presiding officer. Mrs. Marian Lipscomb of Granite City, a member of the College of Regents, served as capping officer for Mrs. Houseman.

Other local members traveling to Peoria for the program were Mesdames Edna Miller, Helen Davis, Alice Staggs, Leitha Worthen, Ruth Stover, Mildred Walker, Velma Vinney, Pat Allison, Nancy Hamilton and Vernice Von Nida.

New Hope fetes past officers

Mrs. Arline George and Max Metz, worthy matron and worthy patron of New Hope Chapter 432, Order of Eastern Star, presided at a meeting during the weekend honoring all past matrons and past patrons of the chapter.

Guests officers included Mrs. Sandy Simpson, John Simpson, Mrs. Marilyn Whitworth, Lloyd Whitworth, Gertrude Lowery, Estelle McBrien, Carol Hildebrand, Rachel Larsen, Bess Weiss, Sara Dempsey, Louis Cook, Al Woodard, Donna Woodard, Thelma Johnson, Dorothy Edwards, Marie Hoestra, Helen Mertz, Al Weiss and Tony Root.

All were presented a gift as introductions were made by Mrs. George.

Others introduced during the meeting were Dorothy Edwards and Carol Hildebrand, grand lecturers; 12 grand chapter committee members and Mrs. Betty McClintock, worthy matron of Granite Chapter 550.

The Oct. 18 meeting will be worthy matrons and worthy patrons night. Mrs. Hoestra will serve as dining room chairman. Refreshments were served to 50 members and guests by Charlotte Robinson, Marian Ozanich, Thelma Stockton and Irene Kessler.

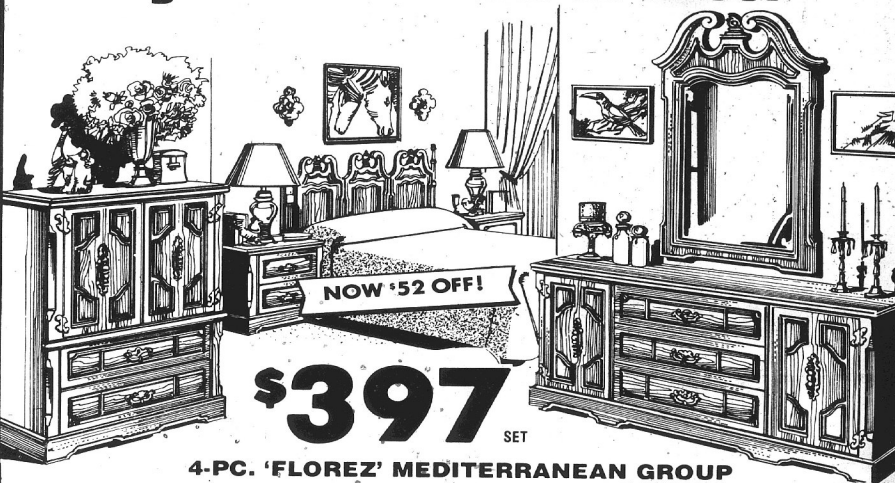

STEAL AUTOMOBILE

The black vinyl over yellow two-door 1970 Plymouth Fury auto of Linda Holik, 2503 E. 23rd St., was stolen from her home, it was reported last week.

Local senior citizens 'recycling' selves

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Oct. 10, 1974 Page 41

Right to Life plans rally

Mrs. Carol Chambers, president of the Granite City Right to Life chapter, said this week has been designated National Respect for Life Week and local members are planning a march and rally on Saturday.

The march will begin at Hollis Drive Inn, 3000 Madison Ave., at 10 a.m. Saturday and proceed to Civic Park for the rally. The event was arranged at a meeting last week in the St. Elizabeth Hospital library.

Interested persons and civic or fraternal organizations are invited to join in the march and participate in the rally, Mrs. Chambers said.

Mrs. Vickie Jacobs, ways and means chairman, reported on two fund raising projects, a car wash and a bowling party.

Members agreed to change the meeting date to the fourth Monday of each month, beginning Oct. 28.

In spite of falling rain, more than 900 senior citizens attended a Senior Citizens Fair recently at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Soon after they arrived on campus, Goshen Lounge blossomed with exotic yarn bouquets growing in yarn pots. Noodle tree table decorations and beer-can rain hats were offered for sale by the participants, along with crocheted shawls, coats, tams, purses and pot holders. Senior citizens had recycled egg cartons, bleach bottles and beer cans into reusable items.

The senior citizens were given the opportunity to recycle themselves by going back to school. In his welcoming address, Ramon Williamson, vice president for student affairs, asked if any of those in attendance were interested in becoming full-time or part-time students at SIUE.

"It is not unusual to see people going to college who have raised families and are even retired from their jobs. It is a secret ambition with many people," Williamson said. "We may go so far as to say that some tuition waivers for senior citizens may be available on an extremely limited basis," Williamson said.

This is the third year the Student Activities office of the University has sponsored the fair, according to Tim Tighe, chairman of the event. The fairs are held twice a year. "They are excellent in that they provide an opportunity for senior citizens to come to our campus. It gives us a chance to be exposed to some of their problems," Williamson said.

"Naturally the primary concern of the fair is to give them the chance to meet representatives from federal and state agencies who can assist them," Williamson said. Representatives from the Governor's Office in Springfield, Social Security Administration, Illinois State Employment Service and Southwest Agency on Aging were available throughout the day for questioning by the senior citizens.

Glenn L. Northup, national project director of the American Association of Retired Persons, was the keynote speaker. Northup announced plans for an area project designed to put low-income elderly people into part-time jobs. The Edwardsville office will serve seven Illinois counties and the City of St. Louis.

There will be 50 part-time job slots available for senior citizens in the counties of Madison, St. Clair, Bond, Clinton, Washington, Monroe and Randolph. Northup said. Thirty-five additional job slots will be available for the City of St. Louis. The two-state arrangement was worked out between William J. Tudor, chairman of the Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging and the Rev. Lucius Cervantes, St. Louis commissioner for senior citizens.

Joe Williams and Wash Leonard, both retired employees of General Steel Casting from Granite City, haven't missed a fair. "I enjoy all of it. I don't ever miss a time coming," Williams said. Asked if he would be dancing later, Williams said he would if he could find a partner.

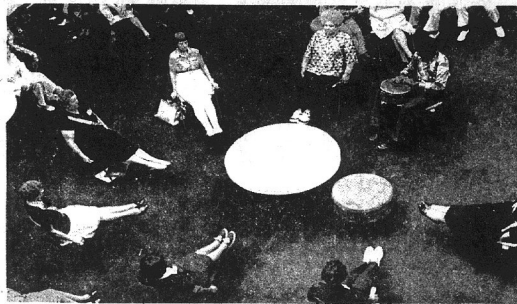

Charles Boeker, retired farmer and dairyman from Centralia, rarely missed a dance. Boeker is a member of the Foster Grandparent Program. Foster grandparents act as temporary grandparents for children in pediatric wards, institutions for the mentally retarded, correctional facilities, homes for the dependent and neglected, and institutions for the emotionally disturbed and the physically handicapped. "We take the children to pre-school medical departments and other places and make them feel like they are well taken care of," Boeker said. "Like any other grandparent would," he added. Boeker has two grandchildren of his own. "I think it's a good thing for society to be helped," he said.

Mary Wesley of Lovejoy said it was her first time to visit one of the fairs. Was she enjoying herself? "Ooooooh yes," she said. "I tried to attend three other times, but I was sick each time. This time I made it," Mrs. Wesley said.

Ninety-one-year-old James Manns of Alton and Santa Barbara, Calif., was not dancing, but he enjoyed the music. "It's wonderful," he said. When he is on the west coast, Manns bowls twice a week. He is a member of the Santa Barbara Lawn Bowling Club.

During the day, the senior citizens were entertained by the Belleville EXERCISING TO THE BEAT OF THE BONGO—Luther Coyle, of the Mayor's Council on Aging in St. Louis, leads senior citizens through simple physical exercises through the beat of his drum.

THE EDWARDSVILLE KITCHEN BAND cooks up old tunes for over 900 senior citizens who attended the Senior Citizens Fair held recently at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Barracks 34 hears convention report

A report on the national convention and events planned this month highlighted a meeting of World War I Veterans, Madison Barracks 34 and Auxiliary, at the VFW Hall.

Mrs. Mary Breidenbach and Mrs. Kathryn Fellers reviewed activities at the convention held in Kansas.

Announcement was made of a 4th District meeting on Oct. 20 at the Edwardsville VFW Hall and a testimonial dinner honoring the national president, Mrs. Victoria Wendel, on Oct. 19 in Moline, Ill.

Forty members attended the 12:30 pollack dinner preceding business sessions conducted by Commander John Winklemeyer and Mrs. Georgia Butler, auxiliary president.

The groups will next meet on Nov. 5 at the VFW Hall, beginning with dinner at noon.

Venice club honors Pier, grant winner

The Venice Women's Club honored John O. Pier, retired superintendent of Venice schools, and Miss Toni Eck, recipient of the club's 1974-75 scholarship award, at a dinner meeting held during the weekend at the Venice Recreation Center.

Mrs. Madonna Groshong, president, was in charge of the 19th annual scholarship dinner and Mrs. Loretta Ziegler offered the invocation.

Pier, who formerly retired on July 1 after 33 years in the field of education, was the principal speaker, addressing the group on the topic "Education and Its Impact."

He served as Venice superintendent for 18 years and previously was an industrial arts teacher at Venice High School for 10 years. Prior to coming to Venice, he was employed as an instructor by the Illinois State Board of Vocational Education at Mount Vernon and the Dania (Florida) High School.

The retired school administrator was presented an award by the club in acknowledgement of his "outstanding service to the community and the youth of Venice," Mrs. Elsie Canner, vice president, made the presentation.

Miss Eck, who was introduced as the Venice club's scholarship award winner for 1974-75, is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Eck, 1314 Robin St., Venice.

The young woman is a student at the School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Club members were introduced and commended for their active and continuing interest in the scholarship awards program. Autumn colors and foliage decorated the Venice Center for the annual dinner which was arranged by Mrs. Margaret Seibert, Mrs. Josephine Johnsen, Mrs. Nora McLeod and Mrs. Lisa Bauer.

The hostesses directed games and awarded prizes to successful contestants.

Special guests included Mrs. Eck and daughters, Terri and Tammy.

Also present were Mesdames Clara Krause, Ora Anderson, Mamie Ponce, Naomi Boelling, Jessie Foley, Ellen Derrig, Ruth Canner, Sybil Robbs, Dorothy Koelker, Rhea Buente, Alline Patterson, Vivian McKinney, Lula Kowalski and Hazel Painter.

Baptist revival series to start

Revival services will be conducted each evening at 7:30, beginning Sunday through Oct. 20, at the West 22nd St. Baptist Church, 2900 W. 22nd St., according to the Rev. Leroy Geiger, pastor.

Featured evangelist will be the Rev. Milton Hodge of Ottumwa, Mo. Vernon Bruce will be in charge of a special singing program. The Rev. Geiger extends an invitation to the public to attend the services.

Pre-natal series at hospital

St. Elizabeth Hospital will offer the final series of pre-natal classes for the current year beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Wiesman Room at the hospital, it was announced today.

The five weekly sessions, all scheduled to start at the same time on Tuesday evenings through Nov. 12, will be taught by Sister M. Jerome of the St. Elizabeth educational staff.

The instructor urged both mothers-to-be and prospective fathers to take part in the program, which is provided without charge to area residents.

Topics to be covered in the sessions, include: Anatomy and Physiology; Pregnancy; Labor and Delivery; Care of the Newborn; and Diet during Pregnancy. A tour of the hospital's maternity department is arranged on the final evening.

Participants may register for the course by calling Sister M. Jerome, at 876-2020, or by attending the initial class, on Tuesday night.

Medical group is chartered

A domestic corporation charter has been issued by the state to Amar Medical Associates, Ltd., 3165 Myrtle Ave., Granite City, Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett has announced.

Prasanna C. Kumar and Kanoo M. Patel are the listed charterers. One thousand shares of stock carrying a par value of $100 each were named as capital.

The charter is "to own and operate an establishment for the diagnosis and treatment of human ailments."

Correspondent on the charter is John A. Carrell, attorney, 307 Eileen Building, 601 East Third St., Alton.

Gaslight Estates development opens

Orville Meier, developer of Meierwood Gaslight Estates, will open this weekend the newly-platted fourth addition to the subdivision.

The 40-acre development is located on Route 162, just east of Route 157, two miles south of SIUE, and one mile south of I-270.

The new plat features 30 all-wooded lots with oak and hardwood trees, city water and underground utilities.

Homes in the subdivision are in the medium price range and adhere to the rustic aesthetic. The terrain adapts well to split-level homes, walkout basements, and sundecks and adequate restrictions assure high resale value, Meier said.

The lot sales are being handled by the developer and Kacer Realty of Edwardsville.

The grand opening will be held Sunday afternoon. The public has been invited to tour the area. Hosts will be available to guide and give information. In case of bad weather, the opening will be repeated Oct. 20, according to Meier.

Pollution control operators meet

The Southern Illinois Association of Water Pollution Control Operators, at their 37th annual meeting at Sparta, Ill., elected George Hankammer of Belleville as president, Otto Roethe of Vienna as vice-president and Dan Pace of Alton as secretary.

Dick Benz of the Penetrin Co. of Orlando, Fla., gave an informative talk on sewer infiltration and inflow detection. A total of 62 members attended the meeting which was followed by a tour of the Spartan Printing plant and waste treatment facilities.

Junior gardeners study leaves

"Identification of Leaves" was the program presented by Mrs. G. H. Stearns, senior advisor, at a meeting of the Fair Oaks Junior Garden Club during the weekend at Wilson Park.

After the program a prize was awarded to Mary Lou Metcalf for identifying the largest number of leaves. Peggy Smolich, president, conducted the business meeting and distributed the annual program booklets. She also welcomed a new member, Jill Donley.

Mrs. Stearns and Mrs. Robert Blankenship accompanied the group to McDonald's Restaurant for lunch. Others present were Kim Blankenship, Jennifer Herman, Jeff Lamb, Susan Sigite and Terri Kaye Theis.

The Nov. 2 meeting will be at the home of Miss Smolich, 3706 Fair Oaks Drive.

Party honors Tara Walker

Tara Walker celebrated her first birthday last weekend at a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker, 2549 Hodges Ave.

A clown theme was carried out in the party decorations and birthday cake. Games were played by the children and prizes given to the winners. Each guest also received a "loot bag," filled with candy and treats.

Those attending were grandparents of the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walker and Mrs. Tommy Nolen; Mrs. Dee Alfaro and son Christopher; Mrs. Delmar Kirchner and children Cindy, Terri and Del; Mr. and Mrs. Gary King and children, Beth, Gary and Kathy; Mrs. Homer Abernathy and children, Mary and Belinda; Mrs. Patty Messick and daughter Michelle; Mrs. Douglas Conrad and son Brian; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fulcher and children, Timmy and Crista and Becky, and Jammie Nolen.

The guest of honor received many gifts.

Sixth Armored reunion in GC

The Sixth Armored Division Association, comprising members from Sedalia, Kansas City and the St. Louis bi-state area, will hold a reunion party at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Non-Commissioned Officers Open Mess at the Granite City Army Installation.

According to Clifford T. Yarbrough Sr., 4 William John Court, unit representative to the association's board of governors, it is the first time the group had convened in Granite City.

Reservations still are being accepted from members and non-members interested in attending by calling Yarbrough at 797-0960. Tickets costing $5 per person include the banquet and dance, the organizers said.

ALL THE FISH YOU CAN EAT FRIDAY, $1.59 AT GRANTS

CONGRESSMAN AT CHOUTEAU DEDICATION. U. S. Cong. Melvin Price of this district is shown speaking at ceremonies officially dedicating the new Chouteau Township garage Saturday afternoon. Seated is State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, who also spoke. Price noted the building was financed entirely by federal revenue sharing funds. He pledged his support in efforts to have revenue sharing continue.

Music education award to Elizabeth Ledbetter

The National Council of Music Education, a national organization for women, has named Elizabeth Ledbetter of Granite City winner of its Music Education Award for 1974.

A June graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Miss Ledbetter is doing graduate work in music education at SIUE.

Three other honors have been received by the Beta Iota Chapter at the local campus. The chapter was selected as the outstanding chapter in the province (largest in the national organization), and two of its members received honorable mention.

Patricia Kay Evans of O'Fallon was selected as the honorable mention winner of the organization's Sterling Achievement Award, and Karen Bedwell of Belleville received honorable mention in musicological research. Miss Bedwell is this year's president of Beta Iota.

The Music Education Award is given for graduate study in the outstanding student in music education who has met requirements of teaching certification but who has not taught professionally. A $200 check accompanied the award.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Ledbetter of Granite City, Miss Ledbetter comes from a music-oriented home. Her father is director of instrumental music in the public schools of Madison, and her mother is a vocalist. Miss Ledbetter has a graduate fellowship at SIUE and is the recipient of a number of awards.

She was a charter member of the St. Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra and its assistant principal oboist. She is a member of the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra and principal oboist of the Belleville Philharmonic, the SIU Symphony Orchestra and the SIU Symphonic Wind Ensemble.

Miss Ledbetter teaches private piano, organ and oboe and, for the past three years, has been organist at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church in Granite City.

Newly elected officers of the Moonspinner 4-H Club were installed at the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church by the club leader, Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt, and Debra Burnett. The 1974-75 officers include Maria Schmidt, president; Wendy McIlroy, secretary; Joan Krystofa, treasurer; and Janet Burnett, recreation chairman. Each officer received a different colored candle and an item relating to her office.

The new president conducted the meeting. Donna Wilm-smeyer led the pledge of allegiance and Maryann Colbert gave the 4-H pledge. Reports were given by Alice Childers, Wendy McIlroy and Joan Krystofa.

It was announced the window display in conjunction with National 4-H Week will be located at the W&W Confectionery, 4601 Maryville Road, until Sunday. Judging will be on Friday.

Mrs. Schmidt announced the Mexican cross stitch will be taught at the church on Oct. 17 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and asked each girl is to bring her own yarn.

She also reported the officers training will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 21 at the Farm Bureau auditorium, Edwardsville. Janet Burnett led the group in a chair game and refreshments were served by Debra Burnett and Maria Schmidt.

Others attending were Lauri

Mrs. Lynn is circle hostess

Mrs. Roy Lynn, 2656 State St., served a dessert luncheon to members of the Peace Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church to precede the circle's October meeting.

Circle leader Mrs. Emma Schoen announced Sunday school teachers and pupils will be honored at a dinner at 6:30 p.m. today at the church and a discussion was held on the Nov. 22 bazaar.

Miss Nelle Hart gave a lesson on "How They Started the Christian Church after the Crucifixion."

The Nov. 7 meeting will be in the home of Miss Hart, 2806 Iowa St.

Temperance topic of Bethany Class

Mrs. Mary Link gave a devotional lesson on "Temperance" at a meeting Monday night of the Bethany Class of First Baptist Church of Madison.

Members met in the home of Mrs. Pauline Corey, 1923 Harris St., Madison. Mrs. Gertrude Ashford opened the meeting and the hostess offered prayer.

A revival at the church will begin on Sunday, it was announced.

Those present were Mesdames Ethel Stone, Jerry Stein, Hilda Jackson, Matilda York, Mary Lassen and Vasta Williams, class teacher.

LOOT VACANT HOUSE The front door, three gallons of paint and three lights were stolen from a vacant house at 2830 Buxton Ave. It was reported during the weekend.

The house, owned by Ruth Snyder, 2923 Denver St., was being remodeled, officials were told.

Consumers learning how to assure satisfactory fabrics and apparel

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser-Home Economics

Before making a complaint about a fabric or an apparel item that you believe has failed you, consider these questions to determine who is responsible for the faulty performance:

- Did I follow care and use instructions?
- Did I use the item for its intended purpose?
- Did I have reasonable expectations for the product's performance during use?

If you answer "yes" to those questions, you may have a legitimate complaint.

It's your responsibility as a consumer to notify the merchant or manufacturer about your dissatisfaction so that he can take constructive steps to improve his product.

Begin at the retail level by talking with the person who sold you the item. You can expect that it will be exchanged or that the store will take it back and return your money.

If talking gets no results, take the next step: letter writing.

Write to the manufacturer, distributor or head office of the company. All items should carry the manufacturer's address so you know where to send a letter of complaint.

You can also find the correct name and address in the library's copies of Thomas' Register of Manufacturers or The Standard Directory of Advertisers.

Take the letter to your merchant and check its accuracy with him—model number, address, and so on.

Begin your letter with a short paragraph explaining your complaint. Tell what you have already done to get redress, giving the name of the local merchant. Then make a polite request for help. Remember, no manufacturer wants poor customer relations.

Keep a copy of your letter for possible reference. If you don't receive a response within a month, take further steps.

Send copies of your letter to important local and national figures involved in consumer issues.

Be sure to notify the product manufacturer that you are taking further action. Companies obviously do not want bad publicity, and the fact that you are "spreading the word" may get you immediate results.

However, be sure that your complaint is legitimate and that your expectations for the product's performance do not exceed reasonable limits.

One national figure interested in consumer problems is: Mrs. Virginia Knauer, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, The White House, Washington, D.C. 20506.

To register a complaint concerning advertising and trade practices, write or phone your local Better Business Bureau (Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce). Or write to your representative in the state legislature. On the federal level, write to your congressman or one of your senators.

Trade associations are also becoming increasingly interested in hearing about and reducing consumer complaints.

When appropriate, write to the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, 1801 Johnson Building, Charlotte, N.C. 28202, or to the National Retail Merchants Association, 100 West 51st St., New York, N.Y. 10001.

MR. AND MRS. CLAY WINFIELD. They exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony at St. John United Church of Christ. The bride is the former Miss Melody Ann Jones, a daughter of Dr. E. Gale Jones, 26 Oaklawn Drive, and the late Mrs. Naomi Maxine Jones.

(Grandview Studio)

Melody Jones becomes Mrs. Clay Winfield

Miss Melody Ann Jones became the bride of Clay Winfield in a candlelight setting at St. John United Church of Christ at 7 o'clock on the evening of Sept. 21.

Bouquets of yellow and white carnations adorned the altar and burning tapers in aisle candelabra illuminated the white carpeted aisle for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Dr. Paul R. Surbey.

Mrs. Irene Barrick presided at the organ and played "Sunrise, Sunset," "More," "Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet" and "The Wedding Song."

The bride is a daughter of Dr. E. Gale Jones, 26 Oaklawn Drive, and the late Mrs. Naomi Maxine Jones. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winfield, reside at 511 Fleming Place.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Jones wore a full length gown fashioned of white deskin with a lace Empire bodice. The high neckline was edged with fragile lace ruffle and the long tapered sleeves were created of matching lace and etched with tiny seed pearls.

She wore a wedding wreath headpiece to secure her shoulder length veil, accented with tiny satin bows, and she held a nosegay of green and white carnations and baby breath.

Both the maid of honor, Miss Karen Dochwart and the flower girl, Windy Winfield, a sister of the groom, selected long Empire gowns of mint green organza and carried bouquets in matching colors.

Miss Debbie Winfield, another sister of the groom, and Miss Cindy Schuler, bridesmaids, were gownned alike in full length Empire style frocks in yellow. Their bouquets were made up of yellow and white carnations interspersed with baby breath.

The groom chose Greg Becker as his best man, Carl Dake, Bill Tindall and Brian Winfield, the groom's cousins, and Jack Schooley served as groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Winfield at a reception given at Holy Trinity Hall, Madison.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home.

Both are graduates of Granite City High School. The bride is employed at the First National Bank in Madison and her husband is self employed with T&W Construction Co.

The newlyweds are residing in Madison following a wedding trip to the Missouri Ozarks.

Call for unity, sacrifice shows U. S. is aware how serious the inflation, fuel and job trends have become; how to solve them still not fully clear

President Gerald Ford's wide-ranging energy, anti-inflation and anti-recession proposals, presented Tuesday to a joint session of the Senate and House, reflect government leaders' recognition of the seriousness of these matters.

This in itself can be significant if it motivates the public to activity and sacrifice leading to workable solutions for the fuel, employment and economic ills.

Whether some of the specific suggestions, such as a five per cent surtax on middle-income families, actually will gain Congressional and public approval seems less likely. There is concern over whether such taxation would be used to cool the inflationary spiral or instead accelerate it through expanded federal spending.

The former football player who occupies the White House, characterized the challenges in terms of a "win" objective, using the phrase, "whip inflation now." This has much to commend it, in that patriotic citizens tend to respond to a clearly-defined goal which they view as being in the national interest.

While there is much willingness to share with others and to avoid wasteful habits, as requested in the Presidential address, some doubt remains as to whether the right kinds of remedial steps were outlined.

Balance federal budget to ease the inflationary spiral

By ARCH BOOTH

President, U.S. Chamber of Commerce

When two herring gulls with adjoining nesting areas get into a dispute, they are likely to wind up confronting each other at their mutual borderline, seething with rage but inhibited from direct combat.

To attack, one would have to cross into the other's territory. That is unpalatable. So, on the other hand, is retreat in the face of a threat at the border. But all that pent-up energy must be spent somehow.

What happens? The two gulls begin to tear furiously at the grass. This is known as "displacement activity." It is seen throughout the animal kingdom.

In similar circumstances, the three-spined stickleback—a fish—will stand on its head and dig a hole in the sand. A roe deer will attack a convenient tree.

This behavior is described in Robert Ardrey's fascinating book, "The Territorial Imperative." In it, Ardrey draws parallels—some scientists say too many—between certain instinctive forms of animal behavior and our own.

Once you get started, this game of drawing parallels is irresistible. Congress, for example, appears about ready to engage in displacement activity with respect to fighting inflation.

Congressmen are confronted with a classic case of a challenge that cannot be met and cannot be ducked. If they cut spending and tolerate temporarily high interest rates to control inflation, they will offend many separate interest groups. And if they don't do these things, inflation will continue and the general public will be angry.

Since the congressman must do something but finds either of the two options equally undesirable, displacement theory suggests that he will seek a third alternative.

That's just what's happening. Fighting inflation is unpopular and difficult. But fighting a recession is popular and easy.

Therefore, more and more senators and congressmen are beginning to "see" recession as our major national problem. Less is heard about inflation.

Unfortunately, the classic medicine for fighting a recession—federal budget deficits, easy money, stimulation of demand—has a short side effect: It worsens inflation.

As I have said time and again, there is no easy way to fight inflation. Inflation is an outgrowth of the nearly universal human urge to get standing on their heads and digging a hole in the sand.

Here in America, we have learned to rationalize that impulse by telling ourselves that the government has an unlimited supply of money—"something" and that the nobility of our particular goal, or the gravity of our particular peril, justifies the expenditure.

But justifying an expenditure is not the same thing as creating the resources to pay it.

For years, we have tricked ourselves into believing that we really were getting something for nothing. Now, the bills for that bungee are coming due.

If we want to end inflation, the federal budget must be balanced and credit will remain tight until it is; both business activity and employment will decline.

The economy will remain sluggish as inflation winds down, until the growth of the money supply is again in balance with the growth in our output of goods and services, and until our inflationary expectations have subsided—perhaps two or three years.

Then we will have earned a return to prosperity.

Otherwise, you'd better brace for increasing inflation.

And when you see members of your Congressional delegation during the campaign this fall, be sure to notice if they're standing on their heads and digging a hole in the sand.

That's just what's happening. Fighting inflation is unpopular and difficult. But fighting a recession is popular and easy.

Therefore, more and more senators and congressmen are beginning to "see" recession as our major national problem. Less is heard about inflation.

Unfortunately, the classic medicine for fighting a recession—federal budget deficits, easy money, stimulation of demand—has a short side effect: It worsens inflation.

As I have said time and again, there is no easy way to fight inflation. Inflation is an outgrowth of the nearly universal human urge to get standing on their heads and digging a hole in the sand.

Here in America, we have learned to rationalize that impulse by telling ourselves that the government has an unlimited supply of money—"something" and that the nobility of our particular goal, or the gravity of our particular peril, justifies the expenditure.

But justifying an expenditure is not the same thing as creating the resources to pay it.

For years, we have tricked ourselves into believing that we really were getting something for nothing. Now, the bills for that bungee are coming due.

If we want to end inflation, the federal budget must be balanced and credit will remain tight until it is; both business activity and employment will decline.

The economy will remain sluggish as inflation winds down, until the growth of the money supply is again in balance with the growth in our output of goods and services, and until our inflationary expectations have subsided—perhaps two or three years.

Then we will have earned a return to prosperity.

Otherwise, you'd better brace for increasing inflation.

And when you see members of your Congressional delegation during the campaign this fall, be sure to notice if they're standing on their heads and digging a hole in the sand.

SPEARFISHERMAN Ed Duffin, who retains the Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club's Spearfisherman of the Year title for the third consecutive season by gaining top points in a weekend diving contest at Lake Norfolk, Mo.

Duffin retains diving club spearfishing title

Ed Duffin gained top honors at a weekend dive at Lake Norfolk, Mo., to compile more points in the past season than any other member of the Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club and retain the title of "Spearfisherman of the Year."

Duffin, 2240 Lynch Ave., who operates Duffin Bros. Lumber Co., has held the title for three consecutive years.

A total of 57 divers competed in spearfishing contests during the past season which started in May and concluded last weekend.

Competition was close between three divers—Duffin, Phil Lamm, who gained second place, and Larry Earmey, the third place finisher. Only two points separated Duffin and Lamm and a three-point difference was between Lamm and Earmey, according to Vance Weiss, Bubblemasters president.

Other season point winners and the order of finishing were Rich Grizzard, 4th; Weiss, 5th; Dee Adams, 6th; Bob Burns, 7th; Whitley Morrison, 8th; and Don DiGirolamo, 9th.

Trophies will be presented in various categories of competition at the Bubblemasters' annual awards dinner, scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 16, at the VFW Hall.

The local diving group will start its fall-winter schedule Sunday with a meeting at the Granite City Civil Defense Building, 1411 Nineteenth St., beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Plans will be completed for the Midwest Diving Council's fall conference and banquet at the Osage House at Lake of the Ozarks, Oct. 25 to Oct. 27. The event will be co-sponsored by the Bubblemasters and the St. Louis Diving Club. Delegates are expected from clubs in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas.

Nominations for 1975 officers also will be accepted at Sunday's meeting. Weiss said, with an election to be conducted at the awards banquet.

Qualified scuba divers and persons interested in becoming a diver are invited to attend a Bubblemasters' meeting, or call Phil Lamm, at 876-1875, for information.

Secretaries hear panel discussion

A bosses panel highlighted the October dinner meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International) held at Charlie's Restaurant.

Executives serving on the panel included: Gene Verdu, Belleville Area College, Retired Senior Volunteers Program; Charles Bowman, senior vice president, First Union, Inc.; Jack Antone, Ralston-Purina; and John Paul Davis, general counsel and executive assistant to the president, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The panelists agreed the qualities an executive secretary should possess include good secretarial skills, personality and communications ability. Bowman added the good executive secretary could also be described as "coffee maker, housekeeper and partner."

When asked what factors they would consider in hiring a secretary, the bosses mentioned experience, attitude and personality, in addition to secretarial skills.

All agreed they actually controlled office communications, but their secretaries were a very important link in this matter and often handled routine situations on their own. One of the panelists commented on the importance of an employer placing his own telephone calls when possible in order to create a more personal relationship with the person being called.

The women's liberation movement was discussed, with most bosses agreeing the issue of equal pay was valid and that the movement actually brought into focus the discrimination factor. They stated that opportunities for women to advance in the business world are improving and stressed that talent should be the guideline for a job.

Self improvement is important to a secretary and the bosses concurred that secretaries should be encouraged to take study courses that would help to upgrade themselves. They further stated that a secretary is an essential part of any job and should be paid sued. Many companies allow their secretaries time off to attend classes and some companies pay for the study courses.

The business meeting followed the program with Mrs. Sally Gracey presiding. Announcement was made of NSA secretarial workshops to be held in Lincoln, Ill., on Oct. 19, and in Chicago on Oct. 27.

Mrs. Gail Foley, CPS, reported that the annual Boss Night dinner is scheduled for Oct. 24 at Rusty's Restaurant, Edwardsville. Ballots with the Boss of the Year candidates are Antone, Bowman, Mayor William Eberhart of Venice and Verdu. Paul Hatfield, Ralston-Purina, is the present Boss of the Year.

A report on a secretarial seminar sponsored by the local chapter of NSA and the Belleville Area College was given by Mrs. Anne Smith.

Mrs. Charles Yumovic, CPS, chairman of the Future Secretaries of America committee, reported chapters are being organized in Madison and Breese. The Granite City chapter of FSA holds a meeting the first Tuesday of each month at Granite City High School North or South.

Peggy McElligott, Ralston-Purina, was a guest at the meeting. Serving on the service committee were Mesdames Ruth Houser and Helen Christich. Attendance prizes were presented to Mesdames Betty Borsch, Joyce Savich and Miss Janet Barbers.

The next dinner meeting will be held Nov. 7 with Misses Twila Edmonds and Jane Davis serving on the hostess committee.

STUCK BY AUTO

Lloyd Ousley, 2785 Missouri Ave., suffered only a cut finger when he walked out from behind a parked car and was struck by the vehicle of John Wulfe, Tooele, Utah, at North Street and Route 3 at 5:30 p.m. Monday. Ousley was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Madison Club marks 73rd anniversary

Members and guests of the Madison Literary Club gathered at the Sunset Hills Holiday Inn during the weekend to celebrate the 73rd anniversary of the club.

After a luncheon, Mrs. Estella McBrien asked each member to search her past and relate an incident concerning the club which has made a lasting impression over the years.

Mrs. Marion Fogel conducted a special memorial for the late Mrs. Mary Connole.

Members attending the birthday observance were Mesdames Walter Cook, George Thomas, D. L. Kacalief, R. J. Hill and Edward Deffenbaugh. Guests present were Jack Ladd, Mrs. Melvin Hildebrand, Mrs. William Kincaid and Mrs. Christ Pashoff.

Pizza party for Baptist youth

A pizza party honoring fifth grade level Sunday school students at Grace Baptist Church, who were being promoted to the sixth grade, was held in the home of Mrs. Martha Bandy, 335 Wilshire Drive, during the weekend.

The hostess is director of the church youth department. She used autumn flowers and burning tapers to decorate the dining table and served refreshments to 20 children.

Games were directed by Mrs. Bandy, assisted by Mrs. Shirley Dutton, Mrs. Jean Mooney and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wright. Those winning games were given specially made ribbons for first, second and third places.

WM. DAVISES NAME

IST CHILD BRIAN SCOTT

Mrs. and Mr. William Davis, 2304 Hodges Ave., became the parents of their first child, a son, born Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The new arrival weighed seven pounds, one ounce and has been named Brian Scott.

The mother will be remembered as the former Miss Deborah Dowdy.

Grandmothers are Mrs. Jewel McCracken of Madison and Mrs. Marceline Dowdy of Granite City.

Cub Pack 47 awards given

Cub Scout Pack 47 of St. Mary's of Madison met in the school cafeteria for an award ceremony.

The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag by Webelos Scouts who were graduating into Boy Scouts.

Opening remarks were made by Ed Dohnal, who announced the officers for Pack 47:

Cub master, Richard Ballou; assistant, submaster, Bob Noud; chairman, Dohnal; secretary, Mrs. Lucille Broadway; treasurer, Bill Steiner; den leaders, Mrs. Linda Noud and Mrs. Diane Ragsdale; Webelos leader, Paul Ragsdale; and youth director and chaplain, the Rev. Conrad Motola.

Dohnal, assisted by Noud, presented wolf badges to Kerry Greer, Anthony Evanoff, Billy Dorris, Gerard Bulva, Robert Steiner, Mark Mainbridge and Brian Papa. They also were presented one-year pins.

Bear badges were presented to Ricky Hay, Billy Papa and Tony Hudzik. Each also received the Webelos pin and scarf and a two-year pin.

The citizenship Webelos award and the Arrow of Light award went to Vincent Dohnal, Leo Tornino, Jimmy Broadway, David Mooshegan and Brian Papa. They also were presented one-year pins.

Three-year pins were presented to Vincent Dohnal, Leo Tornino, Jimmy Broadway, David Mooshegan and John Bargiel. Glen Roling was presented a two-year pin.

Six were presented graduation certificates by Dohnal and Scoutmaster Tom Gordon welcomed them into Boy Scout Troop 47 of St. Mary's, presenting each with a Boy Scout scarf.

Three new cubs were welcomed—Larry Lyberger, Gerald Werner and Chris Noud. A brief talk on scouting was given by a special guest, G. Rollin Henn.

Auxiliary hears circuit clerk

Willard V. Portell, clerk of the Madison County Circuit Court, was guest speaker Tuesday at a luncheon meeting of the Madison County Bar Association Auxiliary at Charlie's Restaurant.

Seventeen members and guests attended. Mrs. Stephanie Pratt of Alton, auxiliary president, introduced Portell, who reviewed the method of selecting jurors and other court procedures.

Mrs. Pratt said membership in the auxiliary is open to the wife of any practicing attorney in Madison County. New members are being encouraged to attend the monthly programs and are invited to call Mrs. Norma Kachigian, at 877-5179, for further information.

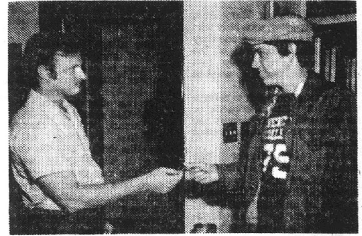

Reports were given during the business meeting by Mrs. Marilyn Lakin of East Alton, secretary, and Mrs. Kachigian of Granite City, zone chairman.

The auxiliary will next meet Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Round House in Wood River. The program will consist of colored slides and a talk on Israel by Gary Ballard of East Alton.

Gives symposium paper in Germany

Dr. Joseph H. Bruemmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Bruemmer of Madison, presented a paper and led a discussion on "Aroma Substances of Citrus Fruits and Their Biogenesis" at the International Symposium on Fragrance and Flavor Substances in Bad Pyrmont, Germany, last week. Dr. Bruemmer is a Research Leader at the United States Department of Agriculture Citrus and Subtropical Products Laboratory in Winter Haven, Fla.

While in Europe, he and his wife, Dr. Nancy Crumlish Bruemmer, will visit Heidelberg, Munich, Vienna, and Rome. She is a practicing physician in Tampa, Fla., where they have their home.

Many services by Catholic Charities

"I'm OK and you're OK" That's what students at St. Mary's School, Madison, and St. Mark's School, Venice, are hearing these days.

Miss Mary Ann Menemeyer, social worker at the Quad-Cities Catholic Charities, United Way agency, is spending each Tuesday at the schools.

Her time is divided among students and staff. Presently she is teaching 30 seventh graders the basic concepts of TA (transactional analysis).

TA was developed by the late Dr. Eric Berne, M.D., author of "Games People Play." It is one way of looking at the human personality.

TA states that everyone has in him three ego states—the parent, the adult and the child. All three are considered necessary and important.

The adolescents say they are delighted to learn about the three "Me's" inside them—MEP (Me the Parent), MEA (Me the Adult) and MEC (Me the Child).

The 12-year-olds are eager to learn what makes them tick and to figure out what they can do to make their lives happier, the social worker has found.

All the children, Grades 1-8, know Miss Menemeyer as "Mary Ann."

The students see Mary Ann, the social worker, as a lady who likes them and as someone they can approach. Several of the youngsters have openly told their teachers that they want to talk to Mary Ann.

If the teachers wish to refer a student to Miss Menemeyer for counseling, the parents are first contacted for their written permission.

Miss Menemeyer has received some referrals from the teachers and has begun working with some children and parents on an individual basis.

The rest of Miss Menemeyer's time on Tuesday is taken up with teacher conferences and with visiting children in the lower grades.

"Miss Menemeyer believes that it is important for children to learn at an early age that they are 'OK' and that what they are feeling, thinking and saying is important."

How does one explain to a ten-year-old what a social worker does?

Miss Menemeyer took this approach: "Hi, my name is Mary Ann. I am a social worker. I will be here at your school every Tuesday."

"My job as a social worker is to help you understand yourself and how you get along with other people. I want you to know that you are OK and so are all your classmates."

"You are OK even if you are not the smartest or the richest kid in your class. Also, your feelings are very important. You are OK when you are sad, happy, mad or scared."

The youngsters have responded, she notes; there is no stigma attached to talking to the social worker at St. Mary's-St. Mark's School.

Woman, 18, is jailed

Barb Nelson, 18, of 3120 Jill Ave., was being held this week in the Madison County Jail on a Granite City charge of unlawful use of a weapon and a St. Clair County warrant alleging armed robbery.

Police allege they found a sawed-off shotgun under the front seat of her auto, across from her home Sept. 27, but were unable to arrest her earlier as she entered the hospital that evening.

The armed robbery charge stems from a robbery at a Caseyville drug store the day before, in which drugs were taken. The car containing the robbers was believed involved in an accident while fleeing from the store.

Also named in St. Clair County armed robbery warrants from the incident are Connie A. Koester, 19, of 50 Cambridge Drive, and David Hill, 20, of 1310 Twenty-second St.

They were arrested Sept. 27 at the Travelodge Motel in Granite City and were charged with possession of narcotics, believed taken from the Caseyville drug store, and possession of a controlled substance.

MAN WALKS INTO HOUSE
An intruder entered the home of Owen Humphrey, 18 Wilson Park Drive, frightening a daughter of Humphrey, it was reported at 10:55 p.m. Monday.

The man entered through an unlocked door, peeked into Humphrey's wife's bedroom and then walked into the daughter's bedroom, police were told. The man fled when the daughter screamed. He was described as about 22 years of age, thin and having short dark hair and dark clothing.

Canada quits air board

Larry Canada, who has been conducting the operations of the Granite City Air Pollution Control office since February, has resigned the post, effective Tuesday, Oct. 15. He submitted his resignation to the City Council Monday night.

Canada has been an electronics technician with the city's air pollution control office since July 2, 1973, and inherited control of the department when Dr. Reid Sutton resigned as department head in February.

Canada told the Press-Record he is resigning because, "I have never been paid what I was promised when I took the job."

He said he has been paid $700 per month and that amount was to have increased to $800 per month Oct. 2, 1973, but never did.

He was given a mileage allowance in March, but under his agreement with Professor Erwin Hoelscher, technical secretary of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board, governing body of the air pollution control office, he was to receive $800 per month plus expenses, Canada said.

He estimated the city's failure to live up to Hoelscher's promise has cost him almost $1,200 in the last year.

"I have tried unsuccessfully for one year to get my salary changed. I have talked to several aldermen about it, but no one seems to want to do anything, so I am resigning," Canada commented.

Second Ward Alderman Frank Greenwald, chairman of the Air Pollution Control Committee of the City Council, commented after Canada's resignation was read, "It came as a complete surprise to me."

Canada told the Press-Record Greenwald should not have been surprised. "At the last Air Board meeting, he told me he was surprised they were keeping me at the salary they have been paying me." He also said Mayor Paul Schuler and several aldermen had been told by Canada that he would resign.
